THE CITY RECORD.

Official Gazette of the Executive Departments of the City of Boston.

Volume I.

BOSTON, THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1898.

Number 1.

EDITED UNDER DIRECTION OF THE BOARD OF MUNICIPAL STATISTICS
EDWARD M. HARTWELL, SECRETARY,
Room 71, City Hall,
TO WHOM ALL MATTER FOR PUBLICATION SHOULD BE ADDRESSED.

PUBLISHED BY THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PRINTING, BOSTON MUNICIPAL PRINTING OFFICE,
611 WASHINGTON STREET.

Any copies of THE CITY RECORD in excess of those required for the use of the departments will be on sale at the office of the City Messenger, Room 26, City Hall, at the price of five cents each; and arrangements will be made by which any citizen desiring to have a copy regularly sent to him, out of such extra number, can do so by making payment therefor to the City Messenger, at the rate of two dollars a year, provided that the number of such excess copies is sufficient to supply such subscriptions, which will be filled in the order in which they are received.

The number of pages of THE CITY RECORD will vary from week to week according to the amount of matter to be inserted, but it is expected that the average number of pages will be eight.

The rate for advertisements of the departments and other legal notices will be twelve and one-half cents a line.

The general purposes and proposed scope of THE CITY RECORD are stated in the following extract from the Inaugural Address of Mayor Quincy, Jan. 3, 1898, by whose direction its publication is inaugurated, and in his circular to the heads of departments in relation thereto, which follows.

AN OFFICIAL GAZETTE.

I believe that the creation of some regular and systematic agency for giving full and speedy publicity to all official action taken by the executive departments would supply a want which is seriously felt in the present working of our city government. The reports of the proceedings of both branches of the City Council, which have been for some time published by contract in the daily press, afford the public full information as to everything done by the legislative branch of our city government, and even as to everything said in debate by its members; but there is no method by which a citizen, or even a member of the City Council, can keep himself fully and correctly informed as to action taken by the executive departments except by visiting their respective offices. All official acts, become, of course, matters of public record, and any specific information regarding them that may be desired can therefore be secured by inquiry; but there is no method at present by which a person desiring to keep himself informed as to official action can do so without the trouble of a personal letter or visit, as such information now gets to the public only in a fragmentary and irregular manner, and sometimes not in an exact form, through the daily press.

In my last annual address I expressed the opinion that "the Executive should constantly be subject to close observation and intelligent criticism by the legislative branch of the government;" the absence of such criticism, made not merely for the purpose of manufacturing partisan capital, but in a fair spirit and with a desire of really benefiting the public, is one of the weak points in our city government at the present time. The powers of the Mayor and of the heads of departments are so great, and the action taken by them constitutes such an important part of the work of governing the city, that the interests of sound and efficient administration, coming up to the best standards and responsive to the demands of enlightened public sentiment, require that the fullest light of publicity shall be thrown upon all executive actions, as a basis for proper public criticism. The great power and value of mere publicity under our democratic form of government, as a force for checking abuses and securing needed improvements in public affairs, has been frequently demonstrated.

I believe that the regular publication by the city of an official gazette, containing a record of all official acts of every Board or officer at the head of a department, would have a most beneficial effect; first, in furnishing the members of the City Council with the information required in order to enable them to perform properly their important duty of scrutinizing the expenditure of the money appropriated by them; second, in affording to the writers who deal with municipal matters in the press full and exact current information; and third, in stimulating the interest of citizens generally in the operations of the municipal government, by affording them the means of following these with ease. Such regular publication of all official action would also certainly have a tendency to make officials more careful in the performance of their duties.

Without undertaking at the present time to make an exhaustive category of all that should be included in such a municipal publication, it should contain, in my opinion, among other things:

1. A copy of every message sent by the Mayor to the City Council, or either branch, and of every ordinance, order or vote passed by the City Council, or either branch, and approved by the Mayor, or which has gone into effect without such approval.

2. A statement of every order or vote passed by the Street Commissioners and approved by the Mayor.

3. Notices of all public hearings to be held before committees of the City Council, or before the Mayor, or any head of a department, or before committees of the Legislature when such hearings relate to matters affecting the city—with perhaps a brief summary of such hearings.

4. A summary, or the full text, of all important bills affecting the city pending in the Legislature, and the full text of all laws affecting the city, as passed.

5. A copy, or a sufficiently full abstract, of the record of all meetings of Boards at the head of departments, and of all formal action taken by single heads of departments in the exercise of the powers vested in them by statute or ordinance.

6. A report of official action of record taken by the school committee, or by any sub-committee thereof.

7. Such vital and social statistics, and such statistical matter relative to the operations of the different departments, such as prices paid for supplies, number of employees, number of inmates of institutions, quantity of work performed, weekly receipts or expenditures, as the Board of Municipal Statistics may deem suitable for current publication, and such official information as to the operations of other municipalities, in this country or abroad, as said Board may deem valuable for the information of the executive departments.

8. A copy of every advertisement published by any department, a summary of all proposals received in response to the same, and a statement of all awards of contracts, giving work to be done and date of completion.

9. Special communications addressed to the Mayor by heads of departments relative to the operations or needs of their departments, and such notices as they deem it proper to issue to the public.

10. A record of the entry and nature of all law suits brought by or against the city, of any action therein in court, and of all settlements of claims against the city, whether made in court or outside of court.

11. An outline of the principal features of the city finances.

12. Such illustrations of any work proposed or executed by any department as may be desirable to give a clear idea of the same.

13. A statement of all action affecting the city taken by the Civil Service Commission, notices of all examinations or registrations relative to employment under the city to be held by said Commission, and a summary of the result thereof.

14. Such official information as to the operations of the several Metropolitan Commissions, or as to any action taken, or report made, affecting the city by any state commission or officer, as may be deemed of interest.

Such a gazette for the information and use of the departments and officers of the city, I am advised by the Corporation Counsel, can be published by order of the Mayor, each department being charged with its share of the expense; in order that it may begin with the present municipal year, I have already instructed the Superintendent of Printing to take charge of the printing of such a publication, and I have asked the Board of Statistics to assume the direction of receiving, arranging and editing matter to appear in it, and the heads of departments will be expected to furnish, as promptly as possible, information as to all the matters above referred to. This publication will be designated as "THE CITY RECORD, an official gazette of the Executive Departments of the City of Boston," and will be issued weekly, beginning with the present week; copies will be furnished to every head of a department or division, and to members of the City Council. While this publication is primarily for official use, I have no doubt that arrangements will be made by which any citizen can receive the publication by subscribing for it.

A daily official publication upon somewhat the lines above indicated, but more comprehensive in its scope, has been maintained for over twenty years by the city of New York, with successful results, and similar municipal publications are not uncommon in Europe. Boston cannot therefore lead the way among American cities in the establishment of such a gazette; but she can be the second city to take such a step, and in view of the successful operation of our municipal printing plant, it seems particularly appropriate that this city—being now equipped to issue such a publication without having to make any contract therefor—should inaugurate this departure. The Superintendent of Printing estimates that an eight-page publication of suitable size can be issued weekly at an expense of about $5,000 a year, and the effort will be made to have its general style and make-up as convenient and attractive as possible.

While, as above stated, this CITY RECORD will be started at once as an executive publication, I trust that the City Council will deem it proper to provide for its publication by ordinance, thus establishing it as the official gazette of the city, covering both the legislative and executive departments. I desire further to suggest the desirability of publishing the verbatim reports of the proceedings of the City Council in this manner, instead of by making a contract therefor with a daily newspaper.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 4, 1898.

TO THE HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS.

GENTLEMEN: In accordance with the statement made in my Inaugural Address, to which your attention is called, you are hereby notified that a publication entitled THE CITY RECORD will hereafter be issued weekly, primarily to answer the purpose of an official gazette of the executive departments of the city, in which all official action taken by each of them, together with other information of official interest, will be recorded. This publication will be issued and continued by executive authority, primarily for the information and use of the executive departments, each of which will be expected to contribute its proper share of the expense involved; it is hoped, however, that the City Council will later provide by ordinance for the continuance of such a publication, and for meeting the expense of the same, and thus make it the official gazette of the city, covering the legislative as well as the executive department.

The editorial direction of THE CITY RECORD will be under the charge of the Board of Municipal Statistics, Dr. Edward M. Hartwell, Secretary, Room 71, City Hall, to whom all matter for publication should be sent. The regular weekly publication day will at present be Thursday, and all copy must be delivered not later than Tuesday; the issue of the present week, however, will appear upon Saturday, and copy will be received up to Friday morning.

You will please furnish for publication as above, for each week ending on Monday, from and after Jan. 3, 1898; first, a copy or sufficiently full abstract of the record of all meetings of Boards, and of all formal action taken by single heads of departments in the exercise of the powers vested in them by statute or ordinance; second, a full copy of every advertisement issued, a summary of all proposals received in response to the same, and a statement of all awards of contracts; and third, such current statistical matter relative to the operations of your several departments—such as number of employees, number of inmates of institutions, permits issued, work done, etc.,—as you may deem suitable for regular publication, or for publication from time to time, the same to be approved before insertion by the Board of Municipal Statistics.

Further directions as to official information to be furnished for publication will be given later, and in the meantime heads of departments are requested to consider what further matters, relative to their several departments, could be published with advantage in THE CITY RECORD, and to communicate such suggestions to me in writing. Communications relative to the operations, or to the wants, of any department may be addressed to me with a view to their publication, and will be inserted in THE RECORD, subject to my approval.

Each single head of a department or division, and each member of a board, will receive a copy of the publication, and it should be regularly kept on file for reference at the office of each department.

Yours respectfully,
JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

THE CITY RECORD OF NEW YORK.

The following provision relative to publication of a City Record is contained in the Charter of the City of New York.—Chapter XXII., Revised Statutes:

TITLE 6.—A BOARD OF CITY RECORD.

Section 1,526. There shall be published daily (Sundays and legal holidays excepted), under a contract to be made as hereinafter provided, a paper to be known as the City Record. And said City Record and the newspapers now by law designated as corporation newspapers in the present city of Brooklyn, shall be the only papers to be included within the term corporation newspapers as the same is used anywhere in this act. * * * The mayor, corporation counsel and controller shall constitute the board of City Record. Said board by a majority vote shall appoint a proper person, together with such assistants as may be required, to supervise the preparation and publication of the same, and they shall also fix the rates of compensation of said supervisor and his assistants. All the expenses connected with its publication and distribution, except the salary of the person appointed to supervise the same, and the salaries of his assistants, shall be covered by a contract for printing, to be made in the same manner as other contracts. The board of estimate and apportionment shall provide for all the necessary expenses of conducting the said City Record. There shall be inserted in said City Record nothing aside from such official matters as are expressly authorized. The contract for the publication of the City Record shall provide for furnishing, free of charge, to the city of New York, not more than two thousand copies thereof, also for a gratuitous distribution to every newspaper regularly printed in the city of New York, when it shall apply for the same, of two copies and to every public library or public institution in said city which shall apply for the same, of one copy. Copies of the same shall be sold by the supervisor at a price to be fixed by the officers making the contract and the proceeds thereof shall be paid over to the city. All advertising required to be done for the city, except as in this act otherwise specially provided, and all notices required by law or ordinance to be published in corporation papers, shall be inserted, at the public expense, only in the City Record, and a publication therein shall be a sufficient compliance with any law or ordinance requiring publication of such matters or notices, but there may be inserted in two morning and two evening and two weekly or semi-weekly papers published in the English language and in one newspaper published in the German language, all in said city, to be designated, at any time, by said board of City Record, brief advertisements calling attention to any contracts intended to be awarded or bonds to be sold and referring for full information to said City Record; said designation of such newspapers to continue in effect until another or different designation shall be made by said board. * * * In case, however, of the sale of bonds or stocks of said city or of any real estate belonging to the city such advertisements may be also inserted in such other newspapers published in said city as said board may determine in the case of each sale. But nothing herein contained shall prevent the publication elsewhere of any advertisement required by law; provided, however, that no such publication shall be made unless the same is authorized by a concurrent vote of the members of said board. No money shall be paid from the city treasury and no action shall be maintained or judgment obtained against the city of New York, as constituted by this act, for any advertising done after April thirtieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-three except, such as is herein authorized or such as at the time this act takes effect is a lawful charge against a municipal or public corporation, or part thereof, hereby consolidated with the mayor, aldermen and commonalty of the city of New York. The copies of the City Record furnished to the city shall be distributed to the several departments and officers, and to such persons and in such manner as the board of City Record shall direct. The controller shall cause a continuous series of the City Record to be bound as completed quarterly, and to be deposited with his certificate thereon, in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of New York, in the county clerk's office of said county and in the office of the city clerk, and copies of the contents of any part of the same, certified by such register, county clerk, or city clerk, shall be received in judicial proceedings as prima facie evidence of the truth of the contents thereof.

THE OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF THE CITY OF VIENNA.

By EDWARD M. HARTWELL, SECRETARY OF DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS.

Prior to 1890, the city of Vienna included ten wards or districts. In the year 1890 a large belt of suburban territory (including some thirty-four village communes) was annexed, and the annexed territory was divided into ten governmental divisions or wards. The area of the enlarged municipality comprises nearly seventy square miles of territory, an increase of about fifty square miles over that included in the city prior to 1890. The ten districts of the old city embraced a population of 817,299, while the population of the nine annexed districts amounted to 524,598.

As a result of the union of the suburban communes with the capital city, it was necessary to organize for purposes of municipal administration eighteen magisterial district offices and nineteen communal district chanceries or offices of record. The need was felt for the establishment of an official organ, which should serve as a ready and permanent means of communication between the Magistracy, the different branches of the Municipal Council, various other departments, and the decentralized, administrative district boards, for the purpose of securing the prompt transmission of official notices and documents. It was also felt that an administrative district so important as Vienna could no longer properly do without an official gazette for bringing to the notice of the public, in an unchanged and authentic form, the enactments of the City Government, departmental reports, official notifications of various sorts, and invitations for bids and proposals from contractors on public work. A further argument for the establishment of the gazette was found in the desirability of consolidating a large number of municipal publications previously published separately. It was also argued that the maintenance of such an official gazette would serve as a means of preserving records of historical importance in the life of the municipality. The example of such municipalities as London, Paris, Berlin and a considerable number of other German cities in maintaining such official gazettes, was not without its influence upon the City Council of Vienna; and accordingly, by ordinance of the Council, passed October 20, 1891, the "Official Gazette of the Capital and Residence City of Vienna" was authorized. Its first number was issued on Friday, January 8, 1892.

The "Official Gazette," which appears every Tuesday and Friday, including from two to eight signatures, contains stenographic reports of the public sessions of the Municipal Council (Gemeinderath); detailed reports of the sessions of the City Council (Stadtrath); reports and information concerning means of subsistence, and military, industrial, school, conscription, poor, water and warehouse affairs; specifications contained in all petitions received within the previous three days in all the district offices under the Magistracy for permits to build, and for the determination of building lines; quarterly statements relating to taxation, municipal indebtedness and real estate transfers; and a variety of notifications, among which calls for proposals from contractors occupy a prominent place. In addition, every month the "Official Gazette" publishes a separate supplement, which contains the ordinances and decisions of the Municipal Council and the Magistracy, together with a list of newly issued laws of the Empire and of the Kingdom. A second supplement constitutes the monthly bulletin of the Statistical Department of the Magistracy.

A few weeks after the close of the year, there appears a comprehensive, accurate index of the "Official Gazette," and a special index of supplementary ordinances.

The number of subscribers to the Gazette in 1895 was about 300 yearly, and the number of copies gratuitously distributed among state and city officials amounted to nearly 1,300. The annual subscription price is 6 florins.

It may be remarked that the official gazette of the city of Berlin for the year 1892-93 cost that city 64,628 marks, the income of the gazette for the same year being 1,038 marks. For the year 1893-94, the expenditures amounted to 61,863 marks, and the income to 1,207 marks. For the year ending March 31, 1895, the cost of the gazette was 57,449 marks, and 51,384 marks were expended in the year ending March 31, 1896. In Paris, the appropriation in 1894 for the publication of the "Bulletin Municipal Officiel" amounted to 112,400 francs, the actual expenditure being 109,268 francs.

GOVERNOR WOLCOTT'S INAUGURAL.

Extracts relating to matters affecting Boston, from the inaugural address of His Excellency, Governor Wolcott, January 6, 1898.

STREET RAILWAYS.

One of the most important measures passed by the Legislature of 1897 was the "Act to promote rapid transit in the city of Boston and vicinity." The petitioners for this legislation were men who, through the control of large means and by the possession of great business experience, were well fitted to prosecute an extensive and costly enterprise, which gave promise of overcoming, in part, at least, the difficulties which in Boston have made rapid transit so tardy of realization. It may be safely affirmed that the feeling was general in favor of granting the prayer of the petitioners, and thus enabling them to carry into execution their elaborate plans of construction, provided, in bestowing so important a franchise, the rights and interests, both present and prospective, of the public should be safely guarded. With this purpose many important modifications of the bill as first presented were made by the Legislature, some of them immediately before its final passage, to meet objections raised by the executive, and as so amended the bill received my approval. This was given not without hesitation, but in confident reliance that the discretion entrusted by the bill to the Board of Railroad Commissioners to pass judgment upon certain points necessarily left undetermined therein would be so exercised as to be consistent with the public interests and in accord with public policy. By the recent decisions of the Board upon the West End Railway lease this reliance is shown not to have been misplaced. The commissioners in my opinion, have treated the difficult questions submitted to them with ability, and with a single eye to the public welfare. Such action justifies the well-settled policy of the Commonwealth, in granting larger powers to corporations exercising their franchises under authority of the Commonwealth, to leave to the several commissions the decision of certain details, relying upon them to exercise with wisdom and fearlessness that supervision which the public interests require.

The section of the subway extending from the western entrance in the Public Garden to Park street and that from the southern entrance on Shawmut avenue to the corner of Boylston and Tremont streets have now been in operation for several months. It is gratifying to note the fact that they have already proved of great advantage in promoting the rapid transit of passengers, and in relieving the congestion of traffic on adjacent streets. Another year will witness the completion of the subway from Park street to the vicinity of the Union Station on Causeway street, and the full benefit of this great work in removing the burden of street car traffic from certain of our principal streets will, it is confidently expected, be then realized.

BOSTON HARBOR.

The much-needed improvements in Boston harbor, demanded by the importance of the commercial interests of the port have been forwarded during the year through both national and State agencies.

The main ship channel at the entrance to the harbor has been freed from rocks and shoals, so that there is now a uniform depth of twenty-seven feet at mean low water, with a width of 1,000 feet as far up as the Narrows. Under a contract with the Federal Government to continue the same width and depth of channel up to the city, the work of dredging is now going on, and will probably result during the coming season in the completion of a channel of like dimensions to President's Roads.

An examination of the proposed new ship channel through Broad Sound has been made, and it is expected that Congress will be asked during the coming session for an appropriation sufficient for the excavation of a channel by this route 1,200 feet wide and thirty feet deep at mean low water.

Boston has suffered in the past from the lack of a free and deep waterway for large vessels approaching her wharves. It has been a serious obstacle to the due expansion of her shipping interests, from the burden of which relief should not be longer delayed.

With the view of providing, for the future, still greater facilities for the commerce of the port, the Legislature of last year authorized the expenditure of a large sum to secure public ownership and control of certain portions of the foreshore of Boston harbor, and for the construction of a pier and dock on the Commonwealth's flats at South Boston. A contract for the foundations and care of this pier has been made by the Harbor and Land Commissioners, which it is expected will secure its completion and readiness for service before the contemplated improvements above referred to in the ship channel shall be fully carried out. Owing to the dislodgement of many industries and business firms through the location of the Southern Union Station, the attention of investors and business men has been turned in larger measure than heretofore to the undeveloped property of the Commonwealth at South Boston, and to the increased use of the wharf properties of South Bay.

METROPOLITAN WATER BOARD.

The great constructive work committed to this Board has been prosecuted with vigor and has made substantial progress during the past year. The tunnel, two miles in length, making the beginning of the aqueduct which is to connect the Nashua river at Clinton with the Sudbury water system of the city of Boston, has been completed, and the remainder of the aqueduct, with the open waterway, nine miles in length, has been so far finished that water can now be conveyed through it to the South-boro' reservoir. This large reservoir, covering an area of two square miles, and already connected with the Boston water system, is so far completed as to be now collecting and storing the waters of its own water-shed. The main supply pipes, generally four feet in diameter, have been laid through the greater part of the Metropolitan water district. A large additional water supply is therefore already assured, and it is believed that reason for apprehension of any serious trouble in the near future from a light rainfall no longer exists. The building of the dam and reservoir at Clinton and the other work connected with this great undertaking will require several years for completion. It is interesting to note that with increasing population certain municipalities within the ten-mile radius, but not originally included in the municipal water district, are already showing a desire to be admitted to share the benefits of the new water supply. The Commonwealth will finally be fully reimbursed for its great expenditure, and the several municipalities will obtain an abundant supply of pure water at a less expense than if each were forced to construct independent works.

MESSAGES FROM THE MAYOR.

Appended is an extract from the minutes of a regular meeting of the Common Council, held January 6, at 7.45 P. M., President Connolly in the chair, showing the action of the Council on certain messages from the Mayor :

METROPOLITAN WATER SUPPLY. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 6, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL :

I desire to notify you that the Metropolitan Water Board, under the provisions of Chapter 488 of the Acts of 1895, has taken all the land, and all the ponds, basins, reservoirs, filter-beds, dams, aqueducts, conduits, pumping stations, pipes, pumps and other property held by the City of Boston, for the purpose of supplying water, or for the purpose of storing or of protecting or preserving the purity of the water, and situated westward of Chestnut Hill Reservoir and westward of the intersection of the main pipes recently laid by said Board from Chestnut Hill Reservoir to Spot Pond, together with the main pipes which convey water from the Mystic distributing reservoir, the pumping station at Chestnut Hill Reservoir and lands under and surrounding the same, and the pipes and aqueduct leading thereto, and that said Board is now prepared to furnish water to the towns in the Metropolitan water district. The Act requires that said Board shall, on application, furnish water to any city or town in the Metropolitan district that at the time of the application owns its water-pipe system. It is therefore necessary that you should authorize such application for the furnishing of water to be made, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That His Honor the Mayor be and is hereby authorized to make application to the Metropolitan Water Board to furnish water from the Metropolitan Water Supply, under the provisions of Chapter 488 of the Acts of 1895.

The message was sent up, and the order passed.

CHESTNUT HILL RESERVOIR GROUNDS.—

The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 6, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL :

In view of the fact that Chestnut Hill Reservoir up to the inner line of the driveway surrounding it, has now been taken by the Metropolitan Water Commission, and that only this driveway and the grounds outside of it are left in the custody of the Water Department of the city, I desire to recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the care and custody of the driveway and grounds from the Water Department, which no longer has any real connection with them, to the Park Department under which they now properly belong. The Water Commissioner is anxious to have this transfer effected as soon as possible.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the driveway and grounds around Chestnut Hill Reservoir, including all of the lands connected with said Reservoir, owned by the city, be transferred from the Water Department to the Park Department.

The message was sent up, and the order passed.

CUSTODY OF ROGERS PARK. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 6, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL :

I desire to recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the care and custody of Rogers Park, Brighton, from the Public Grounds Department to the Park Department. I understand that this transfer would be approved by both of the departments concerned, and it has been petitioned for in the past by the Citizens' Improvement Association of Ward 25. The character of this land is such that it seems desirable in many respects that it should be under park administration rather than that it should continue to be treated as a public ground.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That Rogers Park, Brighton, be hereby transferred from the Public Grounds Department to the Park Department.

The message was sent up. On motion of Mr. Callahan of Ward 7, the order was referred to the Committee on Public Grounds Department, when appointed.

WIDENING NORTH HARVARD STREET.—

The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
City Hall, January 6, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

The necessity of widening North Harvard street from the Boylston-street Bridge between Boston and Cambridge, to Cambridge street, has been evident for some time, and there is pressing occasion for providing for this widening without delay, owing to the fact that the large water mains of the Metropolitan Water System must shortly be laid through the street. This work is recognized by the Street Commissioners as one of the most urgent coming under the Street Laying Out Department, and I earnestly recommend that the estimated sum required, amounting to $25,000, be provided at once by loan.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Street Commissioners be authorized to expend twenty-five thousand ($25,000) dollars for widening North Harvard street, from the Boylston street Bridge (between Boston and Cambridge) to Cambridge street; and that to meet the appropriation aforesaid the City Treasurer issue and sell, as may be required, either coupon bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston for the sum of twenty-five thousand ($25,000) dollars; said bonds or certificates to be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer of the City of Boston twenty years from the date of the same, and bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of January and July of each year.

Ordered, That any premium obtained in the negotiation or sale of said bonds or certificates be paid to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking Fund for the redemption of the debt hereby created.

The message was sent up, and the question came on the passage of the order.

The order was passed. Yeas, 64; nays, 0. Mr. Wheeler moved to reconsider. Lost. Sent up.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
City Hall, January 6, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Board of Commissioners of Sinking Funds estimating the amount which the city will be able to borrow during the present municipal year within the debt limit.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

LOANS FOR DEPARTMENTS.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 6, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I hereby recommend the passage of the accompanying orders providing for meeting the expenses of the Street Laying Out Department and of the Wire Department, by loan in the same manner as heretofore, the loans recommended being for the same amounts as were authorized last year. As these departments will have no authority to incur expenses for the purposes contemplated after the first of February, unless these loans are authorized, the need of early action upon them is apparent.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners expend for making plans of territory or sections of land under the provisions of Chapter three hundred and twenty-three of the Acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-one, and Acts in amendment thereof or addition thereto, the sum of $60,000, and that the proceeds of loans issued for the purpose specified in said chapter be applied to the payment thereof.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Wires be authorized to expend the sum of fifty thousand (50,000) dollars in carrying out the powers and duties conferred upon him by Chapter 454 of the Acts of 1894, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer, at his discretion, issue and sell coupon bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount, payable at the office of the City Treasurer of Boston twenty years from their date, and bearing interest at the rate of three and one-half per centum per annum, payable semi-annually at such times as said Treasurer shall determine.

The message was sent up, and the orders were passed. Yeas, 60; nays, 0.

GRANGER-STREET EXTENSION.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 6, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

In connection with the proposed transfer of an appropriation of $10,000 lately made from Leonard street to Granger street, and referring to the message which I addressed to the City Council of 1896, recommending that such an appropriation be made for Granger street rather than for Leonard street, I transmit herewith an estimate of the cost of each of these streets, lately made by the Street Commissioners.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE,

City Hall, January 6, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Sir: In reply to the note the Street Commissioners received from you on Tuesday, they wish to say that, in their opinion, under present conditions, an extension of Granger street to Dorchester avenue would require an appropriation of $12,000, and that for an extension of Leonard street to Adams street an appropriation of $15,000 would be needed.

Respectfully,
J. H. JENKINS, Secretary.

Sent up.

REVISED ORDINANCES OF 1898. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 6, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a copy of an Ordinance for consolidating and arranging the Ordinances of the city, which was pending before the City Council of 1897, and was referred by that body to the City Council of 1898, for the purpose of bringing such ordinances before you for your early action thereon.

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

(Annexed was a copy of the revised ordinances referred to.)

The message was sent up, and the question came on giving the ordinances a second reading. The ordinances were read a second time, and the question came on their passage. A motion to assign further consideration of the ordinances to the next meeting was carried.

BATH DEPARTMENT. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 6, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

In view of the desirability of making early provision for the administration of the new bath-house on Dover street, I recommend the passage of the accompanying ordinance providing for a new department of baths, upon the lines and for the reasons stated in my inaugural address.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

In the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight.

An ordinance to establish a department of baths. Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston as follows:

Section 1 of Chapter fifteen of the Revised Ordinances of 1892 is hereby amended by striking out in the fourteenth line thereof, the words "shall establish and maintain bath-houses."

Section 2. A department of baths is hereby established, to be in charge of a board of seven members to be appointed by the Mayor, subject to confirmation by the Board of Aldermen, two of which members shall always be women. The members of said board may be appointed by the Mayor at any time after the date of the passage of this ordinance, to serve until the first day of May next. On or before said first day of May, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, the Mayor shall appoint, subject to confirmation by the Board of Aldermen one member to serve for the term of five years, two for the term of four years, one for the term of three years, two for the term two years and one for the term of one year, beginning with said first day of May; and annually after the current year, in the years in which any term or terms shall expire, a member or members of said board shall be appointed for the term of five years, beginning with the first day of May in the year of appointment. Said board shall establish and maintain bath-houses, and shall have the care and custody of all bath-houses, whether for all-the-year-round use or floating bath-houses in salt water for summer use, now or hereafter established by the city, and shall have the care and custody of all urinals or public convenience stations, now or hereafter established by the city, and shall have and exercise as to such baths and urinals all of the powers now vested in the Board of Health.

METROPOLITAN WATER SUPPLY. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 6, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

The Act to provide for a Metropolitan Water Supply, Chap. 488 of the Acts of 1895, makes no provision for the disposition of the sums to be received by the city from the Metropolitan Water Board as compensation for the taking of its water-supply system, and no order has yet been passed by the City Council providing for the disposition of such funds. As I am given to understand that said Board will very shortly be ready to make a large payment on account to the city, it is very desirable that the City Council should provide at once for the proper disposition of any funds so received. There can be no question that any compensation received by the city for the taking of a portion of its water system can only be properly applied, so far as necessary, toward meeting the existing water debt of the city by increasing the sinking funds held therefor. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That any sums that may be received by the city from the Commonwealth on the order of the Metropolitan Water Board, as compensation in whole or in part for the taking of any part or the whole of the water supply system of the city, be paid over to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking Funds, to be added by said Board to any sinking funds held by it to meet at maturity any outstanding water bonds.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

At the meeting of the School Committee, held December 28, 1897, Mr. Dunn, for the Committee on School Houses, presented a report on school accommodations, which was accepted. The first part of the report is as follows:

The Committee on School Houses desire to present, for the information of the Board and of the public generally, a statement of what has been accomplished during the year 1897 in providing additional school accommodations, as follows.

Of the $2,200,000 which the Legislature of 1895 authorized the School Committee to expend for the acquirement of land and the construction and furnishing of new school-houses during the five years 1895-99, $500,000 was to be expended during 1895, an equal sum during 1896, and $400,000 during each of the three following years. It seems to have been assumed that this appropriation would not only be sufficient to provide the necessary additional Grammar and Primary accommodations during the term named, but would also permit of the construction of one or more High School-houses. It soon became evident, however, that the appropriation would be taxed to its utmost to meet the requirements of the rapidly increasing Grammar and Primary population, yet the necessity of providing additional High Schools had become imperative. A petition was therefore presented to the last Legislature asking that the School Committee be authorized to expend, or to contract to expend, $500,000 during the year 1897, and $500,000 during 1898, for the purchase and taking of land, and for the erection, enlargement and furnishing of High Schools in East Boston, South Boston, Dorchester, West Roxbury, and for the Mechanic Arts High School and the Girls' Latin School, in addition to the amount already granted under Chapter 408 of the Acts of 1895. The Legislature failed to grant the amount asked for, but did amend Section 4 of the Act referred to, so as to read as follows:

SECTION 4. The city treasurer of said city, to pay the expenses incurred for the lands taken and the building and furnishing of school-houses as aforesaid, shall from time to time, on the request of said school committee, issue and sell negotiable bonds of said city to an amount not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars in the current year, which shall be outside of the debt limit, and five hundred thousand dollars in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-six, six hundred and fifty thousand dollars in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, and six hundred and fifty thousand dollars in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, which shall all be within the debt limit. Of the amounts issued in the years eighteen hundred and ninety-seven and eighteen hundred and ninety-eight a sum not less than five hundred thousand dollars shall be used for the payment of expenses to be incurred for the taking of lands and the erection and furnishing of High School buildings in East Boston, South Boston, West Roxbury and Dorchester.

Thus it will be seen that instead of $2,200,000 to be expended in five years, the School Committee have been authorized to expend $2,300,000 in four years, of which amount not less than $500,000 is required to be devoted during two specified years for High School purposes in East Boston, South Boston, West Roxbury, and Dorchester. It will be observed that no provision was made for the relief of the Girls' High School on West Newton street, which occupies, together with the Girls' Latin School, a building planned to accommodate 925 pupils, but which has been obliged to shelter no less than 1,326 pupils at one time. It may be said, in this connection, that no single measure would afford such needed relief as the erection of a new home for the Girls' Latin School, now housed in a building crowded almost beyond endurance. Nor should the claims of the Normal School and the Mechanic Arts High School for better facilities be overlooked. The Normal School has for many years occupied the upper floor of the Rice School-house, accommodations that are utterly inadequate for the needs of this school. Even the corridors are utilized for class-work, and the school is without a gymnasium; has no studio for drawing, no laboratory for physics or chemistry or zoology or physiology, or many of the essentials of a modern High School building. Such are the conditions in the school that it has recently been decided to close the daily sessions during the winter months at one instead of two o'clock, in order to relieve teachers and pupils from longer confinement in crowded and poorly ventilated rooms. The Mechanic Arts High School-house should be completed in accordance with the original plans, which can be done for a comparatively small amount. This school is inconveniently full this year and is certain to be overcrowded next year, and this disadvantage will annually increase until the necessary relief is furnished.

The inadequacy of the appropriation placed at the disposal of the School Committee has been increased by the action of the Legislature at its latest session in amending the building laws so that every building hereafter erected or enlarged, or converted to use as a school-house, shall be a first-class building, i.e., of fireproof construction throughout. This means, according to the best authorities, an increase in cost of about fifteen per cent in buildings subject to this provision. In other words, a school-house that could formerly be built for $100,000 will now cost $115,000, or, stated in still another way, the appropriation granted to the School Committee has been reduced fifteen per cent.

It was our intention in this report to state the manner in which the appropriation for the current year has been expended, but we have felt it necessary to present the foregoing general review of the situation, in order that the conditions under which we labor may be clearly understood.

Out of the $650,000 which the School Committee were authorized to expend during the year 1897, the following appropriations have been made:

West End School-house site, additional	$70,000 00
Small wooden building in yard of Chapman School-house, additional	201 81

As to takings the past year, under the Park Act the Commission has either taken, or is about to take, the shores of the Charles river, so far as practicable, from the end of their previous takings at Watertown to Newton Upper Falls. It is estimated that the balance of the Parks Loans will be required for this purpose. Under Series II. a large amount of work has been done towards the investigation of the cost and feasibility of the various parkway schemes that were presented to the Legislature last winter, and these investigations have not been completed.

Plans for a speedway along the Charles river, from North Market street, in Brighton, to Soldiers' Field, have been prepared, and one series of bids obtained for doing the work. As these bids were not satisfactory they were all rejected and the specifications changed in some particulars and new bids asked for. These new proposals will be opened on January 24, and, if satisfactory, the work will begin this winter.

The report of the Commission is not yet in final form, but should be ready some time in January.

Very truly yours,
JOHN WOODBURY, Secretary.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, December 28, 1897.

RUFUS A. FLANDERS, Esq.,

President Associated Board of Trade.

MY DEAR SIR: At the beginning of my present term of office as Mayor of Boston, I addressed communications to the Associated Board of Trade, the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Boston Clearing House Association, the Boston Merchants' Association, the New England Shoe and Leather Association, and the Real Estate Exchange, inviting those bodies to appoint delegates to a committee of seven members designated as the Merchants' Municipal Committee, constituted for the purpose of making available to the Mayor, and through him to the City Council, the Legislature and the public, the advice and counsel, on business questions generally, and especially those relating to commerce, transportation, manufactures and taxation, of representatives of the leading business organizations of the city. This committee has now been in existence for two years, and has so fully answered the purposes for which it was constituted that I desire to continue it for the coming two years, in the hope and expectation that it may obtain such a strong foothold within that period as to become a recognized and permanent adjunct to the City Government.

I have come to the conclusion, however, after consultation with the present members of the committee, and with other representative business men, that it would be advisable to make some change in the method of choosing the members of this Committee. In view of the fact that practically all of the trade and business organizations of Boston either now are, or may be, represented in the Associated Board of Trade, it seems to me best, instead of renewing the invitation to the other organizations now represented, to invite the Associated Board of Trade to assume the whole responsibility of constituting the committee. I therefore hereby respectfully request the Associated Board of Trade, through you, to choose, in such manner as it may deem advisable, seven delegates to serve as members of the Merchants' Municipal Committee for the municipal years 1897 and 1898.

It is desirable that the new committee should be made up as soon as convenient, in view of the necessity of considering measures of legislation to be introduced in the Legislature.

Trusting that this invitation may be accepted by the Associated Board of Trade in the spirit in which it is extended, and that I may have the benefit of its co-operation, through its naming of the members of this committee, in dealing with the broader municipal question coming before the City Government, I am,

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT.

50 City Hall, December 29, 1897.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In answer to your inquiry as to what should be done to improve the condition of the water way of the Fens, I make the following recommendations:

First, That the conduit from the old Stony brook culvert to Charles river be extended to the Commissioners' channel and that tide gates be placed at the outlet of the Commissioners' channel.

Second, That all premises now draining into the Stony brook channel be connected with the common sewer system and that new sewers be constructed where necessary.

Third, That the water way of the Fens be emptied and filled with clean water from the Charles-river basin, and that this operation be repeated several times, and also that daily as large a quantity of clean water as is possible be admitted into the water way from Charles river.

Fourth, That the accumulation of filth at the outlets of Stony-brook, channels be removed.

Fifth, That a connection be opened from the Commissioners' channel into the main drainage sewer, for the purpose of draining from time to time any accumulation of foul water in the channel.

Yours respectfully,

WILLIAM JACKSON, City Engineer.

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,

Copley Square, December 28, 1897.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: Your Circular No. 29 calls for "any general suggestions in connection with the work or further wants" of this department which should be considered in the preparation of your inaugural address.

As the date—Dec. 30—at which you desire this statement precludes consideration of the matter by the Board of Trustees, I venture on their behalf to respond with two suggestions, which at least it would, I believe, be the unanimous desire of the Board to advance.

First, the new Library Building at Copley square is unfinished. An additional sum is required for its completion.

The needs were set forth in part on pages 9 and 10 of the last annual report of the Trustees, and endorsed by the Examining Committee in a passage appearing on pages 62 and 63 of that report. They were also explained in a communication addressed to you under date of April 30, 1897, a copy of which is enclosed herewith.

Second, enclosed also is a copy of a communication addressed to you under date of April 3, 1897, stating that in addition to the sum required for the completion of the building at Copley square, an appropriation is urgently needed for the purchase of land and the erection and equipment of a building for the East Boston Branch Library.

This need also was explained in the last annual report pages 8 (of Trustees) and 55 (of Examining Committee). As to this we can but reiterate that at present East Boston has the poorest library facilities of any district of its population in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

As to the importance of the needs at the Central Library we can but say, that it is a question, not of making additions to a building already complete, but of rendering a building which purports to do a certain work actually fit for the work it has to do.

As to the method of raising the sum requisite we do not venture a suggestion. Your Honor is aware that the main sum required for the erection of this building was raised by the issue of bonds outside of the debt limit.

Very respectfully,

FREDERICK O. PRINCE, President.

April 30, 1897.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: Under date of April 3, 1897, the Trustees of the Public Library have at your invitation submitted to you specifications of certain needed expenditures for this department requiring consideration in the forthcoming loan bill. They specified the sum of $100,000 as necessary to the "completion of the new Library Building." This sum is in fact a moderate one for the work needing to be done. In view, however, of the pressure of the needs of other departments it may be possible for the City Government to provide but a portion of the above sum at the present time. If this be the case, certain of the work needing to be done upon the Library Building must of course be deferred.

But we beg to reiterate that the items for which at least half of the above sum is needed will not admit of delay. What we refer to are items of machinery and equipment for administrative purposes, such as service (freight) elevators, etc., and certain alterations and additions indispensable to the convenience of the public and the actual work of distribution of books. In our communication a few of these were referred to as examples. There are two not mentioned, and the plans for which have but just matured, which we feel should be urgently impressed. One is a system of intercommunication between the stacks—requiring an additional staircase, additional electric book-elevators, and an auxiliary system of pneumatic tubes; the other is the enlargement of the room (termed the "tube room") behind the delivery counter, from which the issue of books takes place.

The issue of books through this department has reached a volume not provided for by present facilities. Under present conditions the force works to excessive disadvantage; the issue is at times clogged, and long delays occur, to the extreme inconvenience of the public. Towards remedying these three things are imperative: service-elevators, a system of intercommunication between the stacks, and the enlargement of the space for issue.

The summer is the time of the year when in a library such changes are feasible without excessive inconvenience. The Trustees would deplore delay for another year in these improvements, which touch the Library at its vital point, concern the comfort of thousands of readers, and affect the reputation of the institution upon its administrative side.

In their behalf, I beg to urge these considerations upon your attention.

Respectfully submitted,

F. O. PRINCE, President.

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS.

Jamaica Park, December 30, 1897.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: We have had made careful estimates of the cost of completing the parks and find that to finish and plant the Fens (including the part north of Beacon street on which no work has ever been done), the Riverway, Leverett Park, Jamaica Park, the Arborway, the Arnold Arboretum, Franklin Park, Dorchester Park, Dorchesterway, Marine Park, Castle Island, Wood Island Park, North End Beach and Copp's Hill Terraces, will require $1,000,200.

With this amount of money, we believe these parks can be completed, and that they can be equipped with all the buildings which will be required by the public for the best enjoyment of the park system, during the next twenty-five or thirty years. In making up these estimates we have endeavored, by giving up certain roads, walks and buildings not now needed, and by otherwise simplifying the designs which have been furnished by the landscape architects, to improve the parks as places of recreation for the public, and to reduce not only the cost of construction but also that of future annual maintenance, which, in any case, may be expected to increase as the parks are more used. This estimate for finishing the parks is about $1,500,000 lower than the previous estimates which have been made for completing them.

A considerable part of the money now to be expended will be required in planting trees, as the south and east ends of Franklin Park, the Parkways, Jamaica Park, Leverett Park, and portions of the Fens which have never been planted. Trees on the parkways and groves and woods to protect the borders of the parks will add greatly to their beauty and usefulness; and as many years must necessarily elapse before trees which are planted now are large enough to fulfil their purpose, it seems particularly desirable that all the trees which are needed on the parkways should be planted without further delay, and that all plantations required for the embellishment of the different parks in the system should be completed as rapidly as material for them can be obtained. It is our intention to push this part of park construction as rapidly as possible.

It is impossible at this time to form an estimate of the cost of completing the Strandway, as the plans for this have not yet been developed. This improvement may be expected to cost, however, at least $166,000.

To complete the following playgrounds, now under the charge of the Park Commission, namely, Franklin Field, Charlestown Heights, Charlestown Playground, Billings Field, North Brighton Playground, First-street Playground, Town Field, Dorchester, Mystic Playground, Neponset Playground, $370,000 will be required. This amount, with $166,000 for the Strandway, and $964,000 for the parks and parkways, calls for $1,500,000. The work on the parks and playgrounds can be most economically completed with an annual expenditure for three years of $500,000, and we recommend that this amount be placed at our disposal.

In these estimates no provision is made for building the West Roxbury Parkway, with the exception of $5,000 for tree planting, and $34,000 for building an ordinary road in that part of the parkway between Weld street and Mt. Bellevue, being the part leased to the city by the Metropolitan Park Commission, and nothing is allowed for the new Bussey street. Estimates for this work are omitted, because the construction of the West Roxbury Parkway can, we believe, be postponed for many years without injury to the public, and the new Bussey street cannot be built economically until the stone in the ledge which it traverses is used on the West Roxbury Parkway.

It seems unnecessary now to say anything on our needs for additional public playgrounds. The North End, Roxbury, Huntington-avenue district, South Bay district, Beacon Hill district, Jamaica Plain, Forest Hills and Roslindale need playgrounds. It appears desirable that the city should expend $1,000,000 in buying land for playgrounds in different parts of the city. This money can be expended to best advantage by the Park Commission, subject to the approval of the Mayor, and, if the whole sum could be made available at once, the Board could probably buy land more economically than would be possible if limited to annual expenditures of portions of the whole amount.

Most of the land which it would be desirable to buy now would not have to be developed for several years.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES E. STRATTON, Chairman.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT,
ARCHITECTURAL DIVISION,
City Hall, December 28, 1897.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In answer to your circular letter No. 29, dated Dec. 27, 1897, asking for suggestions which should be considered by you in the preparation of your inaugural address; I desire at this time to summarize in the fewest possible words, the work that has been performed by this office since I took charge over a year ago. I do this at this time on account of the Division being one of your creations and with the feeling that it has proved itself an office of usefulness.

All the buildings unfinished at the time of the abolition of the Architect Department, July 1, 1895, have been completed, and are now occupied, with the exception of the Surgical Building, City Hospital, and this latter construction will be completed and the workmen out of the way on or about March 1, 1898.

In addition to the above, the following architectural work has been performed by this Division, most of which has been completed or will be shortly:

Alterations, Cudworth School, East Boston	$911 23
Alterations, tenders house, Essex street, Brighton,	500 00
Alterations, Water Board stable, Albany street	10,746 54
Alterations, water tower, East Boston	1,393 33
Alterations, dome, etc., City Hall	28,396 18
Alterations, steam mains, City Hospital.	1,222 00
Alterations, piping, boiler-house, City Hospital.	5,654 99
Alterations, ward room, Ward 7	5,640 00
Alterations, ward room, Ward 17	5,310 00
Alterations, ward room, Ward 19	5,000 00
Alterations, plumbing, Charity Building	4,150 00
Alterations, boiler setting, Parental School	2,920 00
Grading, Stoughton District Grammar School	7,547 00
Design for coal pocket, City Hospital	25,338 00
Design for sanitary, Chestnut Hill	1,348 00
Design for band stand, North End Park	500 00
Painting, City Hall corridors	1,765 00
Total	$108,342 27

By the above account, you will see that there has been architectural work to the amount of $108,342.27 performed, and as most of the work is of the nature of alteration, the saving to the city on account of architectural commissions, such work being charged for at the rate of 10 per cent in all first-class offices, would be approximately $10,000.

For the different departments of the City of Boston the following work has been performed:

CITY MESSENGER DEPARTMENT. — Plans were furnished for a movable iron band-stand and also for a movable iron reviewing stand to be erected on certain occasions in front of City Hall yard.

CEMETERY DEPARTMENT. — Plans and specifications and perspective drawings were furnished at the request of the chairman of that department for a gate lodge, chapel, etc., to be erected at Mt. Hope Cemetery. Estimates of cost were also furnished.

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT. — On account of property being damaged through change in grade of Gold street, South Boston, this division was asked to make an examination of the damaged properties, and furnish estimates for repairs to the same.

ELECTRICAL CONSTRUCTION DIVISION. — Whenever requested so to do, this office has furnished a draughtsman to do whatever architectural work was required. This has been the case many times.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT. — Complete drawings and specifications have been furnished the Board of Health for the alteration of the morgue building, North Grove street, and estimates have been furnished for the work.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT. — This Division is still superintending the completion of the Surgical building, which will be finished in a short time. This Division has been consulted repeatedly by the Trustees on matters pertaining to the heating and ventilating of the old buildings, and on minor architectural matters; and drawings have been furnished, and the same followed.

At present the office is engaged in laying out and furnishing working drawings for the proper heating and ventilating of the new Laundry building and the new Nurses' Home. The engineer in charge of the planning, Mr. F. W. Howard, has no equal in this city on this kind of work. This work alone will result in a saving to the city of approximately $2,000.

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT. — A complete set of plans and specifications were furnished the Commissioner for the construction of boiler house and chimney at Deer Island. The work was performed by the inmates. Various drawings have been furnished relative to changes proposed to be made in different buildings under the charge of that department. Different schemes have been worked out for the Trustees of the Children's Institutions Department, showing arrangements for a new dormitory building.

PARK DEPARTMENT. — A sheepfold was designed for erection at Franklin Park and a complete set of drawings and specifications furnished. The estimated cost of this structure was $12,000. This office has been consulted by the Secretary of the Board of Park Commissioners at various times on matters pertaining to buildings. Estimates have been furnished for the cost of different buildings to be erected at Franklin Park. Drawings have also been furnished, showing possible enlargement of bathing-closet space at Marine Park, South Boston.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT. — The drawings for the use of the Massachusetts Historical Society building as a building for city offices were practically completed by this division; and the systems of heating and ventilating the same were worked out by us. Drawings have been made, showing the practicability of utilizing the Old Court House as a part of City Hall. Various plans have been drawn, showing different arrangements of offices in the Old Court House.

When it was contemplated, some months ago, to put the old Faneuil Hall building in proper repair, this office prepared careful and complete drawings, based on careful measurements, of this building; and a proper system of heating and ventilating and refrigerating for the market part was designed. This old structure had never been measured before, and as no plans could be found anywhere, this work by itself will prove valuable. The estimated cost of the alterations amounted to about $124,296. The architectural commission on the perfecting of drawings, etc., would be about 2 per cent, or $2,485.92.

PUBLIC GROUNDS DEPARTMENT. — Estimates have been furnished by this Division for the cost of beautifying Copley square, Boston.

STREET DEPARTMENT. — Plans and specifications, together with estimates for the erection of a veterinary hospital at the South Yard, have been furnished to the Superintendent. The plans also met with the approval of their veterinary surgeon.

A complete set of plans and specifications have also been furnished the Superintendent for the alteration of the stable and buildings in the Childs Street Yard, Jamaica Plain.

Plans were also furnished for altering the stable at West City Yard, and the work was done under the direction of the Street Department. The same is also true of plans furnished for the construction of an office building at the Charlestown Yard.

All the preliminary studies for the new Ferry Head House for the South Ferry, East Boston side, were prepared by this office and submitted to the Superintendent of Ferries.

This Division has also been consulted by the different deputies of the Street Department on architectural matters.

WATER DEPARTMENT. — Complete plans and specifications were furnished the Water Commissioner for the construction of an office building at Ashland, Mass. Estimates of cost were also sent to him.

The above department was also advised of the necessary alterations in the Mt. Bellevue Water Tower and plans were furnished.

The Water Commissioner has sought the advice of this office also in relation to other matters for advice.

This Division has also been asked both by you and by the heads of different departments to investigate and report on certain matters, among which may be mentioned:

Condition of engines, boilers, etc., of the Printing Plant.

Condition of all Street Department buildings.

Condition of plumbing and heating apparatus, Marcella-street Home.

Condition of plumbing, Charity Building.

Condition of garbage plant, Gibson street, Dorchester.

Condition of dredging plant, Whitehall Pond.

Condition of heating apparatus, R. G. Shaw School.

Condition of heating apparatus, S. M. Weld School.

Condition of heating apparatus, Hugh O'Brien School.

Condition of heating apparatus, Hyde School.

Condition of heating apparatus, Martin School.

Condition of walls and ceilings, Charity Building.

EXPERT SERVICES.

Under Professor Chandler's directions, this office has carefully gone over all plans and specifications prepared for the construction, heating and ventilating, and plumbing of the different buildings designed to be erected during your administration in all cases; and the suggestions made by this office have been followed.

The plans and specifications for the correction of errors in the heating and plumbing apparatus of different schools, to be paid for out of the special loan of $300,000, were also considered by this Division.

Under Professor Chandler's supervision this office has also carefully checked up all orders of additions or deductions from the different contracts on buildings now in process of erection, and in many cases a considerable saving of money to the city has resulted.

COST OF DIVISION TO THE CITY.

Since I took charge of this Division, the expenses of this office have been, approximately, $11,800 for a period of sixteen months. Had the city employed outside architects, the cost would have been certainly in the neighborhood of $18,000. This shows a saving of approximately $6,200 to the city for the above period. If we were able to take into consideration the expert work performed, the actual cost being hard to determine, a very considerable additional saving to the city would be shown.

SUGGESTIONS.

Although the work of this office has been intermittent, I venture to say that it has, even with the amount of work performed, proved itself of value to the city, and should be continued as at present.

The office force as now constituted, both architecturally and as regards the ability to settle questions of heating and ventilation, always perplexing, is far superior to most architectural offices in the city to-day.

I would suggest that the work of the office be enlarged by instructing the head of each department to turn over to this Division all architectural work for advice; and where any alteration work is contemplated, that the work be performed under the supervision of this office.

I would also suggest that all heavy alteration work now being performed by the Public Buildings Department by day labor be turned over to this Division, and that drawings be made and estimates received on specifications furnished as is the practice in first-class offices. If this were done, I venture to say, a large saving to the city would result.

I am, very respectfully yours,
MATTHEW SULLIVAN, Chief of Division.

PUBLIC GROUNDS DEPARTMENT.

CITY GREENHOUSES,

East Cottage Street, Dorchester,
December, 29, 1897.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In reply to Circular No. 29, it gives me pleasure to state that this department is in a healthy and flourishing condition, although it is necessary to suggest some needed improvements and acquisitions.

In the first place, I would recommend the purchase of enough land on the Massachusetts avenue side of the City Greenhouse grounds to straighten or square the lines, thereby increasing the frontage of the city property on this avenue and the value of the taxable property on either side of the city grounds. Herewith I send you a rough sketch, showing the land now owned by the city and the parcel of land proposed to be acquired.

For the past two years the department has been paying a yearly rental of three hundred (300) dollars for land on Cottage street, opposite the City Greenhouses, which has been used as a nursery for young trees, shrubs, etc. Experience has demonstrated the fact that trees transplanted from mercantile nurseries require treatment at the city nurseries for at least two years to enable them to fibrate their roots suitably for successful planting in the public streets. Not more than one per cent of the trees thus treated ever fails when planted out, while a large percentage of the trees transplanted from mercantile nurseries directly into the streets of Boston in former years died prematurely, not having sufficient root growth to enable them to withstand the hardships of street life. Therefore, I would, in the interests of good economy, recommend the purchase of this lot of land while it may be had at a reasonable price.

It seems hardly necessary to call your Honor's attention to the generally dilapidated and unsightly condition of the trees now standing in the public streets. So much has been said and written upon this subject for many years past that everybody interested in municipal affairs is well acquainted with the obvious fact that a thorough and systematic course of treatment is necessary to renovate them properly. For this purpose I have again included in my annual estimates the amount of ten thousand (10,000) dollars, and trust this item will receive favorable consideration. In this connection it may not be out of place to recommend the revival of an old custom of the department of distributing shade trees free, semi-annually, to citizens who are willing to defray the expense of planting them in the public streets in front of their own property, under the direction of this department. This plan was very popular when in vogue, and I know of no better way to keep our streets beautified at a small expense to the city.

To ensure proper protection to the property of the department which requires to be stored at certain seasons of the year, two new storehouses should be erected at an estimated expense of fifteen hundred (1500) dollars each—one on the City Greenhouse grounds for vases, sash, wagons, carriages, etc., which experience more or less deterioration annually by exposure to the action of the weather, and the other on the storage grounds on Massachusetts avenue, near the N. Y. & N. E. R.R. for plank walks, settees, etc. Here a suitable fence should also be erected at an additional expense of fifteen hundred (1,500) dollars. Figures for these improvements have also been included in my annual estimates, as I consider them actual necessities. For want of these accommodations the department sustained a loss during the past year of about twelve hundred (1,200) dollars' worth of plank walks, which were burnt up on the storage grounds. This was not the first fire set there by boys, but it was the most disastrous. At the present time, some two thousand settees, a large proportion of which cost five (5.00) dollars each, are stored there, liable to the same fate, day or night.

The old iron fence around Independence square is in a very dilapidated and unsafe condition. With the hope of having it repaired, I had it examined by expert iron-workers, who informed me that it was in such very bad shape and the portion which might be utilized was so insignificant comparatively, that it would not be economy to repair it. Therefore I have also included the amount of five thousand (5,000) dollars in the annual estimates for a wrought iron fence for this square.

Trusting these suggestions may receive your Honor's approbation, I beg to remain

Your obedient servant,
WM. DOOGUE, Superintendent.

STREET COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE,
City Hall, Room 38.

December 30, 1897.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: The Board of Street Commissioners would like to say in reply to the request in your circular of December 27 for suggestions in connection with the work or the future wants of their department to be considered by you in your inaugural address, that they have to present a number of street improvements in different parts of the city which, in their opinion, deserve to be brought to the public notice, and from which as many as can be carried out should be selected for recommendation for appropriations.

The Board of State Highway Commissioners have projected a highway from Newburyport which touches Boston at the Revere boundary line. The Commissioners are of opinion that it should be continued from that point, by the widening of Bennington and Chelsea streets to one hundred feet, to Maverick square and the South Ferry, thus continuing in Boston the plan of direct road that the State has built through the adjoining towns to Newburyport.

The widening of Rutherford avenue, in Charlestown, and its extension to City square has been repeatedly recommended by the Commissioners, and for access to the Boston and Maine Railroad freight-yards and for light travel to Somerville and Cambridge will be even more needed than heretofore, owing to the proposed location of the elevated system of the Boston Street Railway Company through Main street to Sullivan square. Estimates have been made for this street, and its expense the Commissioners do not believe unwarranted in view of the great benefit it would be to all classes of travel through Charlestown.

The widening of Pleasant street, a continuation of Broadway Extension, from Washington street to Park square, it is considered should be made to seventy feet. An additional reason at the present time for the carrying out of this improvement over the former and ordinary necessities of travel through the street is found in the location of the entrance of the elevated railroad to the subway at the intersection of this street with Pleasant street.

The widening of Washington street, from Pleasant street northwardly to Warren street, for the short distance of one block, has been repeatedly suggested, and is now more needed than ever, owing to the crowded condition of Washington street, and the extremely dangerous relation of the street railway there to the other traffic through the street.

Kneeland street, from Harrison avenue to Albany street, it is suggested should be widened to sixty feet. The reasons for it are stronger to-day than before, owing to the location of enlarged freight terminals by the Boston and Albany Railroad that will front upon the street.

Albany street, which has a width of eighty feet from Roxbury to Troy street, the Commissioners think should be continued at that width from Troy street to Beach street. The street covers the whole western side of the Boston and Albany freight terminal and passes over the bridges and way that are to be enlarged for the consolidated roads' access to the New Union Station.

Harrison avenue, which has been widened to about eighty feet from Essex street to Beach street, should be continued at the width of sixty feet from Beach street to Dover street. Parts of this widening have been made, and the work should be completed before the contemplated construction of the Boston Street Railway elevated system, which the Commissioners understand is to occupy this street from Beach street to Motte street.

Hampden street, in Roxbury, requires immediately for the needs of the present travel in it, a width of sixty feet from Albany street to Dudley street.

Ruggles street, which has been located by the Board of Survey plans at a width of fifty feet from the Fens to Tremont street, the Commissioners would suggest should be widened to sixty feet from Tremont street to Washington street, and extended thence in a direct line to the junction of Dudley and Dearborn streets. This would provide a very direct cross thoroughfare from Dorchester to Brookline by way of the Parks.

Upon the Board of Survey plans, Washington street, in West Roxbury, has been located at a width of one hundred feet. This widening can be carried out upon that part of the street as work is done there. The same width should also be carried to Dudley street at Guild Row, and, if possible, the money appropriated to carry out that portion of the work between that point and Forest Hills station before the land upon the sides of this thoroughfare is more closely built upon.

The widening and repairing of North Harvard street is something very much needed in Brighton to furnish easy communication from the middle of that section with Cambridge. As the Metropolitan Water Board is about to lay a large main pipe in this street, and needs additional width for that purpose, if it is not to interfere with the present system of pipes and sewerage in the existing street, it is suggested that, either by negotiation with the State authorities, or legislation, some method be arranged by which the Metropolitan Water Board should pay some share of the cost of the widening and construction of the street as located anew.

The Commissioners wish also to urge in the several cases above mentioned where the widenings are greatly to the advantage, if not necessary, for the proposed work of the Boston Street Railway Company in the erection of elevated or new surface lines, that application be made to the Legislature to provide means by which they can legally be required to pay such part of the cost of these street improvements as designated parties shall decide to be due from them.

It is also desirable that an appropriation of at least one hundred thousand (100,000) dollars be made to enable the city to take advantage of opportunities that may arise for street widenings and extensions from the taking down of buildings and changes in lines of estates that often occur unexpectedly. The Board of Street Commissioners have had no money appropriated in this way and for these purposes during the last three years, and are prevented at times from making small improvements that would be of great advantage to the city and the public by reason of the want of such funds.

The Street Commissioners wish to recall your attention to their letter of the fifteenth of February, 1897, concerning the determination of lines of streets in the city, and a general survey of estates for purposes of taxation and record, and to say, though no action has been taken upon it, that they are even now more strongly of opinion than when their letter was sent you of the exceeding value the adoption of their suggestions therein contained would be to the city.

Another street, which the Commissioners do not wish to overlook in making these statements of their views of the improvements required in the city, is the widening and extension of Preble street, from Swett street to a direct connection with the new Parkway laid out as Columbia Road from Franklin Park to the Marine Park. This will furnish a direct street from the Marine Park and Strandway across the South Bay to the western part of the city and the Back Bay Fens.

Respectfully,

JOHN P. DORE, Chairman.

Record of Contracts.

Copy of Contract for compensation for a location entered into by the Eastern Cold Storage Company.

Whereas, The Eastern Cold Storage Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Maine and having a usual place of business in the city of Boston, is desirous of obtaining the approval by the Mayor of said city of an order passed by the Board of Aldermen of said city, December 28, 1897, granting to said company the right to lay and maintain underground conduits, with iron pipes enclosed therein, in and under certain streets of said city, said pipes to be used for refrigerating purposes; and

Whereas, The City of Boston is required to keep said streets in good repair and safe for public travel, and the operations of said company will be liable to keep said streets out of such repair and in an unsafe condition, and to cause said city loss, expense and damage; and

Whereas, The Mayor of said city is unwilling for these reasons, with others, to approve such order unless said company enters into the obligations hereinafter stated;

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises, and to secure the city from all such expense, loss and damage caused by the doings of said company, and thereby to remove the objections of the Mayor and to obtain the approval by him of said order, the said company agrees with said city as follows:

1. Said company, after its pipes have been laid in place in trenches in the streets in which it shall be authorized to place them, shall re-fill such trenches, and restore the surface of such streets, as directed by, and under the immediate direction of, the Superintendent of Streets of said city and his assistants.

2. DIRECT EMPLOYMENT OF LABOR.

The following extract from the inaugural address of Mayor Quincy and circular to heads of departments explains a new policy which has just been put into effect relative to repairs on municipal buildings:

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

I am strongly in favor of the adoption by the city, in the execution of all of the extensive and varied municipal work in the nature of repairs in, or new work on, existing buildings—particularly carpentering, plumbing and painting—of the same policy which has been successfully put in practice in the Electrical Construction Division, namely, that of the direct purchase of materials and the direct employment of labor, under competent technical supervision and executive direction. It is as true in connection with carpentering, plumbing and painting as it is in connection with electrical work that small repairs, aggregating a large amount in the course of a year, are constantly being called for, and that jobs of considerable importance are required at intervals.

I believe that it would be perfectly feasible to organize a small, permanent force, to be increased whenever special work might require, to execute all work of this character, and that expense could be saved, and a better quality of work secured, through the adoption of this policy. I think it might even prove desirable to have such a force do some special portions of the work on new buildings—just as the wiring on such buildings is now done by the Electrical Construction Division—or even wholly to construct small buildings. All such work, unless of the simplest nature, should be done according to definite plans and specifications, prepared for each job by the Architectural Division, so that competent technical advice would at all times be taken before anything was undertaken.

The experience of the last two years has decidedly strengthened my belief in the desirability, from many standpoints, of substituting the direct employment of labor for the contract system, wherever the conditions are such as to make this feasible and reasonably economical. The practical advantages of having a permanent staff, familiar with all of the work of the city of a given character, instead of distributing such work among a large number of contractors, not all of whom are likely to do good work, are very considerable. In one or two other departments, such as the Bridge Division, the city already does its own carpentering and painting upon a considerable scale, and it seems to me that there is no great difficulty in the way of adopting the same policy in respect to repairs on all of its public buildings. I may add that I think it would have a decidedly beneficial effect upon municipal politics to place this work upon a basis where it would no longer be competed for by a large number of contractors.

CIRCULAR NO. 32.

Establishment of Repair Division and Transfer of Architectural Division.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

TO THE HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS:

GENTLEMEN: You are hereby notified that in pursuance of the policy outlined in my inaugural address, and already in force in respect to all electrical construction work, a Repair Division has now been established under the Public Buildings Department, and that Mr. Charles Logue has been appointed chief of this division. The work of this new division will consist of executing all kinds of repairs—including carpentering, plumbing, painting, mason work, steam-fitting, gas-fitting, plastering, roofing and glazing—upon all city buildings, except in cases where such repairs are now made by regular employees of the different departments. The Repair Division will purchase all materials, and employ all labor, necessary for such purposes, and work done for other departments will be charged to them: itemized bills for work performed will be rendered monthly, and should be promptly approved for payment when found correct.

All orders for such repair work are to be sent directly to the chief of this division, in the office of the Public Buildings Department, Old Court House, and no work of this character is hereafter to be done by contract. Estimates of the probable cost of proposed repair work will be furnished to the different departments when desired, and estimates of the probable cost of alterations on new buildings for which plans have been prepared, will also be furnished on request.

You are requested to report to me as soon as convenient a list of any mechanics in the building trades now regularly employed by your department, with a designation of the character of work performed by each.

You are further notified that the Architectural Division has been detached from the Public Buildings Department and placed under the Engineering Department. Mr. Matthew Sullivan has resigned the position of chief of this division, and Prof. F. W. Chandler, heretofore designated as consulting architect to the Mayor, has been appointed at its head, under the designation of Consulting Architect. The work of this division will be entirely that of a consulting or expert force, and it can be called upon by any of the departments for technical advice on matters of building, heating, ventilation or steam engineering. Plans or specifications of work to be done by the Repair Division will be prepared by the Architectural Division whenever the nature of the work is such as to make them desirable, and the latter division will have a general supervision of the work done by the former.

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

January 13, 1898.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CHIEF OF REPAIRS DIVISION.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 13, 1898.

MR. CHARLES LOGUE, Chief of Repairs Division, Public Buildings Department.

DEAR SIR: In approving your appointment as chief of the newly established Repairs Division of the Public Buildings Department ment, I desire to impress upon you the importance of making a success of the new departure of having the city maintain its own force of mechanics for the execution of all repairs upon its own buildings. You have been selected for this responsible position solely because it was believed from your past record that you were fitted, as to character, capacity and experience, for performing its duties successfully. I have every confidence that the results which you will accomplish will justify your selection, and the establishment of your division. I shall take a personal interest in its work, and shall advise with you from time to time in regard to it.

I am advised that all mechanics are within the classified service, and you will therefore have to make requisition upon the Civil Service Commission for any employees that you may need. It is my desire that the wages of the mechanics in the different building trades, to be employed under your division, be fixed at the established Union rates for first-class workmen, and that their hours of labor be the same as those so established. I am particularly anxious that only skilful and industrious workmen of the different trades be employed by you, and that the quality of all work done shall be first-class.

It is necessary for the financial success of the work of your division that it should be distinctly understood by every mechanic employed that his position is not a permanent one, and that he will continue on the pay-roll only during such time as there is work for him to do. While the services of a small number of mechanics may be constantly needed, the amount of work to be done will fluctuate largely, and it is essential that you should be perfectly free to decrease or increase your force as may be demanded. I therefore desire you to have every mechanic who is to be employed by your division sign a statement, before his name is placed upon the pay-roll, accepting the above conditions in respect to the duration of his employment.

The city should be able not only to save the profit upon materials now charged by contractors, but to purchase in sufficient quantities to obtain lower prices than small contractors, at least, can secure. I desire you to give special personal attention to this matter. Office quarters will be assigned you at once by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, and a storeroom will be provided as soon as possible, in which to carry such stock as it may seem desirable to keep constantly on hand.

Whenever the nature of the job seems to require it, plans or specifications for the work to be done by your division are to be first prepared by the Architectural Division, which has just been placed under the Engineering Department, and you are to call upon that division for this purpose whenever necessary.

Yours very truly,
JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

PROPOSED ALTERATION OF THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY BUILDING.

It is proposed that the building formerly occupied by the Massachusetts Historical Society and recently acquired by the city, shall undergo a thorough overhauling internally, and also receive an addition of four stories above its present height; accordingly architect's plans for the proposed alterations and additions have been prepared by Mr. A. W. Longfellow, Jr., Tremont Building, Boston.

Appended is a plan, showing the elevation of the proposed structure, and a general statement as to its main architectural features.

The plans provide for supporting the weight of the proposed additional stories by means of a skeleton frame of steel, resting on a concrete foundation below the cellar bottom and the Subway on Tremont street; for changing the lower portion of the present facade on Tremont street so as to give it a more substantial appearance; for installing a pair of high speed elevators at the rear of the building, at a point which will be readily accessible from the old Probate Building; for furnishing heat from a central plant located in the City Hall, where the electric plant is also to be located; and for a new chimney stack at the corner of old Probate Building, nearest the City Hall.

The construction would be like that of all first-class office buildings, with floors of brick arches and steel beams, corridors and toilet rooms tiled and wainscotted in marble, and the roof of brick pavement. The use of wood as a finish would be reduced to a minimum, only doors, windows and floors of offices being of this material. Oak would be used for all standing finish, office floors to be of maple, elevators, screens and staircases to be of iron.

The style of the proposed building is renaissance, with a Greek touch in the detail and ornament. The material called for in the exterior is granite, to correspond with the present building. Approximate bids have been received as to cost, which would amount to $130,000. The total office area planned to be added amounts to 20,000 square feet.

Through the purchase of this property an entrance from an extremely important street is had to the bulk of the city property, i.e., Probate Building, City Hall and Old Court House. Since the property adjoins the King's Chapel burying-ground, an abundance of direct light may be had, free from any possible danger of overshadowing from abutters.

In point of width the building is admirably suited for division into department offices. Should the building be completed, the Probate Building would later be razed and an extension made in the rear, with connections to all floors of the present City Hall.

THE COMMERCIAL VALUE OF COAL ASHES.

The City Record, New York City's Official Journal, in issue No. 7495, contains a report dated December 27, 1897, by the ex-Commissioner of Street Cleaning, George E. Waring, jr. The report, which is voluminous and abounds in illustrations and statistical tables relating to the work of the department during Mayor Strong's administration, contains the following statement regarding the money value of coal ashes derived from domestic fires:

A very thorough investigation has been made, running over most of the past year, by Mr. Craven, Mr. Koyl and Mr. Joseph A. Shinn, of Pittsburgh, looking to the possibility of developing a money value from the coal ashes of domestic fires. The following results have been reached, and I think that the conclusion to which they point may be regarded as sound.

We are now collecting about 800,000 loads of domestic ashes per annum, equal to 1,200,000 cubic yards. Repeated experimental analysis of these ashes indicates that they will yield on the average:

	Per. cent. age.	Amount.	Value per unit.	Total Value.
Coal (recoverable) ..	20	144,000 tons.	$2.50	$360,000
Clinker	15	180,000 cu. yds.	.75	135,000
Fine ash	50	600,000 "	.28	168,000
Coarse ash and stone,	15	180,000 "	—	—
	100			$663,000

The cost of collection and delivery at the present dumps, based on department wages, purchases, rentals, administration, etc., is, per cart load, 80 cents; per cubic yard, 53 cents—making the total cost of collection $640,000.

The cost of separating one cubic yard of ashes into its available parts is estimated at 12½ cents per cubic yard, or for the total output, $150,000.

The fine ash, when properly mixed with lime, makes a building mortar which has a greater tensile strength, and a proportionately higher crushing strength, and is of much less specific gravity than sand mortar. Therefore, if the use of such mortar could be legalized, it should at least have as good or perhaps better sale than sand mortar. The cost of manufacture and delivery would be about $2.20 per cubic yard. Machine mixed sand mortar is selling in market for $3.45, delivered.

Respectfully submitted,
GEO. E. WARING, JR., Commissioner.

Communications.CIRCULAR NO. 31.*OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.*TO THE HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS.

GENTLEMEN: It is desirable, especially in connection with the work of the Board of Statistics, that, in the keeping of accounts, the items of expenditure of each department shall hereafter be classified in the same manner by the Auditor and by the department itself. Please notice carefully, before the beginning of the next financial year, whether the classification of the items of expenditure of your department made in the last annual report of the City Auditor is the same as that followed by your department in the keeping of its accounts and the making up of its financial statements in its annual report. If any variation is found in such classifications, I desire your department either to adopt the classification used in the Auditor's report, or to confer with the Auditor as to agreeing upon a common classification. There is no objection to a more detailed statement of expenditures in department reports than that contained in the Auditor's report, but it is desired that the general classifications used shall exactly correspond.

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Old Court House,

December 17, 1897.

TO HIS HONOR THE MAYOR AND THE BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS:

GENTLEMEN: The Board of Health respectfully calls attention to the bad sanitary condition of the ponds of water in the Back Bay Fens and the probable cause of the same.

Stony brook has always served the uses of a public sewer and formerly discharged into Charles river. When the Fens were constructed, a dozen years ago, the ponds in them were formed by a dam on the brook at Charles river. The ponds then became practically a settling basin for the sewage and other filth in the brook; and notwithstanding the efforts of the Park Commissioners to keep the waters clean by frequent, but partial, exchanges, for the Charles river waters, these ponds have never been clean, and at times have been unsightly in appearance, and have emitted most nauseous odors from stagnant sewage.

Within the last few weeks the condition of these ponds has been much worse than ever before, and it has brought many complaints to this department from people living on the Fenway, and others. The waters have been turbid with filth, and the fishes have been killed in large numbers. In 1892, this department made an examination, and found eighty-five dwellings with 200 families, six factories and one car-house with 500 persons and two livery stables with sixty horses, draining into Stony brook for want of public sewers. These facts were reported to the Sewer Department and to the Mayor and City Council, and the hope expressed that the necessary sewers for the relief of Stony brook would be provided. Up to the present time we find that such relief has been provided for only about two per cent of the whole, which must have been more than balanced by the increase.

In view of the present bad sanitary condition of these waters, and the inevitable increase of their pollution, we respectfully and earnestly recommend an early provision of sewers for the relief of Stony brook and the ponds of the Back Bay Fens.

Respectfully,

THE BOARD OF HEALTH,

SAMUEL H. DURGIN, Chairman.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, January 8, 1898.

Yours very respectfully,

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

MESSAGES FROM THE MAYOR.

At a regular meeting of the Common Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, Thursday, January 13, 1898, at 7.45 o'clock P.M., President Connolly in the Chair, the following messages were received:

PAVING NORFOLK STREET.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 13, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Streets in reply to your order requesting an estimate of the cost of paving Norfolk avenue, from Magazine street to Cottage street, Ward 17.

Respectfully.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

OFFICE OF STREET DEPARTMENT.

City Hall, January 11, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Sir:—In accordance with request contained in inclosed order of the Common Council, I beg to submit the following estimate of cost of paving:

Norfolk avenue, Ward 17, Magazine street, to East Cottage street, paving with granite blocks and regulating, $29,300.

Respectfully submitted,

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

PURCHASE OF BUILDINGS.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 12, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Streets calling attention to the urgent need of an appropriation for the purchase of the buildings upon the Gibson-street yard of the Street Department, owned by the New England Construction Company. In view of the fact that the owners of these buildings, which stand upon city land, may have some equitable claim to ask the city to purchase them, and of the fact that they will be fully worth to the city the sum asked for them, I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the amount needed for this purpose from another appropriation, where it is not needed.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the City Auditor be authorized to transfer the sum of four thousand five hundred dollars ($4500) from the appropriation of five thousand dollars ($5000) for Back Bay Sewer Outlet, to an appropriation for Street Department, Paving Division, for the purchase of buildings on the Gibson-street yard.

The message was sent up, and the question came on the passage of the order. The order failed of passage (50 votes being required), yeas 28, nays 31.

REGULATION OF TRAFFIC.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 13, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

Under the present ordinance there is no means of preventing teams from crossing the reservations in the avenues occupied by street railway tracks, and serious damage is being done in this manner to the planted spaces; of course it was the intention in laying out and constructing these reservations that ordinary street traffic should be entirely excluded from them. An amendment of the ordinances to remedy the difficulty was passed by the Board of Aldermen last year, but failed to pass the Common Council.

I again call the attention of the City Council to the desirability of immediate action upon this matter, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying ordinance.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

In the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight. An ordinance relating to the use of Public Grounds. Be it ordained, etc., as follows:

Section sixty-eight of Chapter forty-three of the Revised Ordinances of 1892 is hereby amended by adding after the word "kind," in the fourth line thereof, the words "or drive any animal."

The message was sent up, and on motion of Mr. Callahan of Ward 7 the ordinance was referred to the Committee on Public Grounds, when appointed.

CITY RECORD.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 13, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I have stated in my inaugural address the reasons for establishing a weekly publication, designated as THE CITY RECORD, as an official gazette of the executive departments of the city. The character of the publication is indicated by the two numbers already issued, which have been sent to members of the City Council. Believing it to be proper and desirable that this publication should be provided for by ordinance as an official gazette of the city, I now recommend the passage of the accompanying ordinance for the purpose, and I trust that it may be favorably acted upon as soon as possible.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

In the year One Thousand Eight Hundred and Ninety-Eight.

An ordinance establishing THE CITY RECORD. Be it ordained, etc., as follows:

Chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1897, being "An Ordinance to Amend the Revised Ordinances of 1892 by Providing for a Statistics Department," is hereby further amended by adding thereto a new section, to be numbered section 2, as follows:

"Section 2. Said Board shall publish, at least once a week, an official gazette of the city, to be designated as the THE CITY RECORD. Every department shall insert in said publication a copy of every advertisement or public notice issued by it, a summary of all proposals received in response to the same, and a statement of all awards of contracts; and said publication shall contain such record of official action, and such other matters of interest to the city, as said Board may from time to time, with the approval of the mayor, direct. Said Board shall cause said publication to be distributed regularly to the several departments, and to the press, as soon as published, and may provide for the sale to the public, by subscription or otherwise, of such number of copies thereof as it shall deem expedient."

The message was sent up, and the ordinance was laid over, under the rules.

SEWER LOAN.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF MAYOR.

City Hall, January 12, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Streets in reference to the need of authorizing at once an additional loan for sewerage purposes, under the provisions of Chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order for the purpose.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

OFFICE OF STREET DEPARTMENT.

City Hall, January 12, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Sir:—I respectfully request that the additional $500,000, which can be borrowed under Chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897, be made available. This would make the $1,000,000 for the year 1897 the full sum provided under this act.

The $500,000 borrowed last July will on February 1, 1898, be very nearly expended, and the $500,000 which it is now desired to borrow will finish what work the Sewer Division is carrying on at the present time, namely, $300,000 for Moon Island reservoirs, and the other $200,000 for the Tenean Brook and Rosemont-street sewers.

Respectfully submitted,

BENJ. W. WELLS, Supt. of Streets.

Ordered, that the Street Department be hereby authorized to expend the sum of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for the construction of sewerage works, under the provisions of Chapter 426 of the Acts of

of 1897; and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer issue, at his discretion, and sell either coupon bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston for the sum of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000); said bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness to be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer, Boston, thirty years from the date of the same, with interest thereon at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum, payable semi-annually.

The message was sent up, and the question came on the passage of the order. The order failed of passage (50 votes being required), yeas 37, nays 4.

Mr. Norris moved to reconsider, and that reconsideration be assigned to the next meeting. Carried.

DEFICITS IN LOANS.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 13, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I am notified by the Auditor that the following deficits exist in special loan appropriations, having been incurred in meeting executions of court, which the city was obliged to pay:

Blue Hill and other avenues . . .	$141,068 24
Essex and Lincoln streets . . .	62,697 46
Stony Brook	378 42
Gold street bridge	5,752 19
New Lunatic Hospital	10,941 21
Allston bridge	1,500 00

Total $222,337 52

The deficit in the appropriation for Blue Hill and other avenues has arisen from the fact that judgments for land taken have considerably exceeded the original estimates. The construction work under this appropriation has amounted to less than the estimates, but the item of land damages, which is of course always an uncertain one, has unfortunately largely exceeded the calculations made at the time the expenditure was authorized by the provisions of Chapter 334 of the Acts of 1895.

An appropriation of $260,500 was made for the widening of Essex and Lincoln streets in 1893. In this case, also, the land damages have proved to be considerably larger than estimated. In 1896 the original appropriation had already been exceeded by the amount of $16,000, and this deficit was provided for at that time. The last of the suits against the city has only been decided this year.

The deficit in the New Lunatic Hospital account has been incurred on account of a suit for extras, etc., outside of the contract, brought by the contractor, in which he recovered judgment against the city.

As these deficits all exist in loan accounts, and as there is no way of providing for them except by a new loan appropriation, it becomes essential, in closing the accounts for the financial year, that such an appropriation should be passed at once. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order, and I trust that nothing will prevent its early consideration and adoption. It would be most unfortunate to close the accounts of the financial year with a deficit on loan accounts unprovided for, and as there is ample borrowing capacity there is not the slightest excuse for so doing.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the City Treasurer issue, at his discretion, and sell, either coupon bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness of the city of Boston for the sum of two hundred and twenty-four thousand dollars ($224,000), said bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness to be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer, Boston, twenty years from the date of the same, with interest thereon at the rate of three and one-half per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually; and the proceeds of the said bonds are hereby appropriated for the following purposes:

Blue Hill and other avenues . . .	$142,000
Essex and Lincoln streets . . .	63,000
Stony Brook . . .	500
Gold-street bridge . . .	6,000
New Lunatic Hospital . . .	11,000
Allston bridge . . .	1,500
	$224,000

Ordered, That any premium obtained by the City Treasurer in the negotiation or sale of said bonds or certificates shall be paid to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking Funds, for the redemption of the debt hereby created.

The message was sent up, and the order was assigned to the next meeting.

USE OF SCHOOL-HOUSES FOR FREE LECTURES.

Mr. Anderson presented a petition, with order accompanying, from W. M. Davis and 57 others, asking for a committee of the Education Department of the Twentieth Century Club "to give aid as indicated below, in the establishment of an experimental series of 'Free Lectures for the People,' similar to the free lectures given for several years past in New York city, under the authority of the Board of Education of that city. The lectures in New York, given in the public school-rooms, have embraced a large variety of subjects and have been attended by a remarkable number of persons, nearly 427,000 in the season of 1896-97. The proposal to establish a series of similar lectures in Boston this winter and spring, under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Club, has met with hearty approval from a large number of representative citizens of Boston, to whom it has been submitted. We, therefore petition that we be allowed the use, free of expense, of six school-rooms, six evenings each, in such parts of the city as would be most accessible to the desired audiences — the working classes; further, that we be allowed to ask the teachers of these and neighboring schools to distribute to their scholars brief announcements of the lectures (as is done in the New York schools), thus bringing the lectures to the knowledge of the scholars' parents."

Placed on file.

On motion of Mr. Anderson, it was, under suspension of the rules,

BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS.

January 15, 1898.

At a meeting of the Board of Street Commissioners, held at their office on Wednesday, January 12, 1898, authority was given to open two private ways in West Roxbury,—one designated as Whittemore street, from Montview street to Crest street; and the other Dixwell street, for a distance of about three hundred and fifteen feet southwesterly, from Columbus avenue. Plans of these two ways were sent to the Mayor for his approval.

It was voted to abate sewer assessments to the estates of Sarah Bigelow, on Parsons street, at Brighton; and Henry J. Wright, on Comins terrace, at Roxbury.

On recommendation of the Law Department it was voted that the petition of Horace Jordan for damages occasioned his estate by the laying out of Talbot avenue be settled for the sum of $100 and costs.

An order of the Common Council was received requesting an estimate of the cost of widening and straightening Hancock street, Ward 20, to a uniform width of sixty feet, from Columbia road to Freeport street.

A petition was received from M. B. Keith and others requesting that the name of Fal-mouth street be changed to St. Stephen's street.

At a meeting of the Board on Thursday, January 13, 1898, it was voted to file the following Board of Survey plans: O-56, 68, 69 in Plat Eight, Dd-19 in Plat Twelve, and Cc-55, 66 in Plat Ten. These plans cover territory in the vicinity of Chestnut Hill Reservoir, Brighton; in Mattapan, at Dorchester, and in Germantown, at West Roxbury.

At a meeting of the Board on Friday, January 14, 1898, it was voted to suspend the collection of a sewer assessment of $54.23 to the estate of John F. Quinn on Harvard street.

Upon the request of the School Committee, contained in its order of December 28, 1897, the Commissioners took, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds their taking of, 20,200 square feet of land on School street, at West Roxbury, for an addition to the George Putnam School estate.

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS.

December 22, 1897.

BENJAMIN W. WELLS, Esq., Superintendent of Streets:

SIR: Referring to our interview of Saturday regarding Stony Brook, I am desired by the Board to urge upon you again the immediate construction of the tide-gates at the outlet of the new channel of Stony Brook, and the building of the drain from a point above the said gates to the old channel of the brook, near the gate-house, to prevent the stagnation of the water in the new channel which now exists and is a source of danger.

Our Superintendent also informs us that you have not yet begun the removal of sludge or silt or any offensive matter which has collected in the Fens at the outlets of the brook. The Board desires that immediate action be taken in this matter.

We also request that any unsanitary conditions arising from similar causes at the outlet of the covered channel of the brook at Beacon street be remedied.

We shall be pleased to aid you in every way to obtain the purification of Stony Brook. Until that happy result is reached, we must insist on the prevention of the passage of any offensive matter through the open channel in our park.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES E. STRATTON, Chairman.

December 23, 1897.

TO HIS HONOR THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL:

GENTLEMEN: The Board of Health has kindly sent this Board a copy of their letter to you of December 17, in regard to providing means for the purification of Stony Brook and the waters of the Back Bay Park.

This Board is much concerned at the unsanitary condition of these waters and has done everything in its power to remedy them. The real remedy lies with you and should not be longer delayed.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES E. STRATTON, Chairman.

CEMETERY DEPARTMENT.

City Hall, January 10, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: The following facts concerning the Cemetery Department of the city of Boston we believe to be of enough importance for insertion in THE CITY RECORD.

The old-burial grounds in Boston, which were placed under the control of this department early in the year 1897, require early attention in many ways, and call for the unavoidable expenditure of money. These burial-grounds are scattered throughout the city. From age and neglect the walls and fences enclosing many of the older cemeteries are now insecure and unsafe.

Early last autumn, one of the walls enclosing Copp's Hill burying-ground began to break away and was repaired, the cost of the repairs being met by a special appropriation made by the City Council. The appropriation, however, was insufficient to meet the cost of other necessary repairs to masonry in this cemetery.

Much the same condition exists in other of the burial-grounds, and money should be appropriated if the city desires to keep the enclosures protected. Particular attention is called to the condition of the burial-ground in East Boston.

The city's relation to the burial-grounds is in every instance peculiar. The city has the care and custody of the grounds, while private owners claim the lots. In answer to the criticism often made concerning the dilapidated condition of old tombs and old grave-stones, it may be said that the grave-stones and tombs are private property, and that this department has no right to expend city money on the repair of private property.

The old form of graves consisted of a trench, in which the casket was placed, planks were laid over it, and the earth put on the planking and graded. Because of the rotting away of the planking, the visitor to the older burial-grounds is in danger at any moment of breaking through and incurring injury.

Inasmuch as paths have been made and from time to time closed and then reopened again, in various portions of the cemeteries, it is impossible, owing to the displacement of headstones and markers, to say whether or not any particular spot in any cemetery is safe. For this reason, the Department has felt it necessary to keep the gates of many of the older cemeteries closed to visitors except on special application, when an explanation is given the visitor before entering the ground of the danger he is likely to encounter. During the past summer owing to this precaution no accidents of any moment have occurred.

Plans of some of the older cemeteries exist; but they are of little value, for the reason that they were not prepared till long after interments had begun in the cemeteries and that they have not been added to or corrected since they were originally prepared. In some instances, the proprietors of graves and tombs are known, and their names recorded in this office; but the owners of the greater number of the graves and tombs are unknown.

In many instances, the tomb-doors, originally of wood, have rotted away and fallen in and the city has been obliged to seal them up. The older headstones are of slate and time and weather have obliterated the lettering upon them. It would be well to have some of these stones recut because of their historical interest, but this cannot properly be done without authority from the City Council and a special appropriation for the purpose.

The Board has felt for some time that the burial-ground on the Common, and the King's Chapel and the Granary burial-grounds should be open daily to the public. But for reasons already stated it is not safe to open them, nor will it be safe until proper soundings have been made and proper paths laid out.

This Board recognizes the need of a record or catalogue of the various tombs, headstones and interments in the older cemeteries; accordingly it has collected much information. Such a record, however, cannot be accurate, as it is impossible to locate interments where headstones have disappeared. In the older days, it was a family custom to remove the coffin-plate, hence many of the caskets and tombs are without any mark to identify the remains which they cover. This record, incomplete as it is, in many ways, will give to the public everything that can be found out at the present day in relation to the older cemeteries.

Work on this record was begun early last summer, and is being pushed as fast as the funds of the department allow.

We have found that a surprisingly large per cent of visitors to the city are interested in the older cemeteries, and during the summer a great many applications were received and granted to visit them.

This Board is of the opinion that all of the older cemeteries should be enclosed by proper walls and iron fences, not only for the sake of appearances, but for the protection of the property. Relic hunters are the worst foes that we have to contend with, as they do not hesitate to deface property and break monuments. For this reason it has been deemed advisable to station someone in the burial-grounds when visitors are present.

For a great many years the old cemeteries of Boston have suffered from neglect, because the City Council has failed to appropriate enough money to keep the property in a decent condition.

The older burial-grounds of this city are the resting places of many of our illustrious dead. Visitors in times past have noted with wonder the neglect of these grounds.

This matter has been referred to publicly many times before, and this department is keenly alive to the need of immediately attending to it.

The Department makes no apology for its urgent call for the necessary funds to do this, and asks that the City Council consider the subject and do what should be done. The Department, as a department, can do nothing without an appropriation to carry out this much needed work. A very large sum will not be required, but it is hoped that whatever is requisite will be forthcoming.

J. ALBERT BRACKETT,
Chairman Cemetery Committee.

S. Clerke to box a tree on Montgomery street; and two permits granting leave respectively to Jacob Sperber and to Michael Sarfaty to maintain a stand for the sale of notions in front of the Old Court House.

All other orders and permits requiring approval, acted upon by the Board in the closing meetings, were duly approved. Petitions filed with the City Clerk for presentation to the Board of Aldermen of 1898, were not referred at the meeting of January 3, but will be assigned to the proper committees upon the organization of the Board.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

Jamaica Plain, January 12, 1898.

Following is an abstract of records of meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners, January 3, 1898:

Grading plans for the junctions of Peterboro' and Queensberry streets with Audubon Road and plans for Billings Field were received from the Landscape Architects.

Notification of concurrence on the part of the Brookline Park Commissioners in the filling of one of the small ponds in the vicinity of Ward's pond, was received and placed on file.

The Chairman stated that he had held a conference with the Superintendent of Streets regarding the Back Bay Fens, at which it was agreed that the Deputy Superintendent of Sewers should meet the Superintendent of Parks and Mr. Seth Perkins at the Fens, to consider the best means of removing the deposits at the outlets of the channels of Stony Brook and to estimate the expense of such removal.

The Superintendent reported that the funds for construction had so far diminished that, unless further appropriations were made, it would be necessary to suspend all work at the end of the present month. The matter was referred to the Chairman to confer with the Mayor, with a view of bringing the matter to the attention of the City Government.

GEORGE F. CLARKE, Secretary.

A meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners was held January 10, 1898.

The Superintendent submitted the following bids for the masonry and brick alterations at the Administration Building on the Riverway, to fit it for use as a stable:

C. H. Dodge, Boston	$389 00
Johnson Brothers, Boston	289 00
C. A. Dodge & Co., Boston	239 00
William K. Sawyer, Boston	155 00

It was voted that the Superintendent's acceptance of the lowest bid be approved.

The following recommendations of the Superintendent were approved: The excavation of all grass and planting spaces on Columbia Road to a depth of two feet six inches below finished grade, and refilling with good loam; widening under the surface of the excavation for loam on the planting space adjoining the street car reservation, and the space between curb and sidewalk, to ten feet; also that a loam space be provided for trees on the north side of the traffic road from Franklin Park to Dorchesterway, the trees to be planted and cared for by this department.

On the Superintendent's recommendation it was voted (1) that the Superintendent be authorized to secure the services of Dr. Austin Peters, veterinary surgeon, in selecting the horses to be used in maintenance; and (2) that the Superintendent be authorized to purchase four sprinkler wagons for maintenance service for use on Commonwealth avenue.

It was voted that the Superintendent reduce the working force so as to bring the expenses within the appropriation for maintenance, on the basis of the appropriation for the present fiscal year.

In answer to the request of the Board, a communication was received from the Superintendent of Streets regarding the removal of deposits in the Back Bay Fens, and recommending the securing of a special appropriation for the purpose. Mr. Pettigrew reported the results of his investigation of the matter, in company with a representative of the Street Department and Mr. Seth Perkins, and the conclusion they had arrived at, namely, that the material should be pumped through the conduit into the Charles river and removed thence by scows to the sea. The matter was laid over pending a report from the Street Department of the estimated cost of doing the work.

It was voted to accept, in accordance with recommendation of the City Engineer, the proposal of Hugh Farrell to finish work on N street sewer for $60, and to allow a bill of $70.50 for forty-seven barrels of Portland cement, used in place of American cement.

A communication from the Electrical Construction Division recommending a re-arrangement of the electric light service at Pine Bank House, at an estimated cost of $15 for changing the mains, was received and the Superintendent was authorized to order the work done.

An order of the Board of Aldermen requesting that a portion of Dorchester park, near Adams street, be flooded for skating; also sundry orders of the Common Council requesting that skating arrangements be made at the playgrounds at Charlestown and the North End were received. The Superintendent reported on the question of the expense of building a dam and flooding a small area of the North End beach for skating. Subsequently, a report on the subject of additional skating accommodations was made to the Mayor.

It was voted to pay to James Doonan the sum of $1,250, in addition to the amount due under his contract for grading at Arnold Arboretum, provided he signs a release of all claims, for damages or extra work caused by change of plans or by directions given by the Board or its agents, in the prosecution of the work satisfactory to the Corporation Counsel, and that the Chairman sign a request to the City Auditor for a special draft in favor of said payment; said amount to be charged to the appropriation for Public Parks.

GEO. F. CLARKE, Secretary.

ORGANIZATION OF THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

At a meeting of the Board of Aldermen, held January 25, Alderman Perlle A. Dyar was elected Chairman of the Board to serve till April 1, eleven votes being cast in his favor.

MESSAGES FROM THE MAYOR.

To Board of Aldermen.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 19, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I have thought it proper to call a special meeting of the Board for to-day, in order that it may make another effort to effect a permanent organization, as required by law, or that it may at least arrange to proceed in some manner with the transaction of city business. In view of the fact that important action must be taken by the Executive at the close of business to-day, in case no action is taken by the Board by that time, I have thought it only fair to fully inform the Board of the consequences of continued non-action on its part, and to let it fully understand the responsibility which will attach to its members.

I transmit herewith a communication addressed to me by the Superintendent of Streets, which explains itself. I sent a message to the City Council on January 12, calling attention to the necessity of passing an additional sewerage loan-order at once if work was to be continued. This loan-order failed to receive the required fifty votes in the Common Council, on account of the course taken by a considerable number of Councilmen in declining to vote upon the order. I am informed, and believe, that this action on their part was connected in some manner with the present deadlock in the Board of Aldermen upon the matter of choosing a Chairman. At any rate I think it proper to present this matter directly to the Board of Aldermen, and to place upon the Board the responsibility for an unnecessary stoppage of work and the discharge of some 900 men, if it neglects to take favorable action upon the accompanying loan-order, the immediate passage of which I again recommend. Work has been continued from day to day, in the hope that the Board would organize and proceed to transact business; but the limit has now been reached, and I am therefore obliged to inform you that if this order is not passed by the Board at its meeting to-day all of the men employed upon sewer construction work will receive notice at the end of the day that they are suspended, owing to the failure of the City Council to pass the required loan appropriation.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, January 17, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: I respectfully call your attention to the situation occasioned by the non-action of the City Council in the matter of approval of the loan for sewerage works authorized by the Legislature under Chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897. Under this act it was provided that the city might borrow one million dollars each year for the construction of sewerage works on authorization of the loan by the City Council. Five hundred thousand dollars was authorized by the City Council in July. I now find it necessary to suspend work in the Sewer Division pending the passage of an additional loan-order.

The following contracts in connection with the improvement of the main drainage must be provided for:

Additional reservoirs at Moon Island,	$300,000
Retaining wall	60,000
Improvement of machinery at the pumping station	75,000

To state the condition in brief, all work must cease at once unless the loan is authorized.

The following is a statement of the sewers under construction by the department-force, and the number of men employed:

City Proper — Canal-street relief sewer, Harrison-avenue sewer, Columbus-avenue sewer, Kneeland-street sewer, Ipswich-street sewer.

Dorchester — Columbia road, Tenean Brook, Rosemont street main sewer, Mascot-avenue sewer West Roxbury — Sherwood-street sewer, Perkins-street sewer, Proctor-street sewer, Goldsmith-brook sewer.

South Boston — B-street sewer, outlets Q and N streets.

East Boston — Metropolitan connections.

Charlestown — Metropolitan connections.

Brighton — Cambridge-street sewer, Washington-street sewer, Strathmore-road sewer, Commonwealth-avenue sewer.

The number of men employed upon sewer construction is 900. The construction of these sewers at the present time is very necessary, especially the sewers of the Columbia road, as contracts for grading and surfacing the road have already been let, and this work cannot be carried forward until sewers and all underground structures are placed.

If this $500,000 loan is not authorized at the present time it will mean a temporary suspension of the entire force, as well as making it impossible to do much necessary work which has been petitioned for and ordered by the Street Commissioners.

Yours very respectfully,

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

Ordered, That the Street Department be hereby authorized to expend the sum of five hundred thousand (500,000) dollars for the construction of sewerage works, under the provisions of Chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897; and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer issue, at his discretion, and sell either coupon bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness of the city of Boston for the sum of $500,000; said bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness to be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer, Boston, thirty years from the date of the same, with interest thereon at the rate of three and one-half per centum per annum, payable semi-annually.

At a meeting of the Board of Aldermen, held in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, January 25, Chairman Dyar in the chair, the following messages were received :

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 10, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I transmit herewith a communication from the State Board of Agriculture notifying the city that seven estates in the Charlestown district have been found to be infested with the Brown-tail moth. I trust that proper provision will be made for the suppression of this pest, as required by chapter 516 of the Acts of 1897.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

MASSACHUSETTS STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

State House, January 3, 1898.

TO THE MAYOR AND ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF BOSTON:

GENTLEMEN: In endeavoring to fulfil the duty of the Board of Agriculture as prescribed by Chapter 516 of the Acts of 1897, the Board has had a portion of your city inspected, and has found seven estates infested with the brown-tail moth, in the Charlestown District. I send you herewith a list of owners or managers with street and number of such estates. Where a number appears in the list with no name before it, it is a vacant lot, or the house was unoccupied, or the occupant could not be found. The Inspector gave written notice of the presence of the brown-tail moth on the premises to parties occupying the infested estates enumerated when the parties could be found, and also left with them a copy of a bulletin of information containing a copy of the law and directions for destroying the moth.

I have to inform you that this inspection has covered only a small part of your city because of lack of funds to pay the expense, the Legislature not having appropriated money for the purpose. From the observation of the inspector it is likely that other estates in the Charlestown district are infested, and that street trees are more or less infested.

I send you by express fifty bulletins giving copy of law and directions for destroying the moth. If more are needed they will be furnished on application to this office.

Respectfully,

WM. R. SESSIONS, Secretary.

DOCUMENTS FOR BOARD OF STATISTICS. —

The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 17, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

In order to enable the Board of Municipal Statistics to obtain the publications of other municipalities in this country and abroad, which would be of value in connection with its work, it is necessary that the Board should be able to offer in exchange sets of the annual reports of the executive departments. I therefore recommend the accompanying amendment of the ordinance in regard to the printing of such annual reports, providing 100 additional sets thereof for such purpose.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

An Ordinance relative to the Annual Reports of the Executive Departments. Be it ordained, etc., as follows:

Section two of Chapter twenty-eight of the Revised Ordinances of 1892 is hereby amended by striking out the words "eight hundred" in the second line of said section, and by inserting the words "nine hundred" in place thereof; and by inserting after the word "year," in the sixteenth line thereof, the words "shall deliver to the Board of Municipal Statistics 100 sets of said volumes."

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances, when appointed.

The following matters were also considered at the above meeting:

NOTICE OF ELECTION. — The clerk read the following:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

Boston, January 18, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF BOSTON:

In obedience to an order of the House of Representatives, I hereby notify you that, as a vacancy exists in District No. 11, in the County of Suffolk, caused by the resignation of Francis C. Lowell of Boston, late a member of this House, and a representative from said district.

Pursuant to the provisions of law, I hereby appoint Tuesday, the first day of March, 1898, as the time for holding an election in said district to fill said vacancy.

JOHN L. BATES,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Attest: JAMES W. KIMBALL, Clerk.

In connection with the above, Alderman Berwin offered the following:

Ordered, That the City Clerk be and is hereby directed to give notice, by advertising the same as required by law, that meetings of the citizens of Ward 11, qualified to vote for State officers, will be held at the several polling-places designated for the purpose by the Board of Election Commissioners, on Tuesday, the first day of March next, for the election of a representative in the General Court.

The polls at said meetings will be opened at 6 o'clock A.M. and closed at 4 o'clock P.M.

The communication was placed on file, and the order was passed.

SEWER LOAN.

Alderman Codman called up No. 42, a paper from the Common Council (See page 27, THE CITY RECORD), viz.:

Message from the Mayor, transmitting a communication from the Superintendent of Streets in reference to the need of authorizing at once an additional loan for sewer-purposes, and recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That the Street Department be hereby authorized to expend the sum of five hundred thousand (500,000) dollars for the construction of sewerage works under the provisions of Chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897; and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer issue, at his discretion, and sell either coupon bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston for the sum of five hundred thousand (500,000) dollars; said bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness to be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer, Boston, thirty years from the date of the same, with interest thereon at the rate of three and one-half per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

Passed in concurrence; yeas, 12; nays, 0.

APPOINTMENT BY THE MAYOR.—The following was received.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 19, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I hereby appoint, subject to your approval and confirmation, Charles E. Stratton, to be Superintendent of Public Grounds (to serve without pay), for the term ending April 30, 1898.

I make this nomination in view of the fact that, in my opinion, a substantial saving can be made in the cost of carrying on the Public Grounds Department by bringing it into relation with the work of the Park Department. Pending action by the City Council upon the recommendation made in my inaugural address for the passage of an ordinance formally consolidating the Public Grounds Department with the Park Department, I have thought it proper to make this nomination at the present time, in view of the necessity of making plans and arrangements before long for the work of the Public Grounds Department for the coming season.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Laid over, under the law.

SANITARY CONDITION OF FENS.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 19, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

The important subject of improving the sanitary condition of the Back Bay Fens has received of late much attention at the hands of the Park Commissioners, the City Engineer and the Superintendent of Streets. They are all agreed that the first thing to be done is to remove the existing deposit of silt and sewage in the Fens, which has accumulated in the course of years. The estimated cost of this work is between $20,000 and $25,000. As there is no appropriation available for the purpose, and as this work, which is only necessary to be done at considerable intervals, can properly be charged to a loan, I recommend the passage of the accompanying loan order for the purpose, and in view of the urgency of the matter I trust that speedy action may be taken by the City Council in order that a contract for doing this work may be awarded at once.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Superintendent of Streets be authorized to expend the sum of twenty-five thousand (25,000) dollars in removing the deposit of silt and sewage in the Back Bay Fens; and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer, at his discretion, issue and sell coupon bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness of the city of Boston to said amount; said bonds or registered certificates to be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer ten years from their date, and to bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, payable semi-annually at such times as said Treasurer shall determine.

Ordered, That any premium coming to the city in the negotiation or sale of said bonds or certificates be paid to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking Funds, for the redemption of the debt hereby created.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

SEWER DIVISION MAINTENANCE.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 25, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a letter from the Superintendent of Streets in regard to the amount required for the maintenance of the Sewer Division for the coming financial year. Under the provisions of Section 1 of Chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897, the City Council is required to appropriate such sums as the Mayor "shall deem sufficient for maintaining and operating the sewerage works," to be met by the annual charges provided for by said Act. In accordance with this provision, I hereby estimate that the sum of $350,000 is sufficient, and is required, for said purpose, and I therefore request the City Council to appropriate said amount to the Sewer Division of the Street Department for the financial year beginning on the first day of February next. The expenses of collection of income and other expenses to be incurred by the Board of Assessors and the Board of Street Commissioners cannot be accurately stated in advance, but I do not deem it sufficient to allow any less than the sum mentioned—particularly in view of the fact that the work of cleaning the sewers has been so much neglected in recent years, owing to the absence of a sufficient appropriation, that a considerable extra expenditure must be incurred during the coming year to get them into a properly cleaned condition.

I must further call the attention of the City Council to the fact that, under the statute referred to, the maintenance expenditures of the Sewer Division can be provided for only in this manner, and that the general authority of a department to incur expenditures equal to one-third of its appropriation for the last year, prior to the making of the appropriation for the current year, does not apply to this case. There seems to be no method, therefore, of paying any maintenance charges of the Sewer Division after February 1, unless an appropriation is made therefor, as herein recommended.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of three hundred and fifty thousand ($350,000) dollars be hereby appropriated to meet the expenses of maintaining and operating the sewerage works of the City of Boston, payable during the financial year 1898-9, beginning with the first day of February, 1898, and ending with the last day of January, 1899, the said appropriation to be met by the annual charges provided for by Chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897.

Referred to the Committee on Public Improvements, when appointed, on motion of Alderman Presho.

To Common Council.

At a regular meeting of the Common Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, January 20, 1898, at 7.45 o'clock P.M., President Connolly in the Chair, the following messages were received, and action taken, as noted, upon previous messages.

APPROVAL OF BUST.—The following was received:

ART COMMISSION.

Boston, January 13, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

GENTLEMEN: We, the undersigned, being a majority of the Art Commission for this city, respectfully inform you that we approve the placing in the Public Library of the marble bust of Franklin, by Richard Greenough, offered to the Trustees of the Library by Frank Woods, Esq., and a marble replica of the bust of Hiram Powers' statue of a Greek slave, both of which works have been submitted to us by the Trustees of the Library.

COMPLETION OF PARK SYSTEM.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 13, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I desire to call your attention to the fact that the loan appropriation outside of the debt limit for continuing the construction of the park system has been exhausted, so that it has been necessary to discontinue construction work and to suspend the force engaged upon it. I desire to call attention to the statement contained in my inaugural address as to the estimated cost of completing work upon the park system, and to ask the City Council to consider at once the desirability of authorizing a petition to the present Legislature for authority to issue an additional loan for this purpose. As the thirty-first day of January is the last day for presenting such petitions, it is necessary that prompt action should be taken by the City Council if it is thought best that construction work shall continue.

In case the City Council favors the continuance of such work, I desire to recommend an immediate loan appropriation of $50,000 to provide for keeping the construction force at work until such time as the proposed loan can be authorized by the Legislature. The Park Commissioners believe that it would be economical, as well as desirable from other standpoints, to continue construction-work practically without interruption, rather than to be obliged to disband for several months their present construction force.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That His Honor the Mayor be requested to petition the General Court, at its present session, for the passage of an act authorizing the issue, outside the debt-limit, of an additional loan, not exceeding one million dollars, for completion of construction work upon the park system.

Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners be authorized to expend the sum of fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars in construction-work upon the park system; and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer, at his discretion, issue and sell coupon bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount; said bonds or registered certificates to be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer thirty years from their date, and to bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per centum per annum, payable semi-annually at such times as said Treasurer shall determine.

Ordered, That any premium coming to the city in the negotiation or sale of said bonds or certificates be paid to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking Funds for the redemption of the debt hereby created.

The message was sent up. The first order was passed, and, on motion of Mr. Norris of Ward 13, the second order was assigned to 8.20 P.M.

Later in the session, Mr. Norris called up the order, which was passed—Yeas, 62; nays, 1.

REDUCTION OF POSTAL FACILITIES. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 20, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

In view of the threatened reduction in the post-office carrier-service in this city and of the importance to the business community and to all of our citizens of maintaining without impairment the present carrier delivery service, which has only recently been increased to supply deficiencies heretofore existing, it seems to me proper that I should call the attention of the City Council to this matter and suggest the desirability of passing a suitable resolution for transmission to Washington protesting against the proposed reduction. I am informed that it is the present plan of the Post-Office Department to suspend over seventy carriers in the Boston postal-district at an early date, and it does not seem to me that this curtailment of the postal service, in a city which makes such a large net contribution to the postal revenues as Boston does, should be submitted to without at least a vigorous protest.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The message was sent up.

In connection with the above, Mr. Norris of Ward 13 offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston earnestly protests against the proposed reduction in the force of post-office carriers in this city and consequent curtailment of the delivery service, as inflicting an unwarrantable inconvenience upon all our citizens, and particularly upon the business community.

Resolved, That if such diminution of the carrier-service can only be prevented by the passage of a deficiency appropriation to enable the services of the full number of the present carrier force to be retained, we call upon our senators and representatives in Congress to co-operate in securing the passage of such necessary appropriation.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the senators and representatives in Congress from this state, and to the Postmaster-General.

The resolution was unanimously passed.

REVISION OF SPECIAL STATUTES. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, January 17, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I called attention briefly in my inaugural address to the great desirability of having a proper revision or consolidation made of the large number of special laws relating to the city which have been passed since the last revision of the city charter in 1854. I now desire to recommend the passage of the accompanying order providing for the appointment of a commission to prepare such a revision. If the order is passed, I shall appoint upon the commission, in addition to the Corporation Counsel, one lawyer representing each of the great political parties.

I trust that this matter may be acted upon promptly, in order that the work of the commission may soon be entered upon.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That a commission of three members be constituted to draft, for submission to the Legislature, a revision or consolidation of all of the special acts relating to the city, such commission to consist of the Corporation Counsel, who shall serve without extra compensation, and of two other lawyers to be appointed by the Mayor; and the sum of ten thousand dollars is hereby authorized to be expended, out of the appropriation for the Law Department, to provide for the compensation of the two appointed members of such commission, and for the necessary expenses of preparing and printing such revision.

The message was sent up, and the order was passed. Sent up.

BATH DEPARTMENT.

Mr. Norris of Ward 13 called up No. 4 assignment (Mayor's Message, see CITY RECORD, p. 6), viz:

An ordinance to establish a department of baths. (City Document 42.)

The motion to assign further consideration of the ordinance to the next meeting was lost, and the ordinance was read a second time and passed.

Mr. Norris of Ward 13 moved to reconsider; lost. Sent up.

CONSTRUCTION OF SEWERAGE WORKS.

Mr. Borofsky of Ward 6 called up No. 6, assignment (see CITY RECORD, p. 27), viz:

INJUNCTION AGAINST THE CITY.

In the Superior Court, Judge Richardson, on January 25, rendered his decision in the case of Lynch & Woodward vs. the City of Boston et al., in an action of contract—Messrs. Bartlett & Anderson for the plaintiffs; Corporation Counsel Bailey for the defendants.

The court decides that the contract of the plaintiffs is still in force, and grants an injunction to allow the plaintiffs to complete the work under their contract free from any molestation of the defendants, who are restrained from hindering or interfering with them in the undertaking because they do not employ union labor.

The text of Judge Richardson's decision is given below:

"It is not necessary to accompany this decree with a statement of all the facts in the case. A few only are in dispute.

"It is admitted that the contract between the plaintiffs and the city was duly executed; that the plaintiffs duly began their work on the contract on or about November 1, 1897; that on November 4 they were ordered to suspend work for a time, and, again, on November 13, and, again, on January 8, 1898, the mayor caused a letter—signed by the architects, Peabody & Stearns, but proposed by him—to be sent to the plaintiffs, ordering them to discontinue all further work under the contract, and caused members of the police to forcibly exclude the plaintiffs from the building where their work was, and where their tools and materials were, thereby preventing them from finishing their work, which then was nearly completed.

"There was no evidence that at any time any of the materials furnished by the plaintiffs was not suitable, or that their work in any respect was unworkmanlike, or that they employed incompetent workmen, or that members of the labor-unions were more competent than the workmen whom the plaintiffs had, or that the work was not in all respects being properly done.

"On January 6, 1898, in a letter which the Mayor caused to be sent to the plaintiffs, after referring to a previous notice of November 13 to suspend their work, is the following notice:

"You are notified to proceed with all possible dispatch to complete your work under said contract, as if said notice of November 13 had not been given: but you are further notified that, if any non-union men are employed by you on such work, you will be again requested to immediately dismiss them under Article 3 of said contract, and that you will not be allowed to proceed to finish your work with non-union men.

"This notice is given you with the approval of the Mayor.

Yours respectfully,

PEABODY & STEARNS."

"At the hearing it was admitted that this letter also was prepared in the Mayor's office, and that the only part which the architects had in it was to sign it, at the Mayor's request.

"The provision in said Article 3, construed in view of the obvious purpose of it, and, with other parts of the contract, did not, in my opinion, give to the architects the power to arbitrarily order the plaintiffs to dismiss all their workmen, and thus to effectually end the contract, for no reason, or for the reason merely that they employed non-union men. The right reserved to the architects in that Article 3 was to be exercised only for causes or reasons which pertained to the fitness or qualifications of the workmen for the performance of their work.

"It is also to be noticed that in the final order of January 8, 1898, ordering the plaintiffs to 'discontinue all further work under their contract,' no reference is made to Article 3, or to the power which the architects have under it; but this final order states (so far as it states any reason) another and very different reason for it, which alleged reason was not a good or sufficient reason for that order.

"But the Mayor, at the hearing, said that he did not rely on the breach of any stipulation in the written contract for his right to take the work away from the plaintiffs, but upon an oral promise of Mr. Lynch to him that he would employ union men only. Such a promise, if made, had, in my opinion, no validity, and, if it was given and not kept, the plaintiffs' failure to keep it was, upon the evidence, more the fault of the defendants than the plaintiffs.

"The plaintiffs employed only citizens of Boston, and they tried to employ union men, and would probably have succeeded in doing so, and in complying with their agreement to give 'preference' to them, but for a conspiracy to prevent it, as they then stated in their letter to the architects of January 11. The contract contains no forfeiture clause by which anybody could abrogate or annul the whole contract for a failure to conform to any provision in it; but, in fact, no such failure was shown.

"No complaint has been made of the conduct of the plaintiffs on that work in any respect except this, that they did not employ members of the labor unions, and it was finally admitted at the hearing, and proof of the fact was clear, that the only reason that the Mayor ever had for his several orders suspending the plaintiffs' work, and then, at last, wholly depriving them of it, was that they did not employ members of the labor unions. To accomplish this was the declared purpose of the said labor unions, members of which were frequently at the Mayor's office about it from the time when the work was begun, urging him to force the plaintiffs to comply with their wishes in this respect; and they were also at the place where this work for the city was being done, bringing such influences and pressure to bear upon the plaintiffs' employees as they could. The Mayor also admits that he had virtually promised the labor unions that, unless the plaintiffs' employed members of these unions, he would deprive them of this contract.

"In this purpose and effort to compel the plaintiffs to dismiss their men and employ only members of the unions, against their will, the other defendants participated, though, as to some of them, I ought perhaps to say that their part in it may have been an unwilling one.

"This interference by the members of the labor unions with the plaintiffs' work, to force the plaintiffs to employ union men only by the means above stated and by the use of the police to exclude the plaintiffs from the building, in which their contract work was to be done, was an unlawful interference with the plaintiffs' rights, and if permitted and continued would, in the language of the Supreme Court in the discussion of a similar question, 'tend to establish a tyranny of irresponsible persons over labor and mechanical business which would be extremely injurious to both.'

"There is no authority in law for any officer of the government, state or municipal, to force such a discrimination as was attempted in this case between workmen in respect to the privilege of labor on public work paid for by taxes levied upon all, for no reason except that some workmen belong to a certain party, society, or class, and others do not; thus giving labor, and the benefit of it, to one class, and denying it to another, regardless of their rights, needs, qualifications or merits, or the public welfare.

"Such discrimination, in the employment of labor, is not in accord with our ideas of equal rights, and seems not to be consistent with an impartial administering of public business; and any agreement that such discrimination shall be made is contrary to public policy, and is, in my opinion, void.

"The Constitution of Massachusetts declares that 'no man nor corporation nor association of men has any other title to obtain advantages or particular and exclusive privileges distinct from those of the community than what arises from the consideration of service rendered to the public.'

"Also that 'government is instituted for the common good—not for the profit, honor or private interest of any one man, family or class of men.'

"In a recent case, Vegetahn vs. Guntner, 167 Mass., p. 97, the Supreme Judicial Court (speaking of the interference of members of trades unions with the plaintiffs in that case in the carrying on of their business) say 'such an act (referring to an act of intimidation) is an unlawful interference with the rights both of employer and of employed.' An employer has a right to engage all persons who are willing to work for him at such prices as may be mutually agreed upon; and persons employed or seeking employment have a corresponding right to enter into or remain in the employment of any person or corporation willing to employ them. No one can lawfully interfere by force or intimidation to prevent employers, or persons employed, or wishing to be employed, from the exercise of these rights. In Massachusetts, as in some other states, it is even made a criminal offence for one by intimidation or force to prevent or seek to prevent a person entering into or continuing in the employment of a person or a corporation.

"Public Statutes, Chapter 74, Section 2: 'Intimidation is not limited to threats of violence or of physical injury to person or property. It has a broader significance, and there also may be a moral intimidation which is illegal.' The criminal offence referred to is in Section 2, Chapter 508, of the Acts of 1894, and is as follows: 'No person shall by intimidation or force prevent or seek to prevent a person from entering into or continuing in the employment of any person or corporation.' The penalty is a fine of $100. The right of every man to labor, and to the benefit of his labor, according to his ability, opportunity and desire, should not be abridged. The corresponding right of an employer to procure labor suitable for his business, subject only to such general laws as the health, safety, morality and welfare of the community may require, should be allowed. These rights of both parties are necessary. And both are under the protection of the law. The existence and value of industrial freedom require that it should be so.

"It has been urged on behalf of the defendants that if an injury had been done to the plaintiffs, the court should leave them to a suit at law for damages—presumably against the city—as the Mayor in his letter to the plaintiffs of January 10, 1898, says: 'So far as my action is concerned, I am willing that the city should come to as fair and amicable agreement with you as possible in the premises for any damages you may have sustained through the change in the contract.' The only change in the contract, and the thing referred to, was the wholly depriving the plaintiffs of the opportunity to finish their contract work by his previous order of January 8. But I am unable to see why the city should pay the damages for the injury done to the plaintiff in this matter, not caused or done in or for the interests of the city. It is doubtful if an action at law for damages against the defendants, other than the city's adequate compensation to the plaintiffs, could be made. And this case is of a class of cases in which Courts of Equity will give relief, when perhaps they would not if the same cause was wholly between private parties. There are cases where persons, under the color of public office, may be restrained from acts amounting to official oppression, when in other cases, for the same acts, between private persons, they would not.

"An established authority on this subject says:

"And it may be stated, as a general rule, that where public officers, under color and claim of right, are proceeding to impair either public or private rights, or where their proceedings will result in serious injury to private citizens, without any corresponding benefit to the public, or where the aid of equity is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of suits, an injunction will be allowed.'

"The Mayor, in extenuation of his action in the matter, said at the hearing that he was 'very strongly urged' by committees of labor unions to it, and he was in fear of a strike unless he agreed to it. But he knew, presumably, that for the prevention of such intermeddling in the business of the city the power of the court was ample and the precedents numerous.

"The said contract between the plaintiffs and the city has not been terminated; it is still in force. Justice to the contractors, the maintenance of the principles above stated, and the interests of the city, require that the plaintiffs be allowed to finish their said contract-work, free from molestation or interference by any persons for any cause or reason shown at the hearing; but, under this complaint, an injunction can issue only against the defendants named in it. A writ of injunction may issue to the defendants restraining them, and each of them, their agents and servants, from preventing or hindering the plaintiffs in the performance of their said contract work described in the bill for the cause or reason that the plaintiffs do not employ members of the labor unions."

DEAR SIR: The enclosed schedule of classification of expenditures is finally submitted for use in grouping the Institution Departments' accounts, beginning with the next fiscal year, February 1, 1898. It differs from that originally presented in the following points:

1. No. 7, "Medical and surgical supplies," is changed to medical supplies (including surgical); and sub-headings (a) liquors, and (b) other supplies, are added.

2. No. 10 is changed to agricultural—(farm, garden, live stock, stable and grounds.)

3. No. 11 is changed to industries—(machinery, tools, and supplies used in industrial department.)

4. Under No. 12, a new sub-classification is introduced, viz. (d), library supplies.

5. No. 17 is changed from "soap" to laundry supplies: (a) soap; (b) other supplies.

It will be observed that, under certain items, parentheses have been introduced simply for purposes of explanation. It is proposed to provide a detailed list of articles as an index of classification, if the departments desire. WIRE DEPARTMENT.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF WIRES.

Old Court House,

December 29, 1897.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: Replying to your Circular No. 29, addressed to the heads of departments, I respectfully submit the following suggestions in connection with the work and wants of my department.

The work for which this department was primarily created by an act of the Legislature viz., to remove all electric wires (with the exception of the trolley, guard and span wires of the electric street-railroads and the wires of long-distance telephone companies) from the streets and place them underground, will be completed with the close of the year 1899, the time prescribed by the Act of 1894, unless the Legislature shall extend the limits of the underground district. The only work then left for this department will be to supervise such extensions and additions to mains and feeders as the natural increase of the electrical business may require, and the innumerable service connections that will be made necessary by the greatly increased use of electricity which must follow the improvements that are bound to come in the transmission of electrical energy.

Should it be deemed best to extend the limits of the underground district, I think it would not be well to confine the underground system in future within any prescribed lines. Charlestown, South Boston, Roxbury and Dorchester each has a large number of poles and overhead wires. It would be much better to leave the application of an underground act to the judgment of the Mayor, the Board of Aldermen, or the Commissioner of Wires, than to extend the limits as many suggest.

During the current year a thorough inspection of the poles, wires and fixtures in all sections of the city has been inaugurated, which will result in a much-needed improvement in the condition of the same.

It may be necessary in the strict performance of my duties to make many changes in existing lines in the near future for the better protection of the public.

The present method of granting locations for poles and wires throughout the city is in no sense satisfactory or safe. Such locations cannot be properly considered or granted by viewing them as indicated on a map; the ground should be gone over carefully by someone thoroughly conversant with the difficulties to be overcome in the erection of poles and the stringing of different systems of wires. Many of the existing lines are positively dangerous; and contribute directly or indirectly, every year to the death of one or more persons and the destruction of property. I therefore suggest that all applications for the erection of poles and wires be referred to this Department before being acted on by the Board of Aldermen.

Since the organization of this Department a certain number of its employees have responded to all second alarms of fire in order to remove wires that are an obstruction, and to render harmless such as are dangerous to firemen in the performance of their duties. These men, instead of being notified directly by the tapper-circuit, on which first alarms are sent out, are notified indirectly by means of the tower-bell circuits; they must wait until the tappers have done working and the bells tolled out the box number; consequently they do not reach the fire as promptly as they should, to be of real service to the Fire Department at critical times. In spite of all I may do or say, nothing is done to connect these men directly with the tapper-circuits. The excuse given, that it would introduce an extra amount of resistance into the circuit and require an additional amount of energy, seems worse than frivolous when so much energy is now actually thrown away.

When a fire occurs, which the fire department thinks was caused in any way by electricity, this department is notified in the daytime at the office, and at night through the chief inspector of the overhead and interior divisions. These men cannot communicate with one another quickly, as the officer of the Fire Department gives his message to the operator at fire-alarm headquarters; he in turn repeats it to one of the two men mentioned; and the same operation has to be gone through when these men wish to communicate with each other. For sixteen hours out of every twenty-four the public and myself are practically cut off from this department. I would earnestly recommend that a sufficient number of telephones be provided so that the public and myself can quickly communicate with certain employees of this Department, who are capable of rendering invaluable service in emergencies.

The retention of electric wires on roofs and walls of buildings has necessitated the introduction of some very objectionable devices and methods which should not be tolerated. One of the worst of them is the "stand-pipe," through which cables, carrying electric currents of various kinds from the underground service, pass to roofs and other portions of buildings. Under the law, I have very little control over them; did I have the power I would not permit their use except in extreme cases where they could do no harm. I have tried to convince the electric companies of the dangers of this practice, and, as a result, one of the largest companies is now co-operating with me by abandoning to a great extent this method of reaching its customers.

The supervision of overhead-wires and those within the walls of buildings was made compulsory on the part of all cities in the Commonwealth by the Act of 1890, and an inspection department was organized for that purpose in 1891, and maintained until this department was organized in 1894, when the powers and duties of the Inspector of Wires were devolved upon the Commissioner of Wires.

At least ninety per cent of the wires used for electrical purposes are placed in hollow partitions, in the space between floors and ceilings, or in iron conduits, where they cannot be examined for the purpose of determining their condition, after they have once been put in place and covered up.

The material that is depended on to secure insulation is fragile and perishable, and its failure is only a question of time. Again, the active competition in the electrical business has tempted the manufacturers of insulated wire to lower the grade, making it still more dangerous to life and property.

It is therefore necessary that the men selected for the supervision of interior wires and fixtures should possess more than ordinary intelligence, and have special training in order to perform successfully the duties required of them. The number of men in this division is inadequate to properly supervise the electrical wires and appliances that are now being installed, and I would earnestly recommend the addition of three or four competent men as soon as possible.

The presence of gas in the electrical conduits and manholes is becoming a very serious matter, explosions of illuminating gas in the same being alarmingly frequent. Under existing conditions a ready means of igniting gas, without human agency, is ever present in the electrical subways. Only yesterday a heavy manhole cover was thrown into the air some thirty or forty feet, and in its descent broke the cross-arm on a telegraph pole near by. Fortunately this did not occur in a crowded thoroughfare, or in the busy part of the day. As such events are liable to happen at any time and in just such places, with results too painful to contemplate, some steps must soon be taken to prevent the escape of gas into such receptacles.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS W. FLOOD,
Commissioner of Wires.

BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS.

Boston, January 24, 1898.

At a meeting of the Board of Street Commissioners, January 17, 1898, a petition was received from S. and D. W. Farquhar that a sewer may be laid in Mt. Washington avenue, between Fort Point Channel and Granite street. Two orders were received from the Common Council, one requesting the Board to furnish an estimate of the cost of the proposed widening of Boston street, from Mt. Vernon street to Everett square, Ward 16; and the other requesting an estimate of the cost of laying-out, grading, and constructing the roadway of the Old Colony Railroad, from West Seventh street to Mt. Vernon street, and the grading, construction, and extension of all intersecting streets in conformity with the aforesaid highway, substantially as shown on a plan prepared by the City Engineer, dated June 28, 1897.

On January 18, 1898, the Board voted to suspend the collection of a sewer assessment on the estate of Maria Quirollo, on Saratoga street, at East Boston, until such time as connection is made with the sewer for which the assessment is levied; and to abate in full the sewer assessment of $22.05 on the estate of Edward Harrington, on Bunker Hill street, at Charlestown. Leave to withdraw was given on the petition of the heirs of Andrew J. Peters, for abatement of a sewer assessment on their estate on Hyde Park avenue; and on the petition of Charles A. Wellington, for abatement of sewer assessment on his estate on Fowler street, at Dorchester.

A public hearing was given Wednesday, January 19, 1898, in accordance with the order of notice of this Board of January 5, 1898, in the matter of laying out of Arundel street, at West Roxbury, from Walter street to Selwyn street, as a highway, with the name of Arizona street, and constructing the same. A number of the abutters were present at the hearing, and objected to having the street laid out under the act mentioned in the order of the notice, as that act required the assessment of the cost of the street on the abutting owners.

A petition was received from Ellen L. Miller and others, requesting a hearing in the matter of widening School street, at Dorchester; and a communication from Winifred J. Rogers, concerning the line of Snowhill street.

On January 20, 1898, public hearings were given on orders of notice issued by the Board January 5, 1898, in the following matters: The construction of a sewer in Middleton avenue, at Dorchester, from Norfolk street, and in private lands to, and in, Willowood street, and the taking of lands for said purpose; the right to lay and maintain a sewer in land belonging to the New England Railroad Company, at Dorchester, between Faxon street and land of Charles H. Greenwood, and the taking of land for that purpose; the locating of a new channel for Tenean Creek, or Smelt Brook, at Dorchester, from Ashmont street to Lonsdale street, and the taking of land for that purpose; and the locating of a new channel for Tenean Creek, or Smelt Brook, at Dorchester, between King street and Dorchester avenue.

A petition was received from Fred Davies, that a sewer may be laid in Hardwick street, at Brighton, between Bigelow street and Dunboy street.

On January 21, 1898, the Board received a petition from Edward M. Skinner and others, that Green street, at West Roxbury, may be widened to 50 feet, and extended eastwardly over Glen road to Franklin park, and westwardly over Myrtle street to Jamaica Plain.

An order of notice was issued of the Board's intention to construct a sewer in private land, at Roxbury, from Columbus avenue to Notre Dame street, and in Notre Dame street, and to take land for said purpose.

The Board gave a hearing Saturday, January 22, 1898, in the matter of the petition of E. L. Miller and others, concerning their "remonstrance against the erection of a building now in the course of construction, situated at the corner of School and Washington streets, Dorchester." The Board was asked to take action to prevent the erection of this building, as it would block up the entrance of School street into Washington street. School street has been located at a width of 50 feet, on a filed plan of the Board of Survey, and the Board could only prevent the erection of the building by ordering the street laid out at that width. Under the Board of Survey act, the cost of a street is assessed upon the owners, and when the petitioners were informed of this fact, they were divided as to whether they were willing or not to have the street laid out.

Authority was given to open the private way at Dorchester, designated as Wave avenue, leading, for a distance of about 145 feet, northwestwardly, from Savin Hill avenue. The plan was sent to the Mayor for his approval.

Orders were received from the Common Council, requesting an estimate of the cost of widening Pine street, at Charlestown, to a width of 30 feet; and an estimate of the cost of extending Conant place to Smith street.

J. H. JENKINS, Secretary.

Boston, January 26, 1898.

On January 25, 1898, public hearings were given by the Board in the matter of laying out Whitten street as a highway, at Dorchester, from King street to Centre street; and the location of a new channel for the Oakland Garden Fork of the Canterbury Branch of Stony brook.

An order was received from the Common Council requesting the Board to furnish an estimate of the cost of extending Dighton place through to Chestnut Hill avenue, at Brighton.

Authority was given to lay out the private ways, at West Roxbury, designated as Argyle street, leading, northeastwardly, in continuation of another private way known as Argyle street, opening from Cornwall street to Baker court; and Marmion street, leading northeastwardly, in continuation of another private way known as Marmion street, opening from Cornwall street, for a distance of about four hundred and thirty-seven feet. Plans of these ways were sent to the Mayor for his approval.

The Board also passed an order laying out Astor street, from Parker street, to Massachusetts avenue, which was sent to the Mayor for his approval.

J. H. JENKINS, Secretary.

Said Board shall meet in the months of January and February of each year as often as it shall deem necessary, and shall give reasonable public hearings to the citizens or taxpayers of said city desiring to be heard on any maintenance or loan appropriation; after the first day of March of each year said Board shall meet only when required by notice from the Mayor in writing.

Sect. 2. The Mayor, as early as practicable in the month of January, shall submit to said Board, with his recommendations thereon, the department estimates furnished as required by Section eight of Chapter two hundred and sixty-six of the Acts of the year eighteen hundred and eighty-five; and said Board, by the affirmative vote and signatures of at least five of its members, including the Mayor, shall, prior to the first day of February, prepare and pass a general maintenance appropriation order, containing appropriations to enable the City of Boston to meet the current expenses, payable during the financial year beginning with said day, of performing the duties and exercising the powers devolved by statute or ordinance, or by vote of the City Council during the year, upon the City of Boston or the County of Suffolk, or the departments or officers thereof.

Sect. 3. The Mayor, as early as practicable in the months of January or February, shall submit to such Board, with any recommendations which he may desire to make thereon, any requests for loan appropriations furnished to him by the several departments; and said Board, by vote and signatures as aforesaid, shall, prior to the first day of March, prepare and pass a general loan appropriation order, containing such appropriations to be met by loan, and for such purposes, as said Board shall deem the public necessity or convenience may require, not exceeding in the aggregate four-fifths of the estimated amount which can be raised in that municipal year by loans within the debt limit of said city; but such loan appropriation order shall not be passed unless at least five of the members of said Board, including the Mayor, shall in writing certify upon such order that no item therein is to meet a current expense, or that certain specified items therein and no others are to meet current expenses, but that public necessity requires the borrowing of money therefor.

Sect. 4. Said Board, by similar vote and signatures, and certificate in the case of a loan order, may at any time during the year, at the request of the Mayor, prepare and pass one or more appropriation orders containing such appropriations as they may deem the public necessity or convenience may require.

Sect. 5. Said Board in making appropriations to be met by income and taxes shall not exceed the amount that can be raised by taxation within the tax limit of said city, as certified to the Mayor by the Board of Sinking Funds Commissioners, plus the income of the city, as estimated and certified to the Mayor by the City Auditor of said city; and in making appropriations to be met by loans authorized by the Legislature for specific purposes, shall not exceed the amount that can be raised under such loans, and in making appropriations to be met by other loans, shall not exceed the amount that can be raised by loan within the debt limit of said city.

Sect. 6. The Mayor shall, within three days after any such appropriation order has been passed as aforesaid, submit the same to the City Council of said city, and the City Council shall forthwith proceed carefully to consider and investigate the same, and may, within the period of thirty days following such submission, pass a vote or votes reducing or striking out any appropriation therein, except an appropriation the amount of which is fixed by law, or an appropriation for interest and sinking fund requirements, but shall not pass any other vote relating to any appropriation, or insert any new appropriation, and any such vote of reduction or striking out shall be subject to the veto of the Mayor, and to passage over his veto as provided by law; at the expiration of said period of thirty days the orders with the appropriations therein as passed by said Board, or as altered in accordance with the preceding provisions, shall stand and be in force as appropriation orders of said city.

Sect. 7. The City Auditor of said city, with the approval of said Board, acting by vote and signatures of a majority of its members, and of the Mayor, may from time to time during the year make—transfers from the appropriation for current expenses of one division of a department to the appropriation for current expenses of any other division of the same department, and—transfers from the general treasury or from the appropriation for reserved fund to the appropriation for current expenses of any department, and—may, to balance and close the accounts of the city for the financial year, between December first of each year and February first of the following year, make transfers from any appropriation not met by loan to any other appropriation, or from any appropriation met by loan to any other appropriation met by loan, and apply any of the income and taxes not disposed of.

Sect. 8. The respective departments of said city, under the general supervision and control of the Mayor, and the other public officers designated therefor in the several appropriations made as aforesaid, or having by law authority to expend the same, shall expend the appropriations for the objects and purposes specified, and shall expend for the objects and purposes directed by the several contributors thereof any contributions made to any of said appropriations.

Sect. 9. Whenever the Legislature may desire to authorize the issue of any loans by said city, or whenever the City Council of said city shall desire to raise money by loan, the Legislature or City Council may pass an act or vote authorizing the City Treasurer of said city to issue bonds to the amount, and for the purpose, it shall state in the act or vote, and the City Treasurer from time to time, at the request of the Mayor, shall issue any notes, bonds, certificates or other scrip of said city which he or said city have heretofore been authorized to issue by the Legislature, or by the City Council, or which he shall hereafter be authorized to issue by the Legislature, or by the City Council; and such notes, bonds, certificates and scrip shall consist of such coupon or registered bonds or registered certificates, and bear such rates of interest, and the interest shall be payable at such times, as said Treasurer in his discretion shall determine, anything in any general or special act to the contrary notwithstanding; and the term of all such notes, bonds or certificates of indebtedness, not exceeding any length of term fixed by general law or special act, shall be fixed by vote of said Board of Estimate and Apportionment as aforesaid; and any premiums received by said city in the negotiation or sale of any such bonds or certificates shall be paid into the sinking funds for the redemption of the debt incurred by the issuing of such bonds or certificates, anything in any general or special act to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sect. 10. This act shall take effect upon its passage; and if at the time of such passage the general maintenance appropriation order for the current year shall not have been passed by the City Council of said city and have gone into effect, said Board shall proceed to prepare and pass such appropriation order as soon as may be, and the proceedings thereon required by this act shall then be had.

SCHOOL BOARDS AND SCHOOL TAXES.

BY EDWARD M. HARTWELL, SECRETARY
BOARD OF STATISTICS.

In view of the discussion that is likely to arise over the powers proposed to be given, through new legislation, to the Boston School Committee, more than ordinary interest attaches to the laws relating to the organization of similar boards in other cities, particularly in cities whose Boards of Education are empowered to levy school taxes directly and independently.

What follows relates: (I.) to the power exercised by the school boards of certain American cities over the assessment of taxes for educational purposes, and incidentally to some peculiarities as regards the members and organization of such boards; (II.) to the annual expenditures by the Boston School Committee during the period 1887-88 to 1896-97, and the proportion the same bears to the total assessed valuation of the city for the respective years; and (III.) to the comparative expenditure per capita for schools, libraries, police, etc., in the principal cities of the country.

The statements of fact under (I.) are based upon the Report of the United States Commissioner of Education, 1895-96, Volume 1, Chapter 1, "Laws Relating to City School Boards"; those under (II.) are derived from the annual reports of the City Auditor; and those under (III.) are taken from the Valedictory Address of Mayor Matthews, delivered January 5, 1895.

I. In regard to the number of members of the Board, there is not nor can there be any uniform rule. It is sometimes held that there should be some relation between the size of the city and size of the board, but whether this is necessary depends wholly on the extent to which executive powers are confided to paid subordinates, who are supposed to be trained experts in their particular lines. The New York Board controls the schools of over a million and a half of people, yet it numbers only 21 members, while Pittsburg, with a population of about a quarter of a million, has 37 members in a central board and 222 in local boards. There are 7 members of the Minneapolis Board, while Hartford, with only a third as many inhabitants, has 39 school visitors and committeemen. Such contrasts are numerous.

The best criterion of the power of a school board is the degree of independence in money matters. If they must prepare detailed estimates that may be refused as a whole or in any item by some other body, their functions are so restricted as to be almost entirely ministerial. They cannot introduce any novelty or provide for any extensions without the concurrence of the authority which holds the purse strings. This is usually the state of affairs, and as tending to conservatism and economy it has its advantages when a board develops an inclination to foster expensive fads. But that can seldom be charged; it more often happens that the board is deprived of funds urgently required to provide for the actual needs of the children in the way of buildings and teachers.

The powers of the Western cities in this respect are usually much more extensive than those of the East. St. Louis, Denver and Minneapolis are types of cities whose school boards enjoy the right to levy whatever tax they require without submitting their estimates to any other body. The maximum that may be levied is, however, always limited by State law.

In certain cities the members of the school board are appointed; the number appointed and the source of appointment are indicated in the following list: In New York, the Mayor appoints the board, which numbers 21; in Chicago, a board of 21 is appointed by the Mayor, with the approval of the City Council; in Philadelphia, the Central Board of Education, numbering 37, are appointed by the Court of Common Pleas, while 37 Boards of Directors of sections or wards (each numbering 13) are elected by the people; in Baltimore, the City Council elects a Board of Commissioners, 22 in number; New Orleans has a board of 20, of whom 8 are appointed by the Governor of the State, and 12 are elected by the City Council; in Milwaukee, the Aldermen of the several wards appoint a board of 36 members, subject to confirmation by the City Council; the School Board of St. Paul, Minn., consists of 7 members, appointed by the Mayor.

In the cities of Philadelphia, Buffalo, St. Paul, New Orleans, Detroit and Savannah, the principal school revenues are derived from appropriations by the City Council, while in New York they are derived from appropriations by the City Board of Estimate and Apportionment. In Milwaukee the school board determines the tax to be levied for school purposes, subject to abatement or increase by a two-thirds vote of the City Council.

In Hartford, Conn., the town tax for school purposes is laid in town meeting, and the district tax for school purposes is laid in district meeting.

In the following-named cities the Boards of Education are empowered to determine or levy the amount of taxes to be devoted to school purposes, provided the amount of taxes so levied does not exceed certain limits prescribed by State law: Cincinnati and Cleveland, O.; Denver, Col.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Minneapolis, Minn., and St. Louis, Mo. In Pittsburg, Penn., the Central Board of Education determines the taxes for the pay of teachers, while the local boards of school directors levy taxes for the purchase of ground, erection of buildings, etc.

The maximum amount of tax permitted by law for school purposes varies in the above-named cities, e. g., in Cincinnati and St. Louis it amounts to 50 cents on $100 of assessed valuation, in Cleveland to 70 cents on $100, in Indianapolis to 55 cents on $100, and in Minneapolis to 40 cents on $100. In Charleston, S. C., the City Treasurer must annually levy and collect, at the same time as the city taxes, a tax of 1 mill on the dollar of all taxable property in the city; and the County Treasurer must pay over to the City Treasurer the portion of the State school taxes to which Charleston is entitled—all of said taxes are deposited in the city treasury, subject to the warrant of the Board of School Commissioners.

II. — The following tabular statement shows the tax-rate necessary to meet school expenditures during the past ten years. This tax-rate is stated in dollars per thousand or mills per dollar upon the total assessed valuation for the respective years. See also Table II. on page 56.

III. "The expenditures of the City of Boston for many years past have probably been greater than those of any other large city in the country. As early as the year 1849, Mayor Bigelow publicly asserted this fact, and in 1850 repeated the statement, saying that he had reason to believe that there was no other city in the world the affairs of which, in proportion to its size, were administered at so great an expense as ours." Mayor Gaston, in 1871, called attention to the fact that the Federal census of 1870 showed that the people of Boston paid larger taxes per capita than those of any other large city in the country. Mayor Prince, in 1879, expressed an opinion to the same effect; and according to the Federal census of 1890 Boston led all the large cities of this country in her per capita expenditures for schools, libraries, fire protection, street lighting and works of charity; while the expenditure for police was greater in one other city only." The exact figures are given in the table on page 56, compiled from Census Bulletin No. 82. (See Table III, page 56.)

MESSAGES FROM THE MAYOR.

To the Board of Aldermen.

Boston, January 27, 1898.

An adjourned regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, at 3 o'clock P.M., Chairman Dyar presiding, and all the members present.

REWARDS FOR BRAVERY.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 25, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Board of Police, which explains itself. In accordance with its recommendation, I suggest the passage of the accompanying order.

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF POLICE,

January 26, 1898.

TO THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL:

SIRS: We respectfully ask your concurrence in giving to such officers of the Police Department as have received medals from the Board of Police twenty-five (25) dollars a year during the time that they continue in the service, and afterwards while they are retired on their pensions.

Four years ago the Board of Police inaugurated the custom of giving medals to their officers for meritorious conduct or for conspicuous bravery. In that time we have given ten medals, and feel assured that the public recognition of their brave acts tends to raise the standard of the men. We intend that the high standard shall be maintained by a careful and discriminating selection of the most deserving.

The men who have thus been rewarded are as follows:

John D. McCarthy, who risked his life in arresting Richard Mack. The latter had attempted to commit murder with a revolver.

Deputy Superintendent William H. Pierce, for meritorious service in prosecuting and breaking up lottery enterprises, policy shops, and pool rooms.

Wesley W. Chandler, bravery shown while attempting to make an arrest.

George A. Rohrer, for saving life at the burning of a dwelling-house.

William J. Murphy, since deceased, for saving life at the burning of a dwelling-house.

John J. Smith, for saving life from drowning.

William H. Gordon, for stopping a pair of runaway horses.

Henry C. Berry, stopping a runaway horse.

Amasa E. Augusta, stopping a pair of runaway horses.

Peter A. Hayes, stopping a runaway four-horse team.

We believe that the respect felt by the men for the recipient of a medal will not be lessened because it is accompanied by a small sum of money, but that the prize will be more sought after, and that the city will be amply repaid by a keener spirit of emulation among the officers.

Yours very truly,

A. P. MARTIN, Chairman.

Ordered, That the Board of Police be authorized to increase the pay of any officer of the Police Department who has received a medal for conspicuous bravery by the sum of twenty-five dollars per annum.

FLOODING FOR SKATING PURPOSES. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS,

Jamaica Park, January 12, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

DEAR SIR: With regard to the order of the Board of Aldermen, requesting that Dorchester Park, near Adams street, be flooded and put in condition for skating during the present season, and requests from the Common Council, and other sources, for similar action at the North End and in Charlestown, the Park Commissioners report that much to their regret they are unable to furnish further accommodations for skating out of their existing appropriation.

They will be very glad to provide those accommodations if they are furnished with additional funds for the purpose. Experience has shown that the cost of providing a small skating space for a season is between $800 and $1000.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES E. STRATTON, Chairman.

LOAN TO MEET COURT EXECUTIONS. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 27, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

In view of the near approach of the end of the financial year, I again renew the recommendation contained in my message of January 13, for a loan appropriation of two hundred and twenty-four thousand (224,000) dollars, to make up the deficit in various loan accounts which have to be provided for, and I respectfully urge the immediate consideration of the accompanying order for this purpose.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

(For the order, see CITY RECORD, page 28.)

Referred to the Committee on Public Improvements, when appointed.

NEW REFORMATORY. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 27, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I think it proper to call attention again to the reference made in my recent inaugural address to the urgent need of providing an appropriation for the building of a new Suffolk County Reformatory, under the provisions of Chapter 536 of the Acts of the year 1896. I sent a recommendation to the City Council of 1896 that an appropriation for this purpose should be made, but no action was taken upon the matter.

I think it proper to notify the City Council that, in view of the urgency of this matter, I shall feel it my duty to petition the Legislature, at its present session, for such an amendment of said Act as will compel in some manner the building of such a reformatory, unless an appropriation for the purpose is made very shortly by the City Council.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

WIDENING OF BOSTON STREET. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 27, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

The width of Boston street, between Mount Vernon street and Edward Everett square, is at present only a little over forty-five feet, while the width of this street, between Mount Vernon street and Andrew square, is sixty feet. The widening of Boston street, between Edward Everett square and Franklin Park, to the width of 110 feet, under the name of "Columbia road," makes it clearly desirable that the portion of Boston street now only about forty-five feet in width should be widened to the width of sixty feet. The Street Commissioners have prepared a plan establishing the new lines, and estimate the expense for land damages at the sum of $20,000.

One or more applications for permits to build on the portion of Boston street, now only 45 feet in width, have been made, and as the Street Commissioners have no authority to prevent building upon the land which it is proposed to take for the purpose of the widening until they lay out the street at the new width, and as they cannot do this until an appropriation is available to pay land damages, it is very desirable that such an appropriation should be passed at once, in order that it may not become necessary for the city to pay damages for the destruction of such new buildings as may at any time be erected. I therefore recommend the speedy passage of the accompanying loan order.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Street Commissioners be authorized to expend the sum of twenty thousand (20,000) dollars in widening Boston street, between Mount Vernon street and Edward Everett square; and that to meet the appropriation aforesaid the City Treasurer issue and sell, as may be required, either coupon bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness of the city of Boston for the sum of twenty thousand (20,000) dollars, said bonds or certificates to be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer of the city of Boston twenty years from the date of the same, and bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of January and July of each year.

Ordered, That any premiums obtained in the negotiation or sale of said bonds or certificates be paid to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking Funds, for the redemption of the debt hereby created.

Referred to the Committee on Public Improvements.

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, at 3 o'clock P.M., Monday, January 31, Chairman Dyar presiding, and all the members present.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

(b.) As the portion between Tileston and Charter streets is paved with asphalt, under guarantee, it is not included in this estimate.

Respectfully submitted,

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

PLANT FOR CREMATING WASTE.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 31, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Streets relative to the desirability of erecting a suitable plant for the separation and cremation of combustible waste. I have recently inspected personally a plant of this character now in operation in the city of New York, and I am convinced that it would be highly desirable to establish a similar plant here. I therefore earnestly recommend the passage of the accompanying loan order.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, January 29, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: After investigation and study of the subject of the disposition of refuse material and ashes, I have come to the conclusion that it is very desirable that some plan be adopted for a different method of disposal from the one now in force. At the present time, all ashes and combustible waste are either carted to the dumping-scows and thence carried to sea, or are deposited on low lands. At the dumping wharf the large mass of waste paper and other light stuff makes a continual nuisance, and on the low lands it not only makes the filling very poor, but, as it is necessary to fire it, a very disagreeable smoke and odor is the result. For the sum of $15,000 a plant could be erected that would burn the entire light waste collection of a very large district, and by the operation of such a system as has been for some time in use in New York such material as is of value could be separated and sold. From this source there would be some income; and by reason of the reduced length of haul, there would also be added a substantial saving in the cost of the disposal of this class of material; and, furthermore, the ashes, clear of any mixture of paper and refuse, would make a clean and desirable filling; so that, besides the abatement of what is now a great nuisance, the saving in expense would soon, I believe, pay for the outlay of the modest sum required.

In one section of the city some time ago, in order to prepare for some such plan as the one I now suggest for your approval, householders were ordered to make a separation of their ashes and light waste, and have in most cases complied with the order.

Under this plan, if adopted, the large vans would be used for the removal of the light stuff, and the ordinary carts, without sideboards, for the heavy ashes.

I trust that it may be possible to secure a suitable appropriation at an early date.

Yours very respectfully,

BENJ. W. WELLS, Supt. of Streets.

Ordered, That the Superintendent of Streets be authorized to expend the sum of fifteen thousand (15,000) dollars for the erection of a suitable plant for the separation and cremation of combustible waste; and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer, at his discretion, issue and sell coupon bonds or registered certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount, said bonds or registered certificates to be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer, Boston, ten years from their date, and to bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per centum per annum, payable semi-annually at such times as said treasurer shall determine.

Ordered, That any premium coming to the city in the negotiation or sale of said bonds or certificates be paid to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking Funds for the redemption of the debt hereby created.

To Common Council.

Thursday, January 27, 1898.

The regular meeting of the Common Council was held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 7.45 o'clock P.M. President Connolly in the chair.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, January 26, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In accordance with the request contained in inclosed order of the Common Council, I beg to submit the following estimates of cost of paving with granite blocks and regulating streets:

*Ruggles street, N.Y., N.H. & H. R.R.

Respectfully submitted,

BENJ. W. WELLS, Supt. of Streets.

*The above estimate from Ruggles street is for a 50-foot street only, and does not include land damages or other expenses of proposed widening of 10 feet on the south-erly side.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

At a special meeting of the Common Council, held at 12 M., Saturday, January 29, President Connolly in the Chair and a quorum present, the following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 28, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

You are hereby requested to assemble in the Council Chamber, City Hall, on Saturday, January 29, 1898, at 12 M., for the purpose of again considering the passage of the order, already passed by the Board of Aldermen, authorizing loans to the amount of $224,000 to provide for certain deficits in loan accounts, caused by the payment of executions of court, before the close of the financial year.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The call was placed on file.

(For order see CITY RECORD, page 28.)

The following communication was also received and read by the Clerk:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, January 29, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I have thought it proper to call a special meeting of the Common Council, in order that one more effort may be made to secure the passage by your body of the order authorizing the issue of loans to the amount of $224,000, to provide for deficits incurred by executions of court, and thus avoid closing the financial year with a deficiency in loan accounts unprovided for. The Board of Aldermen has performed its duty by passing this order, and I am entirely unable to understand why any member of the Common Council should decline to join in passing an order which is clearly necessary and proper. As I have heretofore fully explained, these deficits have been incurred in meeting executions of court, $142,000 of the amount being incurred for land damages on Blue Hill and other avenues.

These expenditures are in no way connected with the administration of the last two years, and it will in no way embarrass the present administration if they are left unprovided for and carried into the next financial year, as the money has actually been paid out of treasury, as required by law. The financial officers of the city are, however, properly anxious that the accounts of the next financial year should not show, entirely unnecessarily, a deficit of this magnitude in loan accounts, and it is purely in order that the financial business of the city may be conducted in a business-like manner that I have asked to have these amounts provided for before the close of the financial year.

It is certainly not creditable to any members of the Common Council that they should decline to vote for a necessary appropriation of this character, and should compel the financial officers of the city to carry a deficit into the next financial year. I trust that further consideration of the matter will lead the Common Council to perform its plain duty at the present time, and that it will not make itself solely responsible (now that the Board of Aldermen has taken the proper action) for carrying over a deficit.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Placed on file.

The question came on motion to reconsider the vote whereby the Council had non-concurred in the passage of the order referred to in the message.

On motion of Mr. Norris of Ward 13 the reconsideration was further assigned to the next meeting of the Council.

The following letter has been sent by the Park Commissioners to the Trustees of the Westminster Chambers Trust, Boston:

Jamaica Park, January 29, 1898.

MESSRS. HENRY BIGELOW WILLIAMS AND BABSON S. LADD, Trustees of the Westminster Chambers Trust:

SIRS: The attention of the Board has been called to the fact that you have had plans drawn for a building at the corner of Trinity place and St. James avenue, more than 70 feet in height.

The Board desires to call your attention to Chapter 313 of the Acts of 1896 as amended by Chapter 379 of the Acts of 1897 and to the fact that St. James avenue is a way bordering upon a public park, to wit, Trinity Triangle, which was taken by the Board for park purposes; and the Board therefore thinks it proper before the Trustees of Westminster Chambers proceed to any further erection of his building that they be notified that elevation above 70 feet would be in violation of law.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed) CHARLES E. STRATTON,
Chairman.

Mrs. Fifield read the following report:

Soon after the Henry L. Pierce School-house in Dorchester was built, Hon. Henry L. Pierce presented to the school two portraits of distinguished men, Gen. Knox and Daniel Webster, whose names had been identified with the site on which the building stood. Subsequently, at the request of the committee having charge of the school, he promised to present a portrait of himself. It was his intention, as expressed not long before his death, to give a copy of the portrait painted by Louis Bonnat in Paris in 1895, which has recently been placed in the Museum of Fine Arts in this city.

To carry out this purpose a few of the family and friends of Mr. Pierce have employed Mr. Jacob Wagner to copy the painting by Bonnat. This has been done in a highly satisfactory manner, and the portrait, suitably framed, was presented to the Henry L. Pierce School on Tuesday, February 8, 1898. The presentation was made by Mr. Charles Sumner Pierce, and the gift accepted by the Chairman of the Division Committee.

Accepted.

Upon motion of Mrs. Fifield, it was Ordered, That the gift be recorded in the proceedings of the Board, and the thanks of the School Committee for this valuable portrait be extended to Mr. Edward L. Pierce and family, and to Messrs. Howland, Bugbee, Gallagher, Delano and Brooks of the Walter Baker Company.

The Chair announced, to fill the vacancies on the Committee on School-houses, the appointment of Mr. Strange as Chairman and Mr. Bassett as member.

Confirmed.

Mr. Paul for the Committee on Evening Schools offered the following:

Ordered, That the Committee on Evening Schools be authorized to extend for two weeks the terms of such of the Evening Schools as in their judgment will be profitable, and that schools so extended close their year on Friday evening, March 25, 1898.

Passed under a suspension of the rules.

Mr. Allen for the Committee on High Schools moved, and it was Ordered, That the Committee on High Schools be authorized to take such steps as may be necessary to secure the use of the South Armory on Irvington street, as a drill hall for the cadets of the English High and Latin Schools, at an annual expense not to exceed three hundred and fifty (350) dollars for heating and janitor service.

Passed under a suspension of the rules.

THE MAYHEW SCHOOL-HOUSE.

The Mayhew School-house has recently been completed, and is ready for occupancy. It is for children of the primary grade. It cost $106,000, and is situated at the junction of Chambers and Poplar streets, in Ward 8.

PLAN OF FIRST FLOOR, MAYHEW SCHOOL.

As may be seen from the following description and cuts, showing its elevation and the plan of its first story, the building belongs to the new era of school architecture, and but faintly resembles the "little red school-house" of the ancient regime.

In planning the Mayhew School the architect has especially sought to secure: (1), quiet, in order that the exercises of the school may not be disturbed by the noise of the streets; accordingly, the class-rooms have been placed in the rear or yard side of the building, and the corridors upon the front or street sides; (2), ample light and the largest possible amount of sunlight in each room by facing all the class-rooms to the east, south or west; (3), the best attainable results in heating and ventilation; (4), perfection of installation for sanitary purposes which is in this building unusually elaborate and complete; (5), ample provision for ingress and egress, and safety in the use thereof; the building has eight exits, all of fire-proof construction; (6), thoroughness of construction and perfection of workmanship and finish, equal to that of private work.

The building covers 8,667 square feet of land, and has a frontage of 187 feet on Chambers and Poplar streets, and a depth in the outer wings of forty-seven feet and ten inches, with a triangular loggia or porch, of four arches, at the junction of the streets, and two octagonal fire-escape towers, one at each end. The style of architecture is that of the French transitional, more familiarly known as Francis I. The loggia is of the Corinthian type, and is elaborately carved with representations of the animal and vegetable kingdoms, and the capitals are sculptured with little boys and girls holding books.

The exterior is faced with a mottled, reddish gray Croton brick, and trimmed with Berea gray sandstone and terra-cotta of the same color. The structure includes twelve class-rooms, four in each of the three stories, each 26 feet 4 inches by 32 feet 10 inches, and two large class-rooms in the fourth or roof story, each 32 feet 10 inches by 38 feet 4 inches, or fourteen class-rooms in all, with a capacity of 786 scholars.

The corridors are 11 feet wide, and, as will be seen by reference to the plan, are intersected at the centre by the main staircase hall, 27 feet by 40 feet. The staircase hall is of fire-proof construction, brickwork and concrete, and the stairs are of monolithic concrete construction. The staircase halls are wainscoted in olive marble throughout, from basement to fourth story inclusive; and the floors are finished with terrazzo pavement. The corridor in the first story is finished in groined vaulting, supported by foliated Gothic corbels. Back of the staircase, in the first story, is a passage leading to the rear yard, with a teachers' wardrobe at the left and toilet-rooms at the right; over these are teachers' studies in the second and fourth stories, and boys' and girls' toilet-rooms in the third story, off the stair-landings.

The walls of halls and corridors are tinted in a subdued Pompeian red, with a frieze of warm green, and ceilings of pale yellow; the walls and ceilings of all school-rooms being tinted in soft, warm colors.

All division walls throughout the building are of solid brickwork, as are all heating and ventilating flues.

The wardrobes are of the open-screen type, enclosed by an architectural framework, filled with heavy iron screens, finished in antique green bronze, and the clothing of the scholars is hung from hooks in projecting shelves, and not upon the walls. Each wardrobe is provided with copper-lined rubber and umbrella racks.

The basement is divided (by the main stairs and boiler-room) into boys' and girls' parts, with separate stairs and corridors. Adjacent to the play-rooms are the sanitariums; which are fitted with individual water-closets and provided with automatic flushing devices. The urinals are fitted with standing slabs of thick glass, and specially designed foot-slabs, and are flushed by hot water—glass being used instead of marble or slate because of its non-absorbent quality, and the facility with which it can be kept absolutely clean.

All of the plumbing installations are of the very best quality and workmanship and of the "open fit" sort; all metal fixtures, piping, etc., are of brass and iron, nickel-plated, and all cold water supply-pipes are block-tin lined. Special care has been given to secure separate ventilation of sanitary rooms and fixtures. The boiler-room is located in the centre, under the stair-case hall, and the main-heating coil chamber is back of the boiler-room. The boiler-room contains two boilers of 100 horse-power; two fans of a tested capacity, each of 44,000 cubic feet of air per minute, which are run by a 10 horse-power armor clad (C. & C.) electric motor. The provisions for heating consist of main and supplementary coils, with a capacity of over 6,000 feet of one-inch pipe, besides the direct and indirect heating of basement, sanitariums, corridors, vent shafts, etc. The building has a fresh-air shaft for taking in air above the roof, and there is also a specially designed "water spray" curtain for the elimination of all dust from fresh-air supply to the class rooms. All air for class-room supply, after being heated by the main coil, passes through the water spray, — the spray being supplied with hot water for winter use and cold water for the warmer seasons of the year.

The heating is automatically controlled throughout by the Powers' system of temperature control, and the temperature of each class-room is registered upon a dial in the boiler-room.

The building is wired for electric lighting, and the gas-piping has been installed after a specially designed system, to ensure equality of pressure and balance throughout, and at the several burners.

The systems of plumbing, heating, ventilation, electric work and gas piping were designed by the architect, Mr. John Lyman Faxon.

The contractors were Mead Mason & Co., for the general work; I. N. Tucker, for plumbing; A. A. Sanborn, for heating; C. W. Richards & Co., for electric work; John McLaughlin, for gas-fitting; Norcross Bros., for stone-work, and John Evans & Co. executed the carving.

The interior finish is of rock elm in the corridors, and Oregon cedar in the class-rooms.

Messages from the Mayor.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, Monday, February 7, at 3 o'clock, P.M., Chairman Dyar presiding, and all the members present.

Death of Firemen.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 7, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

It is my painful duty to inform you that six members of the Fire Department, namely, Assistant-Chief John F. Egan, Capt. James H. Victory, Lieut. George J. Gottwald and Firemen Patrick H. Disken, John J. Mulhern and William J. Welch, met their death by the collapse of a portion of one of the floors of the building 116-126 Merrimac street, in which a serious fire occurred early on Saturday morning last. This large loss of life shocked the community, and has aroused general sympathy for the families of the members of the Fire Department who were killed in the discharge of their duty, and this sympathy is already finding expression in substantial contributions from the public to a fund for the benefit of these families. While I do not desire to discourage in any way private contributions for this worthy object, it seems to me proper that the City itself should make some proper provision within the limits allowed by law for this purpose.

Under the provisions of Section 2 of Chapter 107 of the Acts of 1880, the city may "if any member of the Fire Department shall die from injuries received while in the discharge of his duties, and shall leave a widow, or, if no widow, any child or children under the age of sixteen years," pay annually, by way of annuity to such widow, so long as she remains unmarried, or to any such child or children, so long as they continue under the age of sixteen years, a sum to be fixed by the Fire Commissioner, but not exceeding $300; but apparently under the provisions of Chapter 258 of the Acts of 1874, the total payments under this authority cannot exceed $3,000 in any one year, and as four pensions of $300 are already so paid, the sum still available annually for this purpose is $1,800. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order, making the provision thus allowed for the families of the deceased firemen.

Under the provisions of Chapter 401 of the Acts of 1893, the sum of $1,000 is paid by the Commonwealth to the executor or administrator of any fireman of any city or town killed in the discharge of his duty "for the use of his widow and minor children, one-half to each, or if there are minor children, but no widow, to the use of such children, or if there are no minor children, to the use of the widow, or if there are no widow or minor children, to the use of the next of kin, if dependent on such deceased fireman for support." Furthermore, I am informed by the Fire Commissioner that the family of each fireman killed will receive from the assessment levied by the Boston Firemen's Mutual Relief Association about $1,800. The Firemen's Relief Fund, of which the Mayor and Fire Commissioner are the trustees, also contributes $100 in each case for funeral expenses, and comparatively small payments can also be made from time to time from this fund for the families of deceased firemen. I think it proper to state these facts in order that the public may be informed of the provision made for affording relief in cases of this character, other than by private subscription.

I have directed the Building Commissioner to make a thorough inquiry into the history of the building and the probable causes of this deplorable accident, and to report his conclusions to me as soon as possible. It should be stated at once, however, that the Building Inspector who supervised the the repairs made on this building, after the fire which burned a portion of the roof in 1893, positively denies the statement which has been made through the press that any of the floor timbers were even charred at that time.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, that the Fire Commissioner be authorized, under the provisions of Chapter 107 of the Acts of 1880, to pay, by way of annuity, a sum not exceeding $300 annually, out of the appropriation for the Fire Department, to the widow of any member of the Fire Department killed in the discharge of his duty at 116-126 Merrimac street on February 5, so long as she remains unmarried, or, if such member left no widow, to any child or children under the age of sixteen years, left by such members, so long as he or they continue under the age of sixteen years; provided, that the total amount of such annuities shall not in any one year exceed the limit of $3,000 fixed by Chapter 258 of the Acts of 1873.

The order was referred to the Committee on Public Improvements. The Committee reported that the order should be passed.

Report accepted, communication ordered sent down, and order passed and sent down.

Boxing of Tree — Veto. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 7, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I return herewith without my approval an order granting permission to Walter Lougee to construct a box around a tree in Shaw square, opposite his place of business, for the reason that permission cannot legally be given to place a sign around a tree.

I assume that the purpose in boxing the tree is to furnish a support for a sign, as it would not be necessary to get permission from your Board if it was intended to simply place a suitable guard around the tree for its protection.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The board voted to reconsider the vote whereby the permit was granted, and the message and order were referred to the Committee on Public Improvements, on motion of Alderman Berwin.

Erection of Post — Veto. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 7, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I return herewith without my approval an order authorizing the Superintendent of Streets to issue a permit to William H. Seaver "to erect, maintain and use a wooden or metal post, about eight feet in height and about three inches in diameter, surmounted by a representation of a Yale lock key, in the sidewalk in front of estate 260 West Newton street, Ward 10," for the reason that the said order is illegal.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The Board voted to reconsider the vote whereby permission was granted, and the question came on granting permission, the Mayor's objections to the contrary, notwithstanding.

The Board refused to grant permission over the Mayor's veto, the vote being yeas, 3; nays, 8, Aldermen Dyar, Lott and Paige voting nay.

Information Regarding Fire-boat. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 4, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Fire Commissioner in reply to your order requesting information "as to the present condition of the remodeled fire-boat, and when it is expected that it will be placed in commission."

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

OFFICE OF FIRE COMMISSIONER,

Bristol street, January 31, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Sir: Replying to the request of the Honorable Board of Aldermen for report as to the present condition of remodeled Fire-boat 31, I would respectfully report that, as at present arranged she might be serviceable in responding to nine out of ten alarms, but, in my opinion, does not possess sufficient speed and activity to warrant her being put in service without further improvement, and I enclose a copy of letter received to-day from Mr. Brooks, which, I think, explains the whole matter.

Your obedient servant,

H. S. RUSSELL, Commissioner.

January 31, 1898.

COL. H. S. RUSSELL, Fire Commissioner.

Sir: Replying to your inquiry of January 26, asking what steps have been taken to insure the completion of Engine 31 (fire-boat) at the expiration of the three (3) months' extension, granted by yourself, I have to report that I am negotiating with three different builders, and expect this week to complete a contract for new engines, which will give to the boat necessary additional speed and handling quality, which, in your opinion, she does not at present possess.

Yours truly,

L. M. BROOKS.

Referred to the Committee on Public Improvements, on motion of Alderman Conry.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL.

At a regular meeting of the Common Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 7.45 o'clock P.M., Thursday, February 3, President Connolly in the chair.

Bath-House and Gymnasium, Ward 3. —

The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 3, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Board of Park Commissioners in reply to your order, requesting an estimate of the cost of establishing and maintaining an all-the-year-round bath-house and gymnasium in connection with the playground in Ward 3.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS,

Jamaica Park, January 28, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In reply to the order of the Common Council, requesting this Board to report an estimate of the cost of establishing and maintaining an all-the-year-round bath-house and gymnasium, in connection with the playground in Ward 3, we respectfully report that the cost of such an establishment would be approximately $33,500.

With reference to the general question our Superintendent reports that a building of the size necessary to provide an all-the-year-round bath-house and gymnasium at Mystic playground would materially curtail the usefulness of the playground for small boys and girls, as the space left would be too small and confined for such a purpose. It is located in a district lacking in open spaces for children, and it would seem a pity to divert it from its original purpose.

If the Harbor Commission could be induced to move the bulkhead line further out on the flats below Charlestown Heights, provisions could there be made for out and in-door bathing, also for athletic work, all the year round, and still leave ground enough for a good-sized playground.

At Charlestown playground also there is room for such an institution, excepting that out-door bathing probably could not be arranged for, the retaining walls having been built at the dock line, unless the Harbor Commissioners would permit of a bench extension beyond the dock lines, or that sufficient land was sacrificed within the dock line for the purpose.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES E. STRATTON, Chairman.

Referred to the Committee on Park Department, when appointed.

Fire Company, Ward 24. — The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 3, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Fire Commissioner in reply to your order requesting an estimate of the cost of establishing and maintaining a fire engine company near the corner of Milton avenue and Norfolk street, Ward 24.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

FIRE COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE,

Bristol Street, January 31, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: Replying to the request of the Honorable Common Council for the cost of establishing and maintaining a fire engine company with apparatus near the corner of Milton avenue and Norfolk street, Ward 24. I would respectfully report that independently of the land, of which I am unable to report the price, it would cost about $43,000 to build a house, furnish it with apparatus and supply it with men for one year.

Your obedient servant,

H. S. RUSSELL, Commissioner.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

Extension of Dighton Place.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: The Board of Street Commissioners respectfully report upon the order of the Common Council of January 20, 1898, of which a copy accompanies this communication, that in their opinion an extension of Dighton Place, to Chestnut Hill avenue, Ward 25, would require an appropriation of twelve thousand (12,000) dollars.

By order of the Board of Street Commissioners.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

Hancock Street Widening.—The following was received:

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

opinion, the widening and straightening of Hancock street, Ward 20, to a uniform width of 60 feet from Columbia road to Freeport street, would require an appropriation of thirty thousand (30,000) dollars.

Sect. 5. The President, the six Aldermen at Large, and the twelve District Aldermen shall constitute the Board of Aldermen of the City of Boston. The term of each of the members of the Board of Aldermen shall begin with the first Monday of January next following his election, and on that day the members-elect shall meet and be sworn as now provided by law.

Sect. 6. A political party entitled to make nominations to be placed on the official election ballot may make nominations for President of the Board of Aldermen, Aldermen at Large, and District Aldermen, to be placed on such ballot, only by direct plurality vote, at party caucuses held in the several districts; nominations for President of the Board of Aldermen, or for aldermen at large, to be placed on the official caucus ballot for such caucuses, may be made only by nomination papers bearing the signatures of at least one registered voter for every two hundred votes cast for Mayor at the next preceding election of a Mayor, and filed with the Board of Election Commissioners, as now required by law to be filed with the City Committee of the political party, instead of with such committee; nominations for District Aldermen to be placed on such caucus ballot may be made only by nomination papers bearing the signatures of at least fifty registered voters in the district, filed with the Board of Election Commissioners, as aforesaid; nominations for Aldermen at Large to be placed on such caucus ballot shall not specify for what term the

No person shall sign caucus nomination papers for more candidates than there are nominations to be made.

Sect. 7. Nominations by nomination papers for President of the Board of Aldermen, and Aldermen at Large, to be placed on the official election ballot, may be made only by such papers bearing the signatures of at least one registered voter for every one hundred votes cast for Mayor at the next preceding election of a Mayor, the nomination papers of Aldermen at Large specifying the terms for which the respective candidates are nominated; nominations by nomination papers for District Aldermen, to be placed on the official election ballot, may be so made only by such papers bearing the signatures of at least one hundred registered voters of the district. No person shall sign nomination papers for more candidates than there are offices to be filled.

Sect. 8. The Board of Election Commissioners shall have the same powers, and perform the same duties, in relation to counting, tabulating and determining the votes cast at the several caucuses, as they have in relation to votes cast in the several precincts at elections, and all provisions of law relating to caucus and election nomination papers, nominations and caucuses, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, shall apply to nomination papers, nominations and caucuses, for the offices hereby created.

The salary of the President of the Board of Aldermen, to be paid in monthly payments, shall be $3,000 per annum, or such smaller salary as the City Council shall by ordinance determine; but no change of such salary shall take effect during the year in which the change is made. Each of the other members of the Board of Aldermen shall be paid, in monthly payments, a salary of $1,200 per annum, and such further sum, not exceeding $25 in any one month, as any such member shall certify has been incurred and paid by him as expenses in the performance of his official duties. No money shall be paid out of the city treasury for expenses of the Board of Aldermen, or of any committee thereof, or for the compensation or expenses of any member thereof, except as provided in this section.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. The inhabitants of the City of Boston qualified to vote for its School Committee shall, at the annual municipal election occurring in the year 1898, elect nine persons, inhabitants of the city, to constitute, with three inhabitants of the city appointed by the Mayor thereof, the School Board of said city, the members of which shall serve without compensation; the three persons voted for who shall have received the largest number of votes shall hold their office for three years; the three persons who shall have received the next largest number of votes shall hold their office for two years, and the three persons who shall have received the next largest number of votes shall hold their office for one year. In case two or more persons voted for shall have received an equal number of votes, those who are the seniors by age shall for the division into classes hereby required be classified as if they had received the largest number of votes in the order of ages. The three members appointed by the Mayor shall be appointed by him within the week preceding the second Monday of January, 1899, for one, two and three years respectively. Thereafter, the voters qualified as aforesaid shall annually elect three persons, inhabitants of the city, to serve as members of the School Board for the term of three years, and the Mayor of the city shall appoint one person annually, within the week preceding the second Monday in January, to serve as a member of the School Board for three years.

Sect. 2. Certificates of election shall be issued by the Board of Election Commissioners to such and to so many of the members of said School Board as appear to have been chosen at such election, and certificates of appointment shall be issued by the Mayor to those whom he has appointed; but said School Board shall be the final judge of the qualifications and elections of its own members.

Sect. 3. The persons so elected and appointed as members of the School Board shall meet and organize on the second Monday in January, 1899, and annually thereafter. The unexpired term of office of all members and officers of the School Committee as hitherto organized and established shall terminate immediately upon the organization of the School Board elected and appointed under this Act.

Sect. 4. The School Board shall have the supervision and direction of the public schools, and shall exercise the powers and perform the duties in relation to the care and management of schools which are now exercised and performed by the School Committee of said city, except so far as they may be changed or modified by this Act; shall succeed to the School Committee's corporate powers and rights, and shall have the powers and discharge the duties which may hereafter be imposed by law upon the School Committees of cities and towns. They shall elect a Superintendent of Schools and a Business Agent; they shall organize a School Faculty, and shall appoint Visitors, as hereinafter set forth.

Sect. 5. A majority of all the members of the School Board shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. They shall choose a Secretary, not of their number, who shall also serve as Secretary to the Superintendent and Inspectors as a Board, an Auditing Clerk, and such other subordinate officers as they may deem expedient, and shall define their duties, fix their compensation, and may remove them at pleasure.

Sect. 6. The School Board, on or before the first day of February of the year 1899, shall estimate and determine the amount of money actually necessary to be levied for the current year for the support of the schools of the City of Boston, and shall certify the same to the City Council; and it shall annually, before the first day of January, certify to the City Council, through its President and Secretary, the amount of money it has estimated to be requisite for school purposes during the ensuing year; and the City Council thereupon shall cause the said amounts certified to be levied and collected as part of the annual tax levy, provided the amount of said estimation and tax shall not exceed one-third of one per centum of the total assessed valuation of the city for the current year; but with the consent of the City Council it may exceed such limitation.

Sect. 7. The School Board shall succeed to all the powers granted to the School Committee in relation to the purchase of land and its laying out and maintenance for school purposes, and in relation to the erection of school buildings, and the alteration and repair of the same; but certain of these powers shall be exercised for the School Board by the Business Agent under its direction, as herein set forth. And in case its powers are found insufficient to enable it to purchase the lands and erect the buildings it deems necessary for school purposes, the School Board shall certify its needs in this respect to the City Council, and with the consent of the City Council shall, through its Business Agent, erect such buildings and purchase such additional lands as it has certified as necessary.

Sect. 8. The School Board shall fix the compensation of Superintendent, Business Agent, Inspectors, teachers, janitors, and of all other officers herein mentioned, except the expert accountants appointed by the Mayor. The School Board shall audit all expenses, but there shall be appointed by the Mayor for each year a Board of Audit, consisting of three expert accountants of good reputation, who shall audit the accounts of the year, and make a report thereon to the Mayor. The Board of Audit shall be paid by the city, and this payment shall not be part of the requisition referred to in Section 6.

Sect. 9. The votes of a majority of the whole number of the members of the School Board shall be necessary to elect the officers herein prescribed by it to be elected. Said officers shall hold office during good behavior and efficiency, but may be removed by a two-thirds vote of the whole number of the members of the School Board. Visitors may be appointed and removed by the votes of a majority of a quorum.

Sect. 10. The appointment, promotion and dismissal of teachers shall be vested in the Superintendent. He shall report all proposed appointments, promotions and dismissals to School Board, and these shall be final unless vetoed by a three-fourths vote of the Board. He shall, after consultation with the Inspectors and School Faculty, determine all courses of study and choose all text-books and other apparatus of teaching. He shall have direction of school attendance officers, who are to take the place of existing truant officers, and shall have the same power over their appointment and dismissal as that given him concerning teachers. Said body of school-attendance officers shall include both men and women, who, under regulations provided by the School Board shall investigate and report upon the cases of pupils absenting themselves from school, with a view to prevent rather than to punish such absence.

Sect. 11. The Business Agent, with such assistance as the School Board shall authorize and determine, shall, under direction of the School Board, have the care and maintenance of school-houses, the purchase of school supplies, the purchase of real estate, and the letting of contracts for the construction and repair of school-houses. He shall nominate and, by and with the consent of the School Board, shall appoint the architects of school-houses. He shall have a general oversight over all constructions and repairs. He shall have the appointment, control and dismissal of the janitors, engineers and other persons employed to work in or about the school-houses. Said Business Agent shall give bond, approved by the School Board, with sufficient surety or sureties in a sum to be determined by the School Board, payable to the Treasurer of the City of Boston, with a condition for the faithful performance of the duties of his office before entering upon the same.

Sect. 12. The Superintendent shall nominate and, by and with the consent of the School Board, shall appoint not less than six nor more than twelve Inspectors to serve for the term of three years, subject to removal by two-thirds vote of the School Board, or by the Superintendent with the approval of a majority of a quorum of the School Board. The Inspectors shall act as assistants to the Superintendent in the performance of his duties. Examinations of teachers shall be in charge of the Inspectors under the direction of the Superintendent, and certificates of qualification to teach may, after such examination, be issued by the Superintendent.

Sect. 13. A School Faculty shall be organized by the School Board and shall consist of the Superintendent as President ex-officio, of the Inspectors, and of not less than thirty more members who shall be elected by the teachers of the schools (not including temporary teachers) from their own numbers; and so far as possible the School Board shall adopt rules of election to provide that every grade of instruction shall be represented, and that any school which does not fall within any particular grade shall also be represented. The Faculty may consider all educational subjects, including such as are disciplinary and sanitary, and at its pleasure may report thereon to the School Board.

Sect. 14. There shall be two classes of visitors,—visitors at large (not exceeding twenty in number) and local visitors (not exceeding three in number for each school district). They shall serve without pay. This body of visitors shall include both men and women, and shall be invited by the School Board to visit the schools with a view to a larger public knowledge of school affairs and to personal and moral influence. Visitors at large shall be appointed from among the whole number of citizens. Local visitors shall be appointed from citizens who live in the district for which they are appointed. The body of visitors, or the visitors of the same grade or school district, may meet from time to time at the call of the Superintendent, or otherwise, and may report to the School Board on any subjects they wish to submit. Normal, High and Latin schools shall be considered each to constitute a district for the purpose of this section, and the metes and bounds of all school districts are left to the discretion of the School Board.

Sect. 15. The teachers, janitors, truant officers (hereafter to be designated school attendance officers) and employees of the schools of Boston, in office and employment at the time of the organization of this School Board, shall have the same tenure of office as if they had already been appointed under the provisions of this act.

B. F. UNDERHILL, jr., Secretary.

FIRE ALARM BRANCH,

Bristol Street, February 5, 1898.

COL. HENRY S. RUSSELL,

Fire Commissioner.

SIR: In compliance with your request I submit the following statement:

All overhead circuits of the fire-alarm system were rendered inoperative by the effects of the late storm. The underground circuits, covering the congested district in the city proper, West End and a part of the Back Bay remained intact, however, with the exception of circuit No. 5, which was opened on account of a small portion of it still remaining overhead.

By the destruction of these overhead circuits, all that part of the city proper south of Dover street, and all suburban districts, were deprived of the protection afforded by the maintenance of the system when in its normal condition, as lines of poles were prostrated and wires broken in all directions, and not a circuit escaped the effects of the wreck which, everything being considered, was the most extensive and complete that has ever occurred in the history of the fire-alarm in this city. The demoralization of the system was further increased by the burning out of the apparatus in many of the Department houses by currents from electric light and other high tension wires that were down in the general wreck.

Every effort is being made to restore the service in the shortest possible time, but in view of the magnitude of the work necessary to be done, it will require considerable time and expense to accomplish this result.

Respectfully submitted,

B. S. FLANDERS, Superintendent.

Park Department.

The following reply has been sent by the Boston Park Commission to W. Henry Winslow regarding his petition that certain gentlemen outside the Commission be allowed to co-operate in regard to changes in trees and shrubbery of the parks. The letter is as follows:

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS,

February 3, 1898.

MR. W. HENRY WINSLOW, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir: The Board has duly considered the petition presented by you at our last meeting, asking that in matters relating to the "removal of trees and shrubbery and the substitution of costly artificial, for natural, features" in the parks, we shall "co-operate with certain gentlemen from a list of names" that the petitioners propose to offer us, and allow them to share in our responsibilities in these matters. We cannot grant the prayer of the petition. The law vests in us the responsibility for all the work of this Department, and we cannot share it with anyone. It may be unnecessary to add that we are glad at all times to receive suggestions which will be of value to us, and we shall seek the best expert advice available to assist us in our work.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed) CHARLES E. STRATTON,
Chairman.

The following is a letter from the Superintendent of the Park Department with regard to a petition relative to the removal of trees in the parks, submitted to the Board of Park Commissioners at a hearing given on January 24, 1898:

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS,

Jamaica Park, February 8, 1898.

CHARLES E. STRATTON, Esq.,

Chairman Board of Park Commissioners.

DEAR SIR: Regarding the petition which Mr. Winslow and other gentlemen presented to the Park Board at Pine Bank, January 24, asking that the Board select advisers from a list of names submitted by them, based on the statement that in the matter in question (the thinning of woods and plantations) "you rely on your Superintendent, who himself does not wish to be wholly responsible," I beg to say, I have no desire, nor have I expressed any, to be relieved of any responsibility in this work. It is one of necessity where healthy natural effects are desired, and one that practical foresters and landscape gardeners understand.

Charges were made by the various gentlemen, who spoke at the meeting, in effect, that shrubbery and undergrowth were being cut down; that fine trees were being felled; that the trees were being thinned out so that those remaining would resemble a plantation on a geometrical plan, and that all naturalness and wildness were being destroyed.

These statements certainly are not the result of close observation or investigation, as can be proved by present conditions. I am able to say that the intent and purpose of the work that has been done on the plantations and woods were the opposite of those contained in the charges. The work of marking the trees for cutting was done in the summer, when the trees were in full leaf. Consequently, the condition of each tree could be accurately ascertained. Special effort was made to retain or create pleasing or picturesque groupings. Where trees were being injured by too close crowding, the weak or sickly were marked for cutting. In no case has a single fine tree been sacrificed. All ground cover, shrubbery or undergrowth of native material has been carefully preserved, except possibly in the case of young tree saplings which, for obvious reasons, have all been cut out, leaving only those selected to replace sickly trees or for other requirements. In the work of marking, I had the eminent advice and assistance of Prof. C. S. Sargent during nearly the whole period, and every step was marked with careful consideration of intended effect, and a desire to retain and emphasize natural features. Much of the ground had been covered by private residences, and thick plantations of neglected, incongruous material were found, which it would be hard to blend into a natural piece of woodland scenery. In such places, naked Norway spruces and similar foreign stuff were freely marked to make room for new plantations.

It is to be regretted that this work had not been commenced as soon as the lands came into the possession of the Park Department. Judicious thinning from year to year, with the planting of native shrubs would, ere this, have shown the effect of intelligent effort to assist Nature, for Nature can be assisted and the evidence of assistance be concealed.

Hastily considered criticism of the landscape gardener's effort to improve the condition of growing timber by thinning out crowding trees is probably largely to blame for the deplorable condition of the trees in most of our parks throughout the country. Central Park, New York, contains scarcely one fine specimen of a tree, even in grounds set apart for ornamental work; its woodlands are forests of bare poles. Prospect Park, Brooklyn, still contains hundreds of nurse trees, planted for shelter to the intended permanent trees, which they have smothered and malformed, instead of protecting, because they were not cut out when their intended work was accomplished. Much of the planting will have to be commenced over again; the ruin being irretrievable, and all because of the mistaken sentiment against the cutting of a tree.

The places from where trees were cut last year cannot now be identified; it is ever found so in forestry, the branches, having more room, spread out; the boles feather out; the general health of the tree is improved; undergrowth is encouraged, having more light. The cutting down this year has even now left little evidence; none will be found in summer except in the greater wealth of verdure and natural beauty.

I desire to add that in conjunction with the work of thinning, extensive bordering plantations of native trees and shrubs have been planned, 30,000 trees and 100,000 shrubs purchased, and the ground got in readiness to plant next spring.

J. A. PETTIGREW, Superintendent.

Wire Department.

Old Court House, February 7, 1898.

A synopsis of the work of the Wire Department for the week ending February 6, is herewith appended:

On Monday, January 31, the regular duties of inspection were performed by the several Divisions, as usual. As early as half-past eight Monday evening the first report of electrical trouble, due to the effects of the storm, was received, when a live wire was reported down on Groton street; immediately following this came the report of a wire down on Granite and West Second streets, and from that time to the present, the work of the employees of the Wire Department has been incessant and arduous.

The snow which began to fall Monday forenoon, and continued nearly all day Tuesday, was of that kind which falls at rare intervals, and is much dreaded by those owning and operating overhead electric wires, owing to the tenacity with which it clings to them. Every flake that touched a wire remained on it, so that a No. 12 wire soon assumed the dimensions of the largest sized cable. During the night the snow froze and formed a sheath around the wires and cables that nothing but a warm rain or a south wind could remove. Early Monday night the small iron and copper wires began to break and fall and cross the electric light and trolley wires, and, as the force of the wind increased, poles, cross-arms, fixtures, wires and cables came down in all parts of the city. From 8.30 P.M. Monday, until 4 A.M. Tuesday, the electric lighting circuits were in trouble, owing to the number of wires that fell across them, each one of which became an element of danger to persons and property. As soon as indications of trouble were noticed at the electric light stations on any of the circuits, the current was cut off, so that by 4 A.M. Tuesday no circuits were in operation, except those whose wires were entirely underground.

The circuits of the Boston Elevated Railway Company were kept in operation as long as possible, in order to operate the snow plows and keep the tracks as clear of snow as possible. Some portions of the road had to be abandoned owing to the wreckage of poles and wires, and certain sections of the roads are not yet in full operation.

Realizing the immense task involved in clearing the debris throughout the entire city, the Wire Department early on Tuesday morning was reinforced by a detail of nine men from the Electrical Construction Division of the Public Buildings Department, seven men and two teams from the Street Department, Sewer Division, and twenty extra men with two hired teams, and ever since all have been kept busy, day and night, in removing the dangerous wires from streets and buildings.

The character of the trouble was the same from Winthrop to the Dedham line.

The first duty attended to by this Department was the clearing of trolley-wires where crossed by other wires, in order to prevent delays in car traffic and to lessen the dangers to life and property. Efforts were next directed towards the removal of low tension wires that had become crossed with circuits of the electric lighting companies, in order that the city might be properly lighted.

Early on the afternoon of February 1, the following letter was sent to the Suburban Light and Power Company, Boston Electric Light Company, Brookline Gas Light Company and Charlestown Gas and Electric Light Company:

"In consideration of the heavy fall of snow causing many telegraph, telephone, trolley and low tension wires to break away from their supports and hang loose in the streets and thoroughfares of the city, and furthermore, in many instances, lying across and in contact with wires of your company, thereby making said telegraph, telephone and other wires alive and dangerous to life and property, providing your overhead circuits are alive and in operation, therefore in pursuance of my duty as Commissioner of Wires and in consideration of the dangers to the lives of our citizens, I would respectfully ask your company not to start your overhead circuits to-night."

Compliance with this request proved a great measure of safety to our citizens, and in consequence of it only the lights fed from the underground system were in operation on the evening of February 1. Since that date, however, certain employees of this Department have been detailed to accompany inspectors of the electric lighting companies upon a thorough inspection of the various overhead circuits. As each circuit is pronounced safe, permission is granted the company operating the same to turn on the current.

Poles were down on Zeigler, Roxbury, Leverett, North Beacon, Lamartine, Maverick, Bennington, Marginal, Meridian, West First, East and West Second, Front, Federal and Swett streets, Guild Row, Commonwealth, Rutherford, Harrison and Boylston avenues, and a great number of other streets, and it is estimated that the number of fallen poles was at least 1,200. The amount of wire removed from the streets by this Department since the commencement of the storm will reach from 175 to 200 miles. The above-named streets and a great many others required a second and even a third inspection by this Department to insure their being entirely safe, and will necessitate close supervision for some time to come.

Some 25 or more photographs of fallen poles and wires were taken by Wire Department employees in that part of the city outside the underground district which fully show the nature of the damage and havoc wrought to the overhead construction by this storm.

Comparatively few roof fixtures were torn from their fastening, doubtless, because they carried but few wires.

The work of the several electric lighting and telephone companies in making repairs since the storm has been mostly of a temporary character, and it will demand the constant care and inspection of this Department to insure that such work is in conformity with its rules and requirements.

In the underground district, that is, that portion of it where the work of placing wires underground has been completed, practically no electrical trouble was experienced.

It is a matter of congratulation that no human lives were lost owing to contact with the deadly current. The estimated number of horses killed by live wires exceeds twenty.

Since the commencement of the storm the entire force of the Wire Department has been on duty by day and night to respond promptly to reports of electrical trouble. A request was sent to the Fire Alarm Branch of the Fire Department to report any fires or accidents probably due to electrical causes, and a similar request made to the Police Department. Both of these Departments have complied with our request on numerous occasions, and thus enabled the Department to prevent losses by fires and probably injury to citizens. The Fire Alarm and Police Notification Company are also in constant communication with this office.

During the week ending February 6, there were eleven fires due to electrical causes, all of which can be attributed chiefly to the effects of the heavy storm. Four examinations as to the cause of fires have been made by the Department.

THE STORM AND THE STREETS.

OFFICE OF STREET DEPARTMENT,

February 15, 1898.

The storm of January 31 and February 1 was a most unusual one. Monday afternoon, the thermometer was stationary at about 32°. In the late afternoon, the Weather Bureau informed us that it might turn to rain or continue to snow; but there was no intimation given of the severe and unusual storm which followed. In the early evening it looked very threatening, and, as a matter of precaution, forty extra double teams were ordered to report at 8 o'clock in the shopping district, the intention being to have that section of the city covered in the very early morning. All through the night the storm continued to increase, and by 1 A.M. traffic was practically suspended. The cars were stalled, the streets blocked by fallen poles and wires, and from that time on the snow, which had been wet—almost rain—continued with a lower temperature, which by early morning had fallen to 20°, and continued to fall until it reached 5° on the morning of the second of February.

At 5.30 in the morning on February 1, a consultation was held over the telephone between the Street Department officials, and arrangements made for the work of the day. The Department was greatly handicapped, however, from the fact that it was impossible to reach more than one or two districts by telephone. It was necessary to communicate with the district foremen, owners of teams and others, by messengers. By seven o'clock a considerable force of contractors' teams and teams of the Paving and Street-Cleaning Divisions were at work on the main thoroughfares, and clearing away from the fire-houses. By eight o'clock the Sanitary Division teams and men had been reached, and were added to the force of workers. As soon as possible, as many Sewer Division men as could be notified were ordered to report on snow-work, so that by afternoon the entire available Street Department force and teams, and such additional contractors' teams as could be secured, were actively engaged in removing the snow. Thus, with the full force of the Paving, Street-Cleaning and Sewer Divisions and a portion of the Sanitary men, work was carried on night and day, including Sunday.

As many men and teams were worked as could be used to advantage. The number of dumps substantially regulates the entire work, as only a limited number of teams can be used to advantage at each dump; and the number of men profitably engaged in work is in proportion to the number of teams. The difficulties of handling snow in Boston are increased by the scarcity of dumping-places. In this storm, owing to its severity, dumping was allowed on the Common, which greatly assisted in the work. In addition to the regular dumps a small dump was also secured at Long wharf, and at night the Sanitary dumping-wharf at Fort Hill was made available.

In Boston, unlike New York, the Department must take into account the fact that the larger part of the teaming immediately goes on runners as soon as there is a substantial snowfall, and it is therefore not permissible to take the snow out of the streets entirely. So, during the work, a certain amount of snow was left. Up to Saturday the sledding was excellent. On Saturday the rain came, and Sunday, with its high temperature, softened the snow, and it became necessary to start in and clean to the paving.

The conditions of the storm were a damp, heavy fall of snow, followed by several days of low temperature, the thermometer ranging between 5° and 20°, thus creating a hard, firm bed of packed snow, which became ice, practically speaking. As the temperature rose, this bed became full of cradle-holes, and the streets in some parts of the city, where the heaviest travel was, were almost impassable until the Department had cleaned them to the paving. To do this it was necessary to pick the streets, and so, substantially, every business street in the city had first to be picked, before the bed of snow-ice could be removed, and this added greatly to the cost and labor.

Another factor which made removal of the snow difficult and expensive was that, owing to the wet conditions at the time of its fall, the snow was banked on the roofs, and, on account of its weight, it was found necessary to shovel more than the usual number of roofs; and, as reported by the district foreman, who for a great number of years has had charge of the down-town district, more snow was thrown into the streets from roofs and areas than had ever been the case in his experience. This made it necessary, in a great number of streets, to do the work three times over.

The number of men employed on snow was substantially as follows:

Paving Division	1,000
Sewer Division	500
Street-Cleaning Division	600
Sanitary Division (for a portion of the time)	300
Total	2,400

The number of teams employed in the work ranged from 300 to 850.

The amount charged to snow-work from February 1 to February 13, inclusive, is as follows:

LABOR ROLLS.
Paving and Sewer Divisions	$38,747 39
Street-Cleaning Division	11,681 27
Sanitary Division	1,761 99
Total	$52,190 65

COST OF TEAMS HIRED.

Paving Division	$33,570 50
Street-Cleaning Division	2,488 25
Total	$36,058 75

In addition to the work as above, the Department worked on snow Friday, Friday night and Saturday, and on Sunday the entire force, including the Sanitary teams. The men of the Sewer and Sanitary Divisions were returned to their divisions on Monday, February 14. The larger portion of the men of the Paving Division, however, will be continued on the final cleaning up of snow until Thursday night of this week. So to the above figures should be added, as an estimate, $20,000 for this week's labor and teams, making a total cost of $108,249.40.

The number of single loads removed, as reported from the dumps, is as follows:

Street-Cleaning Division	19,276
Total	123,191

As a matter of record, and in connection with the above report, the Street Department weather records, as taken from the United States Weather Bureau, are of interest.

From this table (see page 103) it will be seen that the snowfall amounted to 14.3 inches. It will also be noted that the minimum temperature on Monday, the day of the storm, was 5°, and the maximum 32°. So, on the succeeding day, February 1, the thermometer ranged from 32° down to 10°; and this was followed by three days of very low temperature.

Messages from the Mayor.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, at 3 P.M., Monday, February 14, 1898, Chairman Dyar presiding and all the members present.

Contract for Engine 31.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 14, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Fire Commissioner in reply to your order requesting a copy of the contract for remodeling Engine 31 (the old fire-boat), a statement of what payments have been made on account of this contract, and a report as to the present condition of the boat.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

OFFICE OF THE FIRE COMMISSIONER,

Bristol Street, February 11, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Sir: Replying to the request of the Honorable Board of Aldermen, I herewith enclose the contract for remodeling Engine 31, and respectfully state that of the $16,000 appropriated $5,106.25 are still on hand unexpended, and, further, that the boat to-day is in fair order for ordinary fire duty with a speed of eight miles an hour, and power to back and turn her when quickness of movement is not requisite; but, inasmuch as she may at any time be needed for duty where speed and activity are necessary, I have extended until May the time for her completion, when Mr. Brooks hopes to be able to turn her over in every way satisfactory.

Your obedient servant,

H. S. RUSSELL, Commissioner.

Contract for Building a New Fire-boat for the City of Boston Engine No. 31.

John M. Brooks, of Boston, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the City of Boston, in said Commonwealth, on this twentieth day of January, A.D. 1897, agree as follows:

Article 1. City of Boston,

Referred to the Committee on Public Improvements.

Examination of 116-124 Merrimac Street.

—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 14, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

At my request, the Building Commissioner has made an examination of the premises 116-124 Merrimac street, and of the causes, so far as ascertainable, of the loss of life and property which occurred at this place on February 5, and I submit herewith his report for your information.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

OFFICE OF THE BUILDING COMMISSIONER,
Old Court House, February 10, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In compliance with your request, that I make, or cause to be made, a thorough and searching examination of the causes and conditions which led up to and culminated in the disastrous fire, to both life and property, occurring February 5, at No. 116-124 Merrimac street, I herewith submit my conclusions.

This structure was previously occupied for church purposes, and subsequently remodeled for business purposes; and upon this remodeled structure demands were made by the Building Department. Pending the compliance with these demands the building was partially destroyed by fire. An application to remodel and rebuild was made by Mr. James H. Roberts on November 17, 1873; the building was completed and approved by Mr. Oliver L. Shaw, Inspector of Buildings of that district, December 3, 1874. In this remodeling the floors were raised to adapt it to the uses for which the building was to be occupied, i. e., for the storage and sale of heavy machinery. In this remodeling and alteration no architect was employed, and no plans were submitted to the Building Department, so far as I know, and the work was done, under the direction of Mr. Roberts, by Mr. Wentworth, a mason, at a cost of $13,000.

It is also a fact that it was occupied for a period of twenty years, more or less, for the manufacture, storage and sale of heavy machinery, the building being equipped and supplied with power necessary to carry on such a business.

During the twenty odd years there have been two or three trivial fires in the building, of such small moment that there is no notation of damage to its structural portions.

October 10, 1893, a fire occurred, and by the official fire report it appeared that the roof was partially destroyed. This examination and report was made by Capt. Barry, Supervisor of Construction. Subsequently, application was made by Mr. Ira G. Hersey "to repair damage to roof caused by fire," the work being done under Mr. Mainland's supervision. This application was approved by Supervisor Barry, and a permit was granted October 19, 1893. The fire report makes no mention of any burning whatever on the fourth or fifth floor.

During the restoration of the roof it is in evidence that Mr. Griffin, the inspector of that district, earnestly labored with the contractors and owners to discontinue the mansard portion of the roof. This effort was earnestly supplemented by District Chief Cheswell, and, as a substitute for said mansard, to increase the height of the external walls sufficient to receive the roof. But the owners, as it was a matter of repairs, claimed the right to restore it to its former condition.

These repairs were made at a cost of $4,600.

As to the charring by fire of the timbers of either the fourth or fifth floor, I have no data at my command, but that certain floor-timbers were charred from a sixteenth to three-eighths of an inch, as well as some of the girders appearing very slightly charred, cannot be questioned, and that they were re-enforced at intervals by new timbers placed against them is also a fact, but not at this time—1893—or within the knowledge of Inspector Griffin.

The girders were scraped and re-enforced by adding a seven-eighths of an inch board upon either side of said girders, and as no mention is made in the fire report, I am forced to the conclusion for want of more positive information, that these floor timbers were the remnants of the fire of 1873, and the under side of said timbers was sheathed over; but I would not dare state this as a premise of positive facts without more information than I now possess. It is also clear that this section of floors on both the fourth and fifth stories did not collapse, as noted by the diagram which accompanies the Department reports. The local inspector declares he was not cognizant of the fact of the fourth and fifth floors being repaired as stated; that he did not order their re-enforcement; but he also declares he did order the re-enforcement of the roof timbers, where necessary, and by said re-enforcement their weight-bearing capacity was increased one-fifth, making that part of roof one-fifth stronger than previous to their charring.

With these facts in view I respectfully submit that I find no reason or cause to charge the local inspector with negligence of duty.

As to the conditions, they may be summarized as follows: As a result of the recent disastrous storm a safe estimate of the increased load of snow and ice would be at least twenty-five tons on the roof. That, in addition to the loads concentrated upon the fifth floor, there was added upon a recent date twenty-five tons of material known as excelsior with other material used in the business of Messrs. Bent & Co., making a total estimate of thirty-seven tons on the fifth floor. This load was concentrated on a line of columns and girders.

Two days after the fire, by actual computation of weights made, it was found that seventy-eight tons would be a fair estimate of the amount of weight on the fifth floor, and during the fire it was increased at least twenty per cent. making at the time of rupture on this floor on line of columns and girders nearly one hundred tons in weight, which is a very low estimate. This would include absorption and water on the floor.

As to the weakening of the structure by fire—that there was sufficient fire either in merchandise stored or in the structural portions of the building itself on the fourth and fifth floors to cause the Fire Department to be apprehensive as to results, the three alarms sent out testify, and the fire must have appeared somewhat formidable to warrant this apprehension.

To extinguish this fire and prevent a conflagration was the thought and purpose of those in charge of that duty. To drown that fire out was the aim and purpose of our Fire Department. This supreme effort loaded this structure with a number of gallons of water thrown into this building every minute of the duration of the fire, and, according to the number of streams called into requisition, and the number of gallons of water thrown by each steamer, with a weight of 8½ pounds, more or less, to the gallon, the amount of strain to which this building was subjected on the roof and in the fourth and fifth stories is readily seen.

The heft or volume of the fire was in the structural part of the building, and not in this merchandise, which consisted of bales of goods closely packed, and which must have been burning a long time before being discovered. The roof timbers and girders in that portion of the building subjected to fire, together with the columns which were so burnt as to be unable to further sustain the tremendous weight upon the roof, were constantly diminishing in strength, while, of course, the weight was constantly increasing by the water incident to a fire of this kind.

I find that there was an amount of burning which was the primary cause of the falling in of the roof, and the point of rupture is as designated by the diagram.

The momentum of the fall of the roof, with its sudden shock, broke the girders and floor timbers which were then subjected to a weight beyond the factor of safety. This in turn carried down the fourth and third and other floors.

This building which had carried the load imposed upon it for manufacture, sale and storage of machinery for so many years yielded to this unusual combination of snow and ice upon its roof, the storage of an unusual amount of material in the fifth floor, by the fire which destroyed and weakened the building, as heretofore referred to, together with the volume of water poured into the building, and this combination is the direct cause of this calamity.

As to the origin of the fire I have not been able to determine.

This disaster with other disasters has strengthened to a degree the actual necessity of owners or occupants relieving the roofs of mercantile buildings of the extra load which they would be called upon to carry as the result of a heavy snow, as of last week.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN S. DAMRELL,

Building Commissioner.

February 11, 1898.

Capt. JOHN S. DAMRELL, Building Commissioner of the City of Boston.

DEAR SIR: In compliance with your request for a full report in regard to the building numbered 116 to 124 Merrimac street, in the city of Boston, I respectfully report:

That said building was occupied prior to 1873 by the Baptist Society, who were the owners of said building; that in October of 1873 James H. Roberts and brother leased the building for a term of twenty years for their use as dealers in heavy machinery; that said building was reconstructed for their use under Oliver L. Shaw, who was then Inspector of Buildings; that said building was occupied by Roberts Bros. in their business, as heavy machinists, until 1893, when their lease expired, and the premises were leased by the Baptist Society to George W. Bent & Co.

As I am informed, George W. Chipman was then Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Baptist Society. Mr. Bent hired the premises, which was then a five-story building, to be, and was, occupied by him in his business as dealers in beds, bedding and material. That in October, 1893, while I was an inspector in the district under you as Inspector of Buildings, a fire occurred on the fifth floor under the roof in the rear of said premises; that said fire partially destroyed the timbers in a portion of the roof in the rear above the said fifth floor.

An application was made to repair the roof occasioned by said fire, which said application is number 1796 of 1893. As inspector in said district, under said permit, I required additional timbers to be placed alongside of the charred timbers then supporting the roof, which said charred timbers were only partially burned and were, in my judgment, sufficient to sustain the roof then covering the building, but as said timbers were slightly charred, I required the additional timbers, which the builders thought unnecessary, to be placed as additional supports for the roof. I also required them to re-enforce the girder by seven-eighth-inch boards on either side and under the base.

In further compliance with your request, in my judgment, the accident occurred by reason of the weight of snow on the roof, together with the fact that the fifth floor was loaded with excelsior and jute; and that the water poured in by the Fire Department upon that floor and the roof caused the additional weight which, supplemented by supports being weakened by the fire, were unable to stand the strain and caused the collapse which occurred; that the building in its construction under the existing building laws at the time in which the building was remodeled, which building-law requirements were not as they now exist, which, together with the foregoing facts, occasioned the collapse.

I desire further to state that while I was inspector in said District I never knew of anything in the construction or of any fire that occurred that would weaken the building, as it then existed, and I never knew of any sheathing to have been added to cover up any charred timbers on any floor of said building.

Very respectfully submitted.

(Signed)

GEO. W. GRIFFIN,

Assistant Inspector.

Cause of examination, general construction of building after fire of Saturday, February 5, 1898.

REPORT.

We have made a careful examination of the within-described building, the same having been damaged by fire on Saturday, February 5, 1898, resulting in the death of six members of the Boston Fire Department. This building is of brick and wood construction, five stories in height, not including the cellar or basement. The rear portion, and part of both sides, in the upper or fifth story, is surmounted with a wooden mansard roof. The remaining portion of this story on the sides and front, together with all the external walls, are of brick. The internal construction is composed of wooden posts and girders and wooden floor timbers, iron-cap plates on each post, and all heading and footing to same. The capacity of the different parts of the construction is fully shown on the marginal notes in connection with the diagrams herewith presented. Many of the floor timbers and girders in the fifth floor are in a charred condition to a depth of one-eighth to one-half an inch, diminishing the strength to some extent. Several new timbers have been introduced where floor timbers were seriously impaired. The girders have been enclosed in a seven-eighth-inch casing, and the whole ceiling boarded or sheathed in to prevent dust and dirt from dropping to the floor below. All the girders are trenailed to iron-cap plates and roof girders, also iron-dogged where centred or jointed over columns. Appearances indicate that the fire on Saturday was at its height in the fifth or roof story, as a large section (see diagram) of the roof timbers are entirely burnt off, thus precipitating an accumulation of snow and water, being pocketed on this section of the roof, this pocket was formed by the continual burning of the roof timbers, gradually settling same until burned off. This weight falling to fifth floor, which was stored with a large quantity of excelsior, cane, wool and hair, the same being thoroughly saturated with water from the Fire Department, the fire having worked down into this story and through one section of this floor, thus allowing the superimposed weight to fall with sufficient force to break through part of the floor below, including the breaking of a heavy girder. As this weight descended, it was increased from one story to another by the accumulation of iron bedsteads, frames, and other heavy material used in the manufactory. The amount of excelsior, wool, rattan, hair, feathers, tow, etc., independent of minor articles, stored on the fifth floor at the time of the fire was in the aggregate 78,000 pounds dry, the increased weight by saturation with water may be cited as double, or 156,000 pounds (78 tons). This result in the increase of weight was obtained by weighing one or more bales of the material and comparing it with weight marked on consignment checks. Each result thus obtained showed about double weight and at minimum, being different now (that is, lighter), that volumes of water were poured into the burning premises. The weight imposed on the second and third floors (mezzanine being hung to the third floor), embracing iron bedstead frames, independent of incidental machinery and tools, amounted to 87,650 pounds, or 43.8 tons.

The first floor was largely used as a sales-room and contained a large number of iron bed frames, excepting that portion of west side about the office or counting room, up to third bay from same, and extending back from first bay to fourth, which was free from materials, and through this story, over this space the accumulated weight of material stored in the upper story, including weight of floors, fell through the unobstructed space and broke through the 4 x 12 inch hard pine floor timbers of first floor into cellar. Inspection of basement or cellar story shows 20-inch brick piers under columns in position, except one that is covered with the fallen material.

In conclusion we find that the cause of falling floors was by reason of fire destroying the strength of the fifth floor timbers, columns and girders, and the columns in part of support of the fourth floor and the entire destruction of a large section of roof timbers, causing the superimposed weight of snow and water to fall to the already burned fourth floor timbers, together with the saturated material and material of construction, thus breaking and fracturing floor timbers and girders below.

The east and west side walls of this building should be taken down, the same at present having been rodded together (by order), and in case of renovations, restrictions should be placed on the floor storage. See accompanying diagram and photographs of the premises.

M. W. FITZSIMMONS,
JOHN CURRIE,
GEORGE McDONNELL,
CHARLES NORWOON.

P. S.—A close inspection of parts of fifth story remaining indicate that material was piled near to roof over section indicated as burnt away. The computations set forth in connection with diagrams have been made in accordance with Section 19, Chapter 419, Acts of 1892, and not as formerly used and in vogue at the time of remodeling from church to business purposes.

First story columns, hard pine; second story columns, hard pine; fifth story columns, hard pine; third and fourth story columns of spruce.

(Accompanying the above was a further detailed report as to the material of which the building was composed, together with plans and photographs.)

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS.

Jamaica Park, February 10, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In regard to the order of the City Council requesting this Board to cause North End Park to be flooded for skating during the winter months, we beg to report that during the past month the Board made an effort to flood this ground, although the slope of the ground and the manner in which it had been filled did not seem to warrant that skating could be provided.

The result was as anticipated, it being impossible to hold the water with the ground in its present condition, it having only a light filling over old cellars, sea-walls and drains which allow the water to escape. The Board will investigate further, however, with a view of determining whether the trouble can be remedied so that skating can be provided for another season.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES E. STRATTON, Chairman.

Free Public Concerts.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

City Hall, February 14, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

In connection with the passage of the annual appropriation order, I wish to call the attention of the City Council to the desirability of making reasonable provision for free public concerts. For the last two years the sum of $5000 has been annually appropriated as a separate item, to be expended under the direction of the City Messenger, for free concerts; and as about sixty open-air band concerts have been given each year under the contract arrangements which were made, each concert has cost the city, on an average, only $83. For this comparatively small expenditure, a great many thousands of our citizens have enjoyed the pleasure and benefit of listening to good music. These band concerts were omitted during 1895, but during the seven years previous to that year about $4000 was expended annually for this purpose.

I believe that the furnishing of a reasonable amount of music at the public expense falls within the proper functions of a large municipality, and that it would be enlightened policy for this city to appropriate for free public music, under proper direction, several times the amount which has recently been expended, and to develop its work in this direction upon broader lines and upon a more definite and permanent basis. I fully believe in the idea that a large city should make some reasonable provision for the healthful recreation of its people, and for their social elevation, and this doctrine has come to be generally accepted in Europe, if not in this country. By the establishment of parks, playgrounds, baths and gymnasias, this city has already taken considerable steps in the direction of recognizing its obligations of this character. The civilizing and refining influence of music has been recognized from the earliest times, and I am fully convinced that judiciously directed expenditures for this purpose will be fully warranted. The reputation of Boston as a centre of musical education should stimulate us to afford to the masses of our people greater opportunities of listening to good music, and to endeavor to raise their appreciation of music. Under proper control a great deal can be accomplished in this direction at a comparatively small expenditure; free popular concerts should not be confined altogether to the summer months, when they can be given out of doors, but should also be given during the winter at suitable places in-doors, which could be utilized without extra expense. After mature consideration of the subject I have come to the conclusion that, in order to raise free public music to a proper plane in dignity and importance, it should be placed under the direction, even if the appropriation is no larger than in the past, of an unpaid board, composed of persons of musical taste, who would appreciate the social and educational value of free public music, and the opportunity of rendering a useful service to our people by its judicious development.

Formerly the money to pay for free concerts was taken out of the appropriation for City Council, incidental expenses, but last year it was appropriated under the head of City Messenger Department. There is, however, no proper connection whatever between the work of the City Messenger Department and the control of free concerts, and specialized administration is necessary in order to ensure the best results. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying ordinance creating a Department of Public Music, to be under the charge of an unpaid board of five members, and I trust that this recommendation may receive favorable action at the hands of the City Council, and that the band-concerts during the coming season may be provided for more liberally, and may be under the charge of such a board.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

City of Boston, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight. An ordinance to amend the Revised Ordinances of 1892, by providing for a Department of Public Music. Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston as follows:

A Department of Public Music is hereby established, to be in charge of a board of five members, who shall be appointed by the Mayor. The members of said Board may be appointed by the Mayor at any time after the date of the passage of this ordinance, to serve until the first day of May next. On or before said first day of May, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, the Mayor shall appoint, subject to confirmation by the Board of Aldermen, one member to serve for the term of five years, one for the term of four years, one for the term of three years, one for the term of two years, and one for the term of one year, each term beginning with the first day of May; and annually after the current year one such member shall be appointed as aforesaid for the term of five years, beginning with the first day of May in the year of his appointment. Said Board shall have charge and control of free public music, both in-doors and in the open air, and shall expend any appropriations made for such purposes.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances, when appointed.

Fruit-Stand — Veto.—The following was received:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 14, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I return herewith without my approval a permit granted to Albert Smith to maintain a fruit-stand in front of the Old Court House, on Court street.

There were as many permits granted last year for stands of different kinds as the space in front of the Old Court House will accommodate, and all the persons who had permits last year have petitioned to have them renewed. It seems to me that all these petitions, together with any new ones which may be pending, should be acted upon collectively. I have, moreover, withheld my approval during the last two years from all permits for fruit-stands in front of the Old Court House, on the ground that such stands occupy too much space, and are otherwise objectionable, and I feel obliged to withhold my signature from this permit on the same grounds.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Special Communications.

The Associated Charities of Boston.

Central Office, Charity Building,

Boston, January 18, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

DEAR SIR: I take great pleasure in forwarding to you, on behalf of our Board of Directors, the enclosed copies of resolutions, passed at their recent meeting, in support of two proposals in your annual address; those referring to the private ways and to playgrounds.

Yours very respectfully,

ROBT. TREAT PAINE,

President of the Associated Charities.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED JANUARY 14, 1898.

(1.) Resolved, That the Board of Directors of the Associated Charities call the attention of all interested in the social condition of the city to the proposal made in the recent annual address of His Honor Mayor Quincy to lay out the private alleys in Boston as public ways.

This measure will conduce greatly to improve the condition of life in the poorer sections of Boston. The filthy condition of little private streets and of alleyways has long been notorious, and it has been found practically impossible to remove these evils under the present system. The result has been that large numbers of the poorest classes of our population have lived in their little homes or in tenement houses situated upon streets which after rains were deep with mud and were always filthy, and where the conditions of life were degrading, and children grew up accustomed to an utter lack of self-respect.

The city undertakes to care for all the public streets of Boston, to police them, light them, keep the surface in fit condition for use and travel and to repair them from time to time as occasion requires. The cost of all these items is a common charge upon the property of the whole city. The result is that tenements upon private alleys have been paying in their taxes their full share of keeping in order all the public streets everywhere else, and have received no part of this expenditure upon the little private ways where they themselves are situated. To lay a heavier burden upon the poorest tenements wholly for the benefit of the more favored portions of the city is unreasonable and unjust.

We earnestly trust that the reform will be carried through and that the public officials, especially the Street Commissioners, will use to the utmost such power as they now have, and endeavor to procure any legislation needed, to put these private ways under the charge of the city, so that the estates abutting upon them may receive an equal share in the protection and care of the whole city.

(2.) Resolved, That the Board of Directors of the Associated Charities heartily approve the recommendation made in the annual address of His Honor Mayor Quincy for securing additional playgrounds located upon a comprehensive plan for the whole city. No measure can conduce more powerfully to the health and physical and moral welfare of the great multitude of boys and girls who are now growing up in the City of Boston, and are to follow through all future time, than that of providing ample and accessible playgrounds reasonably near to their places of residence.

The child problem in great cities is now fully recognized as of supreme importance in all its aspects. It is found to involve a tremendous annual expense to maintain parental schools, houses of reformation, jails, and reformatories, which are necessary to provide for a great criminal population. Moreover, experience shows that it is too often true—once a criminal always a criminal. Besides the argument for economy, social justice to the children of the great masses of plain people, demands that they shall have reasonable opportunities for the inevitable outpouring of animal spirits in innocent ways. Every arrest of a boy for coasting, playing ball, or other game, in the public streets proves the necessity for the prompt provision of grounds where boys and girls may play as vigorously as they will in every innocent game.

The growing value of land throughout the city, and the cutting up of large tracts by streets and improvements, renders it certain that every year's delay in securing the necessary tracts of land will add greatly to the cost of purchase.

We urgently appeal, therefore, to the municipal authorities, to a public-spirited press and to the enlightened zeal of all good citizens to support this measure of such vital welfare at the present time, and for all future years to come.

Cost of the East Boston Tunnel.

BOSTON TRANSIT COMMISSION,

20 Beacon street, January 27, 1898.

TO THE HONORABLE THE SENATE AND
THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES IN GENERAL COURT ASSEMBLED.

Respectfully represents the Boston Transit Commission that by the Acts of the Legislature of the year 1897, Chapter 500, it was provided that whenever the Boston Elevated Railway Company is authorized to begin the construction of its railway over the route first applied for, as provided in Section 13 of the Act, the Boston Transit Commission shall construct a tunnel or tunnels of sufficient size for two railway tracks, with approaches, entrances, sidings, stations and connections therefor, and for the running of railway cars therein, from a point on or near Hanover street in the City of Boston or such other point or points as said Board may deem proper for a suitable connection with the subway or subways provided for in Section 25 of Chapter 548 of the Acts of 1894, to a point at or near Maverick square in that part of Boston called East Boston, where a suitable connection with surface tracks may be made;

That to provide means for such construction the Treasurer of the City of Boston was authorized to issue bonds to the amount of five hundred thousand (500,000) dollars, in addition to the seven million (7,000,000) dollars authorized for the construction of work contemplated by the said Act of 1894, making a total of seven and a half million (7,500,000) dollars;

That the estimate of cost of the subway now in process of construction as made before the work was begun, was five million (5,000,000) dollars;

That the estimate of cost, made in 1895, and previously reported, of building a tunnel or tunnels from East Boston to a convenient exit on Hanover street was two million four hundred and six thousand six hundred (2,406,600) dollars;

That based upon such estimates of cost the appropriation of seven and a half million (7,500,000) dollars would have been sufficient to complete said subway and tunnel;

That the Act of 1897 requires the tunnel from East Boston to be continued so as to connect with the present subway, thereby adding nearly 2,000 feet of structure to the tunnel contemplated in the estimate of 1895, and involving large additional expenditure;

That the preliminary but not final estimates of cost of building a tunnel or tunnels from East Boston and extending the same so as to connect with the present subway, in accordance with the Act of 1897, vary, according to the route which may be selected out of the nine which are under consideration, from three and three-quarter million to over four million dollars;

That based upon these estimates of cost the amount appropriated will be insufficient to complete the work in the manner required by the Act of 1897;

Wherefore, said Boston Transit Commission makes report as above to the end that such action may be taken in the premises as to the General Court may seem fitting.

WILLIAM JACKSON, City Engineer.

MUNICIPAL TRAMWAYS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The following statement regarding the municipal ownership of tramways in Great Britain is taken from the Municipal Year Book of the United Kingdom for 1898, London, 1898.

The first town to operate its tramways directly was Huddersfield, which obtained authority in 1882. Plymouth followed in 1893, and Leeds in 1894.

Parliament, which gave every facility for municipal ownership, was so anxious to prevent municipal working that a standing order of the House of Commons supplemented the interdiction in the Act and precluded any bill with the object of giving local authorities power to run tramways from being introduced.

It was not until the session of 1896 that the standing order was suspended, and the House at once made reparation by unanimously passing the Sheffield bill, which authorized the corporation of that city to work its tramways. A few weeks after the passing of the measure, Dover and Hull obtained similar powers.

In the session of 1897 the following cities and towns obtained the same powers, including, as in the former cases, power to introduce mechanical traction:

Birkenhead, Bolton, Bradford, Edinburgh, Halifax, Huddersfield, Leicester, Liverpool, Manchester, Newport (Mon.), Neath, Nottingham and Southampton.

In the coming session of 1898, the following towns are promoting bills to acquire and work the tramways, to build new lines, and to use mechanical traction:

The Corporations of Aberdeen, Blackburn, Blackpool, Burnley, Bury, Cardiff, Dundee, Halifax, Keighley, Oldham, Plymouth, Portsmouth, St. Helens, West Ham, Wigan, the London County Council, and the Urban District Councils of East Ham, Ilford and Leyton.

Applications are also being made for provisional orders by the following authorities:

The Corporations of Huddersfield and Liverpool (extensions), and the Urban District Councils of East Ham, Ecclehill, Great Crosby, Llandudno and Waterloo-with-Seaforth.

In some cases these towns, where they have not actually possession of the tramways and working them, are making arrangements to acquire and extend the systems and to introduce electric traction. As above stated, in cases where the leases of the companies have some years to run, the Councils are buying the undertakings, and only in a few instances are parting with them. Cardiff, where the lease has seven years to run, is promoting a comprehensive scheme for extensions and improved traction. Dundee corporation has purchased the tramway undertaking and is making arrangements to work the system and to lay down new lines. The corporation paid £76,583 for the existing lines. It proposes to spend £40,000 on new lines, £58,500 in electric equipment, and £14,100 in widening streets on the tramway route. Blackburn Corporation has acquired the tramways, paying the company £1 per share above the market value.

Fire Department.

OFFICE OF THE FIRE COMMISSIONER,

Bristol Street, February 12, 1898.

In announcing the funerals of the victims of the fire in Merrimac street, February 5, Commissioner Russell said:

"In officially recording the deaths of District Chief J. F. Egan, Capt. J. H. Victory, Lieut. G. J. Gottwald, Hoseman P. H. Disken, Hoseman J. J. Mulhern, Hoseman W. J. Welch, on February 5, while in the execution of their duty at the fire Nos. 116 to 124 Merrimac street, it is needless for me to recall the virtues of our comrades as citizens and firemen, some of whom stood in our foremost rank; but, while we all personally and officially deeply mourn our loss, let us be truly thankful that the fire had been so far subdued as to render possible the deliverance of other comrades who would probably have met a horrible death if the flames had been still in possession of the building at the moment when the floors collapsed."

The official action taken by the Fire Commissioner during the week ending February 12, 1898, may be summarized as follows:

Two (2) horses have been purchased from Messrs. Welch & Hall, and one (1) from L. H. Brockway, at the price $135 each.

PROPOSED PROTECTION OF FANEUIL HALL AGAINST FIRE.

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT—ARCHITECTURAL DIVISION.

Communications from F. W. Chandler, E. Atkinson, Messrs Gray and French.

Boston, February 14, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: The early reports of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, and the one just made by Mr. Edward Atkinson, explain so well the present condition of Faneuil Hall, that it is needless to enlarge on this matter. The only proper means of preserving the building is to make it into a fireproof structure, after the manner of the State House. With this plan Mr. Atkinson entirely agrees, and, in fact, his letter of February 8 advises the scheme which you had already anticipated last year, when you requested this office to make drawings and estimates with the object of ensuring the safety of Faneuil Hall. The drawings were carefully made in every detail, and the present design was absolutely and accurately preserved in steel and cement.

A proper steam-heating and ventilating plant was also designed to serve the entire building, and a refrigerating plant to serve the markets. The estimate to accomplish all this was about $125,000, which seems large, and doubtless this sum could be reduced if actual bids in competition were asked for. Any other scheme must be considered as a makeshift to serve only until the complete reconstruction of the building is begun, and its cost would be an absolute loss at this point.

The lesser outlay for the makeshift will doubtless be considered the most expedient in consideration of existing rentals, etc. The greatest danger from fire must come from the present occupancy of the basement and first story. The best way to protect these two stories would be, after having them vacated, to strip off all the dangerous varnished sheathing, especially on ceilings, and any wooden lath and plaster work, and relath with metal lathings and plaster after the manner of the protection of mill construction, so that there shall be no air space anywhere with any of its sides of inflammable material. To this should be added on both ceilings the system of automatic sprinklers. If the market cannot be vacated, there seems to be no other way than to rely on the sprinklers alone, though how far this method would be efficacious in arresting fire started with such good material to feed on, as greasy planks, sawdust, and varnished stall-walls and ceilings, I am not prepared to say, though I doubt if the system could ever be subjected to a severer test.

In Faneuil Hall itself there is a very dangerous air space directly over the markets, under the whole length of steps rising from the main floor on both sides of the hall, and all the window jambs are of boxed-up wooden panel work. In all these spaces there is probably no pretence at a fire-stop, and in case of fire these concealed wooden flues would in a few moments conduct the flames to the roof. It is of the utmost importance to have built in fire-stops at once, through the thickness of this floor as well as of those above, where these rest at the walls, and perhaps on the first floor over its supporting iron columns. These stops so close up the spaces forming combustible flues that a fire in one story must burn its way through the floor itself if it reaches the story above. In addition to the wooden trusses, there is a great amount of the most inflammable construction in the roof. All the upper windows have very deep boxed-up jambs of panelled boards that would burn like tinder. There are also piles of boards stored here, and rubbish, all of which should be at once removed. Every precaution must be taken to prevent fire reaching the roof, for if it should here get beyond control, nothing can save the building.

The principal source of danger from fire above the markets is in the use of gas for heating the entire floor used by the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. I strongly advise removing every gaspipe from the building, not only to guard against danger of leakage and possible explosion, but to remove any temptation for an employee to use it for heat or light. In place of gas, electric lighting should be installed, and a simple steam plant should be put in to furnish heat, to take the place of the present coal stoves and gas radiators. The entrance stairs to the hall are of wood, supported on wooden columns. These should be fire-stopped, but unless the whole end of the building from the market up should be made absolutely fireproof there would seem to be no gain in protection to build iron stairs resting on wooden floors, and surrounded by inflammable partition walls. The wood of the roof-trusses, as far as can be seen, appears sound, but it is not safe to rely too much on their strength, at least until they are so far uncovered as to show the condition of the ends resting on the walls, and also about the bolts that secure the iron straps. As the floor over Faneuil Hall is hung to the roof-trusses it would certainly be advisable to forbid any great number assembling on this floor, for drill or any other purpose.

The building is utterly lacking in fire-escapes. It should have galleries built on the level of the window-sills of each story, extending the length of the two sides, and connected with each other and the ground by iron stairs. This construction will undoubtedly mar the effect of the design of the building, but it should be considered simply a temporary expedient, until the proper fire-proofing of the building will allow it to be removed.

Mr. Atkinson's estimate of $3,465 is only for the fire protection of the building. It does not include fire-escapes or steam-heating plant, for which an additional $3,554 should be allowed. Both these figures would probably be modified when careful estimates can be made.

Very respectfully,
F. W. CHANDLER,
Consulting Architect.

Boston, February 8, 1898.

HIS HONOR MAYOR QUINCY.

SIR: I submit herewith a report by engineers of high repute, skilled in the prevention of loss by fire, upon the present condition of Faneuil Hall. I fully concur in all that they have said. I am of opinion that while the danger of loss in this building may be diminished, yet in the course of not very many years the complete reconstruction of the interior building in a manner corresponding to that applied to the State House, would become not only necessary to prevent its loss by fire, but also to prevent the destruction, notably of the roof, by the gradual exhaustion of the life of the timber therein. It is not easy to obtain access to these timbers but I should recommend a most thorough inspection by a skilled architect, in order to determine how long the roof, and attic story will be safe. This survey touching the strength of the building and especially of the floor of the attic story which I assume must be suspended from roof trusses, seems to me an absolute necessity. Large numbers of men are apt to gather there at the meetings of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and from what we can learn or observe of the condition of the timber it would be very unsafe for any considerable number of men to drill or march in that roof story. How they would get out in case of fire is a problem which I would not undertake to solve, the fire-escapes now upon the building being a worse than useless fraud upon the city from the time they were put up down to the present time.

I venture to make some additional suggestions in this matter which are placed at your discretion for private or public use.

Very respectfully and truly yours,
EDWARD ATKINSON.

BOSTON MANUFACTURERS MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

31 Milk Street,

Boston February 7, 1898.

EDWARD ATKINSON, President.

SIR: At the request of His Honor the Mayor, transmitted through you, we have made a preliminary inspection of the Faneuil Hall property, and our preliminary report is as follows:

The occupancy of the building is well known, and no description will be needed in that respect. The occupancy of the first story and basement is such that it will always be a menace to the safety of the property. We would state, however, that the general order in the first story and basement is apparently much better than it was at the time of a former inspection made, at your request, by Messrs. Woodbury and Gray of this office.

Another fault in the occupancy which was criticised in the former report is still a subject of criticism, that is the occupancy of one of the anterooms of the hall. This room was formerly occupied as a kitchen. Since the former report a portion of the equipment has been removed, but still enough remains here to make this room the possible starting point of a fire which in all probability would destroy the whole building. The room at present is used for heating water, storage of coal, supplies, etc. There is a great deal of waste paper here, and the general order in this room is poor.

Another bad feature about this building is the attic over the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company's rooms. This attic contains a great deal of lumber in the trusses, etc. The trusses also support the floor over the main hall; and as this part of the building would in case of a fire be inaccessible to hose streams the trusses might become weakened in a short time so as to let the entire upper part of the building fall through to the basement.

These features of construction with the combustible occupancy of the lower stories make the total destruction of the building a probable consequence if a fire ever attains a fair start.

The so-called fire-escapes now upon the building would, in our opinion, be useless in time of need. No material improvements in the construction appear feasible short of the complete overhauling of the entire inside of the building.

The following recommendations are submitted with the idea of doing at once all that can be done at moderate cost to protect the building under the present conditions.

First. Provide automatic sprinklers throughout every part of the building, including the blind attics. This would require about seven hundred heads. Those in the first story and basement could be on a wet system. Those in the rest of the building would probably have to be arranged on an air system, as the upper rooms are not regularly heated.

The supply for the sprinklers should be taken from both the high and low services. The low-service pipes run all around the building, but some moderate extension of the high-service mains toward the hall would be necessary to make the high service available here. These two systems should be arranged with check-valves so that the water of both would automatically reach the heads, thus giving two independent sources of supply.

If it is decided that the sprinkler equipment shall be put in, we can furnish, after further study, complete plans.

Second. All existing openings in the partitions between stories should be thoroughly "fire-stopped," so that a fire in one room would have to burn its way through a ceiling or a floor before it could reach any other part of the building.

Third. Every bit of unused material, rubbish, etc., in every part of the building should be removed. Such improvement is especially needed in the attic.

Fourth. The building is now heated by coal and gas stoves, which must be considered as containing many possibilities of starting a fire not found in a steam-heating plant. It is therefore recommended that a steam-heating plant be provided.

ESTIMATED COST OF THE ABOVE IMPROVEMENTS.

About 700 sprinklers.....	$1,750
Dry pipe valve, air pump, etc.....	400
Outside pipe connections, valves, checks, etc.....	250
Fire-stopping	750
	$3,150
Ten per cent for contingencies.....	315
	$3,465

Fifth. The present faulty fire-escapes should be replaced by others that are entirely reliable. A small iron stairway, with a landing at each story, is probably the best thing for this purpose.

The estimates have not been made to include the cost of a complete steam-heating plant or of new fire-escapes, as these improvements, while very desirable, and in the case of the fire-escapes very necessary for the safety of life, are not a part of the fire protection, and would require considerable further study before a reasonable estimate could be made.

Respectfully submitted,

J. P. GRAY,

Vice-President and Engineer.

E. V. FRENCH,

Inspector and Engineer.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In accordance with the request of the Common Council, dated January 20, and received through you at this office January 26, the Boston Transit Commission submits a copy of a report made to it by Chief Engineer of the progress of the work with relation to the East Boston tunnel, and also of a communication transmitted to the Legislature January 27.

Boston Transit Commission,

By GEORGE G. CROCKER, Chairman.

PROGRESS ON STUDY FOR EAST BOSTON TUNNEL.

20 Beacon street, February 4, 1898.

TO THE BOSTON TRANSIT COMMISSION.

GENTLEMEN: Two parties have been in the field since the latter part of last December making surveys near the shore in East Boston and Boston proper on parts of the proposed routes, of which correct plans do not exist. Additional borings have been made in East Boston and under the harbor.

A somewhat hastily prepared estimate of cost was made September 12, 1895. This plan contemplated one inclined approach to permit the surface cars to enter and leave the tunnel in Hanover street, near Prince street, and another in East Boston at Maverick square. According to the Act of 1897, however, the termination of the tunnel and approach near Prince street is not permissible, but the subway must be continued so as to connect with the present subway, thereby adding 2,000 feet of structure to the tunnel contemplated in the estimate of 1895, and involving much additional expenditure.

The following routes are under consideration, and a first draft of the estimate of cost for each of these lines has been made. All of these routes connect with the present subway not far from Scollay square in Boston, and have a terminus in Maverick square, East Boston.

The next step is to select from these one route which seems on the whole to be the most advantageous in point of economy, directness and convenience of users. When this route has been selected, additional borings will be made and a more careful study made of the sewers, pipes, foundations of buildings and other features along the route which will affect the design and cost. All of these plans contemplate a double track subway (similar to that now under Cornhill), from the subway already existing to points not far from the harbor line. The part under the harbor will, according to the design under contemplation, consist of two single tubes. Each of the tubes is to be wide enough to accommodate a single line of surface or elevated cars of the ordinary size and admit of a narrow path on each side, which will allow passengers to walk in case the cars should be stopped for any reason. Each of the plans contemplates three new stations; one near Atlantic avenue and two others between Atlantic avenue and Washington street.

According to the first draft of these estimates the least expensive route will cost about three and three-fourths million dollars, and the most expensive about four million one hundred thousand dollars.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed.) H. A. CARSON, Chief Engineer.

DESCRIPTION OF ROUTES.

Route No. 1—Hanover street to Battery street, through Battery street to near the head-house on the Boston side of the North Ferry and under the harbor and private land in a direct line to Maverick square.

Route No. 2—Hanover street to Battery street, through Battery street to near the head-house on the Boston side of the North Ferry, passing across the harbor nearly due east to the lower part of Lewis street, and thence in that street.

Route No. 3—Hanover street to Fleet street, under Fleet street, Eastern avenue, to South Ferry head-house on Boston side, and under Lewis street, East Boston.

Route No. 4—Hanover street to Board alley, under private property, North street, Eastern avenue, to South Ferry head-house on Boston side, and under Lewis street, East Boston.

Route No. 5—Hanover, Blackstone and Clinton streets, and Lewis street, East Boston.

Route No. 6—Hanover street to Battery street, through Battery street to near the head-house on the Boston side of the North Ferry, passing northeasterly to near the head-house on the East Boston side of the ferry, and thence in Border and Sumner streets.

Route No. 7—Hanover street to Fleet street, under Fleet street, thence under private property and harbor in a direct line to Maverick square.

Route No. 8—Hanover street to Board alley, private property, North street to Fleet street, thence under private property in a direct line to Maverick square.

Route No. 9—In Friend street and Dock square (two single track branches) to Faneuil Hall, thence in South Market street to Atlantic avenue, and under Lewis street on the East Boston side.

All are indicated on the accompanying plan.

[For the report of the Transit Commission to the General Court, which is appended to the above, see THE CITY RECORD, page 107.]

MUNICIPAL CONCERTS.

The custom of providing free band concerts during the summer months, in their public parks, is now quite common in many municipalities in Great Britain. In certain large towns, e. g., Liverpool, Manchester and Leeds, the corporation maintains popular organ concerts to which the public is admitted at a nominal fee.

The following statements regarding municipal concerts in London and Glasgow are derived from official sources:

"Prior to the passing of the London Council (General Powers) Act, 1890, there was no power in the Council to provide music at any of their places if they had to make an expenditure in connection with the subject; but in the year 1890 they obtained the necessary power, and ever since music has been provided during the summer season at some of the parks and open spaces. In 1893 a further power was obtained, which enabled the Council not only to supply music at places under their control, but also at other public resorts within the county of London.

"At the time of the passing of the Act of 1890 there were only three band-stands, viz.: One at Finsbury park, erected by the late Metropolitan Board, and one erected by H. M. Office of Works at Victoria and Battersea parks, respectively. At the present date (1892) there are permanent band-stands at twenty-two different places, and, in addition, there are temporary stands of a more or less permanent nature at thirteen other places, where performances are given in the summer months. In exercise of their powers under the Act of 1893, the Council has supplied bands to play at some ten parks and recreation grounds, which are not under the Council's control.

"A list of the days and hours of band performances is printed annually, and sold to the public for 1d., and notification is duly made to the various newspapers. The season for band-playing usually consists of three months, between May and August.

"In addition to the bands, which are composed of first-class musicians, drawn from the best London orchestras by the Council, a number of volunteer and other bands are regularly engaged each year; all, however, having to receive the approval of the Council's musical adviser before being allowed to play, even gratuitously, at places under the Council's control, the provision of bands being looked upon to a great extent from an educational as well as from a merely amusing point of view."

The maintenance of free band concerts within the jurisdiction of the London County Council is under the general supervision of the Park Committee of the Council. Detailed arrangements for the concerts are in the hands of the Park Committee's chief officer, subject to the approval of the Band's Sub-committee. The Council voted the sum of £7,800 for music during the season 1897.

The Chief Officer's apportionment of the above-mentioned sum, as reported by him to the Band's Sub-committee, is given below.

The total cost of the arrangements is estimated at £7,395, the details of which are as follows:

Wages of Council's bondsmen, including librarian, attendants and wages at and costs of dress rehearsal	£3,580
Musical Adviser	140
Omnibuses for band	350
Uniforms for band	150
Music	50
Hired bands	2,530
National Sunday League	400
Peckham-Rye Sunday Band Association	100
Subsidized bands (Hampstead)	40
Hire of practice room	15
Repairs of instruments, etc.	20
Purchase of stands, etc.	20
Total	£7,395

Leaving £405 for contingencies and incidentals.

It would appear that during the summer of 1897, 798 band performances were given at forty-four different places. This year the band season will begin on May 12, and end on August 12, and then on Saturdays and Sundays only until September 5. The times of playing are between 5.30 to 8.30 P.M., until July and August, when the time is altered gradually from 5.30 to 4.15 P.M. In a few cases, also, band concerts are given from 1 to 2, 6 to 9 and 8 to 10 P.M., and there are extra performances on bank holidays.

The arrangements made call for concerts at various places to the number of five on Monday, three on Tuesday, seven on Wednesday, eighteen on Thursday, two on Friday, twelve on Saturday and fifteen on Sunday, during the season.

The following extract is taken from "Glasgow: Its Municipal Organization and Administration." Glasgow, 1896:

Popular music is at the present day provided by municipal enterprise for the people on quite a lavish scale. The corporation seeks not to interfere with the catering of the numerous organizations which, self-supporting and as a commercial speculation, provide music of various grades, for the different degrees of musical culture and appreciation in the city. They do not oppose the music hall at one end nor the orchestral concert at the other; but they find a vast mass of people living gray and sunless lives under our gray skies, and to these they seek to offer some relief from the monotony of their toil, and some of the inspiritment derivable from musical performances. So when the winter days are short and cheerless, the Magistrates and Council provide, in comfortable halls, Saturday afternoon concerts for the people; and in the long summer evenings bands enliven in turn every park of the city.

The beginning of these musical entertainments was humble and unpretentious; but they have grown to a place of no mean importance in the social fabric. Till quite recently Glasgow had among its officials a city organist; and about 1879 he, Mr. H. A. Lambeth, began giving Saturday afternoon organ recitals, in the City Hall, free during the winter season, under the auspices of the Bazaar Committee, which were attended by crowded audiences. About 1882 greater variety was introduced into these entertainments, and in the end regular concerts of popular vocal and instrumental music, interspersed with elocutionary readings, etc., were provided for the vast audience, who paid one penny for admission to the area, and threepence for the balconies. Since 1893 the National Halls, in the Gorbals, have been hired for Saturday afternoon concerts for the working population of the south side, and under the same management as the City Hall these became equally popular and successful.

The provision of these entertainments entails no loss on the part of the corporation; for, after paying all expenses, there generally remains a sufficient balance to form a moderate rent for the halls. It is interesting to note that the increasing experience of the corporation concerts has been attended with a remarkable development of true musical taste and appreciation, for while the concerts have increased in variety, even more distinctly they have risen in ambition of programme and quality of execution. The penny audiences have become half-crown critics.

The open-air performances of bands in the public parks, and in open squares, etc., which take place from May till the end of August, yearly, began in a similar tentative and experimental manner. They are under charge of the Parks Committee, who have, however, no statutory powers to provide and pay for such entertainments. At first, about the year 1873, only a few performances were given, principally by local volunteer bands, in the principal parks, and the expenditure in the form of actual outlay and gratuities to performers was very modest. But the demand for such performances increased; the appreciation of public music grew apace, and the service was organized on a scale adequate to the requirements of the city. Now varied performances are given almost nightly in one or other of the parks, and on Saturdays in them all; and during the season bands of the highest reputation are occasionally brought from London and other centres. The support given to band music has had a marked influence on the quality of the local volunteer and other bands, and the Parks Committee expend nearly £2,000 yearly in providing music, which is highly appreciated by vast crowds amid the pleasant surroundings of the parks and botanic gardens, and the various open spaces and pleasure grounds of Glasgow.

GLASGOW.

Population, 715,579; Rateable Value, £4,531,000; Area, 12,311 Acres.

Glasgow has led in several departments of municipal development, and its communal services to-day touch the interest and affect the well-being of a greater number of citizens than do similar institutions in other cities.

The Glasgow corporation has carried out bolder schemes and undertaken greater and newer enterprises than any other public body. The vast improvement scheme, which began in 1866, has revolutionized the physical and moral condition of the people. Beginning with the clearance of the most insanitary areas in the most densely crowded centres of the city, the Improvement Trust constructed wide streets where congested courts formerly stood; it presented the city with a magnificent park; it set an example twenty-five years ago in the erection of municipal lodging-houses on a large scale; it has carried out great building schemes. While the policy of demolition and reconstruction was going on under the Improvement Trust, the Health Department adopted an admirable system of sanitary vigilance and beneficent coercion, which has all tended to improve the health and social condition of the people. The introduction of water supply from Loch Katrine was also of incalculable benefit.

Special Communications.COMMUNICATION FROM THE MAYOR TO HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS

Circular No. 34.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

TO THE HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS:

GENTLEMEN: Your attention is called to the provisions of Chapter 320 of the Acts of 1889, providing that "to meet the liabilities of the several departments incurred in the carrying on of the work entrusted to them, until the City Government shall otherwise order, expenditures may be made, and liabilities may be incurred," not exceeding "one-third the entire amount appropriated for the department the previous year." As there is likely, owing in part to pending legislation at the State House, to be some further delay in making the appropriations for the several departments for the current financial year, your attention is called to this limitation, and you are further informed that, as the aggregate amount to be appropriated for all of the departments for the current year is only about equal to the aggregate expenditure of the departments for the past financial year, the rate of expenditure of your department must not exceed, unless by express authority from me, its rate of expenditure during the last financial year. In short, the financial situation of the city does not permit the incurring of any expenditures by any department upon the assumption that such department will receive a larger appropriation than its total expenditure, including both appropriations and transfers, for the last financial year.

Please see that this direction is strictly complied with, and that no expenditures are incurred or contracts made in excess of the above-named rate of expenditure until such time as the appropriations for the several departments are made.

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

February 21, 1898.

The forces of both of these divisions have been engaged for the past two weeks in clearing the streets of dangerous wires that have remained since the storm, also in inspecting new work performed by the several companies in order to see that the construction was in such a manner as to prevent contact with electric light and power wires.

The Superintendent submitted a copy of the instructions which he had given to Professor Walsh of the East Boston Gymnasium regarding the proposed class on Saturday evenings for advanced work in athletics, which had been authorized by the Board.

The Superintendent reported that the appropriation for labelling trees in the park system had been well and judiciously expended by the Woman's Education Association, and recommended a further appropriation of $100 for the extension of the work, the subsequent care of the tree labels to be undertaken by the Department. The Superintendent's recommendation was adopted, and the Secretary was directed to notify the Woman's Education Association accordingly.

The Superintendent reported that Holbrook, Cabot & Daly will furnish as much filling as may be desired by the Board for filling Billings Field playground, at the rate for which they offered to deliver 15,000 cubic yards, and the Superintendent was authorized to accept said proposal for an amount not exceeding $2,000.

The following is an abstract of the records of the meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held January 24, 1898:

A hearing was given to persons interested in the question of tree-cutting in the park system. A petition was presented by Mr. W. Henry Winslow, asking that in matters relating to the removal of trees and shrubbery, and the substitution of costly artificial, for natural, features in the parks, the Board should co-operate with certain gentlemen from a list of names that the petitioners propose to offer and allow these gentlemen to share the responsibility in these matters with the Commissioners.

Several gentlemen spoke on the question and the Board took the matter under advisement.

The Superintendent reported with reference to the order of the Common Council, requesting the Board to lay out a base-ball field in Dorchester Park, that there is no cleared space of sufficient size which could be made into a ball-ground. The only open area is too small, is close to Adams street, and has steep grades, and would have to be filled at a cost of about $3,300 to make it available for playground purposes.

Voted, That the vote of this Board of June 29, 1894, to pay Henry H. Reuter the sum of $1,000 towards the cost of the wall built by him on the line of Leverett Park on certain conditions, be rescinded, because of his failure to comply with said conditions, and that the special draft therefor be withdrawn from the City Auditor.

Voted, That whereas by an Act of this Board passed June 9, 1897 a parcel of land and flats belonging to Dudley A. Dorr, Trustee under the will of Augustus Russ, containing about 1,242,100 square feet situate in that part of Old Harbor, so-called, which adjoins the location of the Old Colony Railroad, was taken for a public park as appears by said Act, there be awarded and paid to the said Dudley A. Dorr, Trustee, the sum of $58,000 upon his proving title thereto and giving a deed or release for the same, subject to taxes for 1897; also an acquittance and discharge of all damages, cost and expenses in consequence of said taking, satisfactory to the City Solicitor, and that the Chairman sign a request on the City Auditor for a special draft in favor of said payment; said amount to be charged to the appropriation for Strandway from Marine Park, west.

Voted, That the offers of William J. Hurd and Martha M. Cole to purchase two parcels of land situated on the north-easterly side of Seaver street, adjoining Franklin Park, containing respectively 3,319 square feet and 2,038 square feet, at sixty-two and a half cents per square foot, and give agreements to hold their remaining lands within 100 feet from Seaver street, subject to the usual park way restrictions, except that the reserved space shall be twenty instead of twenty-five feet, be accepted, and that the Law Department be requested to prepare the papers to transfer said land in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 441 of the Acts of 1896.

street Home, asking that sloyd instruction be introduced into the schools at the home.

Referred to Committee on Manual Training.

The Chair read the following:

Boston, February 14, 1898.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF THE CITY OF BOSTON:

At a recent meeting of the East Boston Citizens' Trade Association, a committee of said association styled a "Committee on Schools and School-houses in East Boston," which said committee had been previously appointed, made a report to said association (a copy of which report being herewith enclosed) upon a matter which had been duly referred to said committee by vote of said association. By vote of said association, the said report having been duly accepted, the said committee was directed to send a copy of said report to the School Committee of the City of Boston. In accordance with said vote, I send herewith a copy of said report.

Yours respectfully,

J. H. BARNES, JR.,

Chairman of said Committee, and for and in behalf thereof.

EAST BOSTON CITIZENS' TRADE ASSOCIATION,

East Boston, December 21, 1897.

The Committee on Schools and School-houses in East Boston, to which was referred the matter of the "Congested condition of the schools in East Boston," begs leave to report that it has investigated the subject referred to it, and finds that in the Emerson and Chapman School Districts in East Boston, the accommodations of the schools are wholly inadequate for the needs of the districts. This results:

First. In overcrowded school-rooms and an excessive number of pupils for each teacher.

Second. In impeding the use of class-rooms, of halls and other portions of the school-buildings not designed or intended to be so used, and not proper for such use.

Third. In the leasing at great expense to the City of Boston of rooms in other buildings remote from the school-buildings themselves, and not intended or adapted to school purposes.

Fourth. In the actual turning away from the schools of numberless children of school age, who are thus deprived of the right of a full education, to which they, in common with all other children in the City of Boston, are entitled.

The Committee recommends that a copy of this report be sent to the School Committee of the City of Boston, with an urgent appeal to that Committee in the name of this association, to take immediate action, so that this wrong and deplorable condition of the schools in East Boston may be remedied.

J. H. BARNES, JR.,

E. M. MCPHERSON,

JAMES A. COCHRAN,

A. DUDLEY BAGLEY,

COLIN D. CAMERON,

Committee.

Referred to the Committee on School-houses.

The Chair read a petition from Jane M. Shaw and several hundred other citizens of Boston and residents of Ward 25, praying for suitable school facilities for the children. "We refer to the Webster school-house on Webster avenue and to the Winship school-house on Dighton place. Both of these houses have been repeatedly objected to by the Board of Health, and have been admitted by representatives of the School Board to be unfit for use. The former is located in a private way uncared for by the city, and both are faulty in their sanitary arrangements, and are overcrowded. We respectfully ask for an early hearing."

On motion of Mrs. Fifield, for the Committee on Manual Training, it was Ordered (1), That the Committee on School-houses be requested to fit up one of the rooms in the Bowdoin School-house for a class in wood-working.

(2), That the amount of one thousand eight hundred (1,800) dollars be placed to the credit of the Mechanic Arts High School for the purchase by the Committee on School-houses, co-operating with the Committee on Manual Training, of additional equipment for the metal-working department.

(3), That the Committee on School-houses be requested to consider, at as early a date as possible, the selection of an architect for the completion of the Mechanic Arts High School Building, and to report an order appropriating a sufficient sum for the work from the amount granted in the School Committee under Chapter 408 of the Acts of 1895, as amended by Chapter 442 of the Acts of 1897.

Referred to Committee on School-houses.

Mr. Courtney offered the following:

Ordered, That the Committee on School-houses be requested to report the name of an architect for a new school building on Leon street, to take the place of the Ira Allen school-house.

Referred to Committee on School-houses.

THE PROPOSED NEW RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

By A. Lawrence Lowell of the School Committee.

A comprehensive measure has been introduced into the School Board for a change in the rules and regulations, so as to make the machinery of school administration more effective and more in accordance with the needs of the time. Any one who is familiar with the organization of the school system is aware that it has become antiquated. The forms and methods of procedure adapted to a small community are still in use, although they have long ceased to be capable of serving effectively the needs of the vast school system of to-day. The existing organization virtually places the administration of the schools largely in the hands of sub-committees of the School Board. Such an arrangement is, of course, utterly inadequate to cope with the highly technical problem of modern education, and results, not unnaturally, in a great deal of diversity of principle and practice in the management of the different schools. The professional officers, on the other hand, whose knowledge and experience ought to be of the highest value, are in a position in which they can, indeed, exercise a good deal of indirect influence, but where they can neither guide nor control the administration of the schools. Except for the examination of candidates for teachers, and granting certificates of capacity, their direct power was until a year ago extremely small. In June last a change was made in the rules so as to provide that when any vacancies occurred in the teaching force, the Board of Supervisors should select and recommend a candidate to the appropriate sub-committee of the School Board. But this, although a decided step in the right direction, reaches only a very small part of the defects of the present system. In regard to the indirect power of the professional officers, it may be noted, that even the Superintendent, who is supposed to be at the head of the system, has no right to speak at the meetings of the School Board, except when a special vote is passed permitting some member to address a question to him.

The existing system has two bad features. It paralyzes the usefulness of the professional officers of the School Board, and at the same time prevents the members of the Board from taking a broad, general view of the needs of the schools by confusing them and taking up their time with an enormous mass of details. It is certainly clear that this relation ought to be changed, and that the executive management and administrative details ought to be placed in the hands of the professional officers, while the control and direction of general policy is reserved to the School Board, giving it at the same time the utmost benefit from the experience of its professional officers and teaching force. It is with the view of bringing about such a result that the new rules have been introduced.

The first great change they will bring about, if adopted, is to take away the executive powers of the sub-committees which have hitherto had charge of the schools in the different sections of the city, and of the various classes in special subjects, and transfer those powers to the Superintendent; so that the administration of the details in education will be vested in him. On the educational side, therefore, the whole executive authority will be placed primarily in the hands of the Superintendent, the committees on this subject having only power to inspect, consider and report. Executive matters of secondary importance, such as giving directions to the various officers of the schools not inconsistent with the regulations of the schools and the orders of the Board, or appointing temporary teachers for a period not exceeding three months, he can perform on his own responsibility.

In matters of greater consequence, it would seem wise, while leaving the initiative to the Superintendent, to require confirmation of this action by the School Board. This has the advantage of putting a certain check upon him, and, at the same time, of relieving him from the pressure and criticism to which he would be constantly subjected if he acted on his sole uncontrolled authority. As the Statutes stand at the present day, there are indeed several functions which the Board could not delegate to him without reserving to itself a power of ratification. Moreover such a ratification tends to produce harmony between him and the Board, and relieve him from factious criticism by making the Board jointly responsible for his acts. By the new rules, therefore, the Superintendent is given the power to appoint, transfer and remove teachers subject to confirmation in each case by the Board. It is provided, also, that no text-book shall be adopted, and no changes in the course of study or in the regulations of the schools shall be made until they have been referred to him for consideration and report.

The powers thus conferred upon the Superintendent are to be used by him subject to a direct responsibility to the School Board. The members can require him to explain and justify his actions in the management of the schools, and at the same time he is given an opportunity to persuade them to adopt the measures which he considers important for the management of the schools. For this purpose it is provided that he shall have a right to be present at all the meetings of the School Committee, and to take part in the debates with the same freedom as any member of the Board; and on the other hand, that the members of the Board shall have a right to ask him any questions relating to the administration of the schools. As these questions, however, may bring in delicate or personal matters, it is provided that they shall be asked only in executive session, that is, in a session to which the public are not admitted.

So far, then, as the Superintendent is concerned, the new rules are intended to place all minor executive matters in his hands, and to give him the initiative in affairs of greater importance, subject to the control of the School Board. They are intended also, to make him strictly responsible to that body, and to make his relations with it as close and confidential as possible.

The Superintendent cannot, of course, discharge all these functions in person. He must have additional eyes and hands for the work, and these it is proposed to furnish by means of the Supervisors. In addition to the authority to hold examinations, which is somewhat in the nature of a judicial power, the Supervisors are expected to act as the staff or cabinet officers of the Superintendent. He may delegate to them, subject to his own responsibility for their action, any of his powers that he may see fit, except, of course, such purely personal powers as, for example, his right to be present at the meetings of the Board, and to appoint and remove teachers.

To some extent there exists already a separation between the educational and material sides of school management, and this it is intended to reinforce,—the matters of school-houses, supplies, accounts, etc., being entrusted to a special set of committees of administrative officers. The new rules provide for a Business Manager, who is to take charge of the construction, alteration and repair of school-houses whenever a special architect is not employed. He is given a good deal of authority, which he must exercise subject to the general control of the Committee on School-houses and the full Board. It may be remarked in passing, that the School Committee as a whole has delegated power too freely to the Committee on School-houses, and has not retained in its own hands as much control over the action of that committee as would perhaps have been wise. Whether the institution of a Business Manager will ever go into effect, may be considered very doubtful in view of the present state of legislation.

The Statutes provide that the School Board may order any repairs made on the school-houses, but a difference of opinion has existed for some time between the Mayor and the School Committee on the question whether this does or does not authorize the School Committee to make the repairs as well as order them. The condition has certainly been a very unfortunate one, for it has made it impossible for the repairs to be controlled and directed either from the City Hall or from Mason street, and has thereby made it impossible to fix the responsibility for the work done. Until the ambiguity is cleared up it will probably be impossible to bring about a thoroughly satisfactory condition of affairs. The question of the appointment of a Business Manager by the Board must depend upon the question where the authority to make repairs is ultimately vested by the Legislature.

Another new institution, and one which promises well is a School Faculty. Not only has the School Committee been unable hitherto to obtain the full benefit of the experience of the professional officers of the Board, but it has been impossible, except incidentally, to get any benefit whatever from the experience of the teaching force in questions of general policy. Some years ago the Masters' Association addressed a communication to the School Board, and were informed that when their advice was wanted it would be asked for. Surely that is not a wise position to take. Teaching has now become a profession, and like all other professions should be to some extent self-directing. The members ought to have a chance to express their opinions, both for their own sake and for the assistance of the School Board in its work. Among the provisions in the new rules is one creating a School Faculty, to consist of the Superintendent, the Supervisors, the several Directors, ten members elected by the principals of schools from among their own number, and eighteen members elected by the other teachers from among their own number. This body is to meet once a month, and to it are to be submitted for consideration all changes in courses of instruction, in grades of teachers or pupils, and all new regulations about hygiene, physical training and discipline. The faculty is also given power to address any petitions or make any suggestions to the School Board. Such an institution has been suggested from various quarters for the last two or three years, and is, of course, modeled on the faculties of our colleges. Owing to the great number of teachers it cannot like a college faculty include them all, but must be a representative, and a comparatively small representative, body. The faculties of colleges have certainly worked well, and it may be hoped that similar results will come from a faculty in the schools.

The present rules and regulations of the public schools have been left untouched, except so far as was necessary to give effect to this plan. The changes in method are unquestionably radical, but they are certainly no greater than is absolutely necessary for the end in view. The time has come when a change in the old methods of procedure must be made, and it will certainly be a great advantage to have that change made by the School Board itself, which understands its own needs, and is familiar with the situation in a way that no other body in the community can possibly be.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP AND TAXATION IN GLASGOW.

It is an indubitable fact that the City Government of Glasgow is able so to manage certain of its municipal undertakings, e. g., gas supply, water supply and tramways, as to derive a profit from them. Exaggerated reports of the extent of such profits have so affected the imagination of certain uncritical American advocates of municipal ownership, that the Lord Provost of Glasgow (whose office corresponds to that of Mayor in American cities) has felt obliged to issue the following circular letter:

"The Lord Provost of Glasgow has received communications from all parts of America, desiring confirmation of a statement to the effect that the citizens of Glasgow would be free from all taxes or rates in consequence of the profits derivable from their gas, water, electric lighting and other undertakings of the government. I have accordingly been requested by the Lord Provost to inform you that this statement has no foundation in fact. There is no probability of this city being exempt from taxation.

FREE LECTURES FOR THE PEOPLE.

For several years "Free Lectures for the People" have been given in certain of the public school-houses of New York city, under the auspices of the Board of Education, which appropriated $40,000 last year for the support of such lectures. In 1896-97 nearly 427,000 persons attended the lectures, which embraced a great variety of subjects.

Stimulated by the remarkable success of Free Lecture movement in New York, the Education Department of the Twentieth Century Club has recently undertaken to provide similar lectures, by way of experiment in various parts of Boston. On January 13, 1898, the School Committee passed an order (see page 28, THE CITY RECORD), granting the use of six school-rooms, six evenings each, for a course of free lectures. "The school-rooms to be designated and subjects to be approved by the Superintendent and the Committee on School-Houses." DEBT OF LONDON.

The debt of London amounts to £38,000,000, exclusive of that part of the City Corporation's debt which does not involve payment from the rates. The County Council debt is £19,250,000, the School Board debt is nearly £9,000,000 and the debt of the Poor-Law authorities (Asylums Board, boards of guardians, school district managers, sick asylum district managers) amounts to £4,500,000. The debt of the local municipal authorities is £3,900,000; £626,606 are invested in baths and wash-houses, £165,000 in public libraries, £200,000 in cemeteries. The repayment of the debt and interest is equivalent to a uniform rate throughout London of nearly 1s. 6d. in the pound.

Messages from the Mayor.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL.

A regular meeting of the Common Council was held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 7.45 P.M., on Thursday, February 24, 1898, President Connolly in the chair.

The following messages were received:

Fence—Bennington-Street Cemetery.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 23, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Chairman of the Cemetery Commission, in reply to your order requesting that a new fence be placed around the cemetery on Bennington street, Ward 1.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Boston, February 23, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

DEAR SIR: I am in receipt of the order of the Common Council of February 17, 1898, referred to your Honor and finally referred to this Department, requesting a new fence around the cemetery on Bennington street, Ward 1, East Boston.

The present fence is in a dilapidated condition, and for several months past has been held in position by props. It is a wooden fence and entirely incongruous and out of place, and should be immediately replaced by a substantial iron fence with due regard to ornamentation and service.

Basing our estimate of expenditure on the last appropriation for the care of the older cemeteries, it would be impossible for this Department out of the funds which may be appropriated for the coming year, provided the same are substantially of the amount of last year's appropriation, to erect a fence around the Bennington-street Cemetery.

The construction of such a fence would require the expenditure of a large sum of money, as the ground has an area of one hundred and fifty-seven thousand five hundred (157,500) square feet.

This Department recognizes the need of the fence and gladly recommends the construction of the same, but feels that a special appropriation should be provided by the City Government for that purpose. The amount appropriated for the care and custody of the older cemeteries to the Board of Health last year was an amount barely sufficient to do the ordinary and necessary work for which it was appropriated. If the appropriation of this year is of substantially the same sum, the building of a fence, though in every way necessary, would be impossible.

Respectfully yours,

J. ALBERT BRACKETT,

Chairman Cemetery Commission.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

Dudley Avenue Construction.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 24, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Streets, in reply to your order requesting "an estimate of the expense of constructing Dudley avenue from South street to Washington street, Ward 23."

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, February 24, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In accordance with request contained in enclosed order of the Common Council, I beg to report that the estimated cost of macadamizing and regulating Dudley avenue, Ward 23, from Washington street to South street, is $22,000.

This is a private way thirty-three feet wide, and with no fixed grade. The above estimate is based upon a widening to forty feet, and does not include grade damages. The cost of grading and of building a bridge over the Dedham Branch of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad also is not included.

Respectfully submitted,

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

Ladder House, Norfolk Street.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 24, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Fire Commissioner, in reply to your order requesting a report on "the expediency and expense of erecting a house, and providing therefor a combination chemical and ladder truck, on Norfolk street, on the lot opposite Lauriat avenue."

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

OFFICE OF THE FIRE COMMISSIONER,

Bristol street, February 19, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: Replying to the request from the Common Council, I respectfully report that, in my opinion, a combination chemical and ladder truck would better supply the wants of Norfolk street and Lauriat avenue than an engine in the same locality; and to provide, equip and maintain it for one year would cost about thirty-six thousand nine hundred (36,900) dollars, independently of land.

Your obedient servant,

H. S. RUSSELL, Commissioner.

Referred to the Committee, when appointed.

The Sub-Committee of the Committee of Investigation and Relief reported having had a conference with Commissioner Marshall with regard to terms given drunkards. They found him very earnest in his desire to improve present conditions, but he deems legislation necessary.

By request of Mrs. Wolcott, she was excused from further service on this matter, and a special committee, consisting of Mrs. Thorndike, Mr. Sproules and Mr. Parker, was appointed to continue in charge. The same committee was requested to consider the expediency of adopting new methods of registration.

COMMERCE OF BOSTON.

The following extracts are taken from the advance sheets of the General Trade Review of the Twelfth Annual Report of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, compiled by its Secretary, Mr. Elwyn G. Preston:

The commerce of the port of Boston during 1897, both imports and exports, surpasses all previous records. The imports amounted to $85,688,149, an increase of 30 per cent.; the exports to $104,191,690, as against $101,466,212 in 1896. While these figures clearly show the magnitude of the traffic passing through this port, it is only by comparison with other ports that are striving for the control of the foreign trade of the United States, or by the use of percentages, that the success or failure of the port in competing for this traffic can be determined. The following table shows the percentage of the total foreign commerce of the United States performed by each of the leading ports for a series of years:

PORTS.	Total Imports and Exports, 1897.	Per cent. of Total U. S.	Total Imports and Exports, 1896.	Per cent. of Total Imports and Exports of United States.
New York.....	$871,287,196	47.30	$815,483,439	48.33
Boston.....	189,879,839	10.31	167,457,108	10.39
New Orleans.....	114,161,374	6.19	109,093,290	6.41
Philadelphia.....	95,448,980	5.18	82,584,162	4.90
Baltimore.....	109,738,156	5.95	91,897,836	5.44
San Francisco.....	80,651,015	4.38	76,179,129	4.51
Galveston.....	61,602,956	3.35	56,890,562	3.36
All other.....	319,605,379	17.34		2.25
Totals.....	$1,842,374,904	100.00		2.45

The above table shows that Boston leads all other ports in the ratio of increase in foreign trade during the year 1897, with the single exception of Baltimore, which shows slightly larger gains in percentage, although a smaller actual increase in value, while New York shows a marked decline.

As regards imports, the increase at Boston was wholly during the first six months of the year, $62,000,000, or seventy-two per cent.

of the total imports being received prior to July 1, the date the new tariff went into effect. In aggregate value, wool continues to hold first place, the receipts for the year amounting to $33,272,000, out of a total amount for the entire United States of $53,430,000, or over sixty-two per cent. Other principal items of import were: Sugar, $7,878,000; hides and skins (including Morocco), $7,478,000; vegetable fibres and manufactures, $5,284,000, and cotton and manufactures, $5,208,000.

Among the exports, provisions rank first, the aggregate exports amounting to $53,395,012, against $40,312,303 in 1896. The exports of breadstuffs amounted to $19,216,562, against $16,218,510 the preceding year. The wheat exports were 12,143,204 bushels, against 12,721,450 in 1896; corn, 9,464,163 bushels, against 6,136,603; oats, 5,471,275, against 2,147,637; fresh beef, 537,291 quarters, against 493,930; hay, 161,402 bales, against 50,711; butter, 3,286,337 pounds, against 3,156,741; apples, 426,539 barrels, against 747,106.

The following table compares the commerce of Boston with other principal ports of the United States since 1860 (fiscal years):

	Boston.	New York.	Philadelphia.	Baltimore.	New Orleans.	San Francisco.
1860...	$54,554,575	$371,898,585	$20,225,068	$18,786,373	$131,340,571	$19,873,937

While the number of cattle exported from Boston show a slight decrease, the port continues to hold first place, the shipments amounting to 162,620 head, out of a total of 397,891 from all ports. The percentage of loss on shipboard from all American ports for the year is reported by the Secretary of Agriculture as 0.61, while that from the port of Boston, which shipped more than 40 per cent. of the entire number, was 0.14 per cent., or about one-fourth, being the lowest mortality for shipments of this magnitude on record. The mortality on shipments of sheep from Boston was 0.61 per cent., as against 1.39 for all American ports.

The "in transit and trans-shipment" trade passing through the port of Boston amounted to $10,450,703, and was made up as follows:

Entered at the port of Boston for trans-shipment to foreign countries, principally Canada, $4,008,120.

Entered at ports on the Canadian frontier and exported to foreign countries via Boston, $6,442,583, made up as follows:

St. Albans, Vt., $2,340,548; Buffalo, N. Y., $1,645,855; Richford, Vt., $1,300,880; Duluth, Minn., $371,931; Suspension Bridge, N. Y., $340,791; Rouses Point, N. Y., $237,118; Island Pond, Vt., $186,685; Newport, Vt., $18,775.

With these additions, the total foreign commerce of the port of Boston during 1897 is shown to be $200,330,542, as compared with $177,100,073 the preceding year.

The ocean tonnage in which this vast commerce was carried shows a growth proportionate to the increased traffic. The tonnage entering and clearing in the foreign trade amounted to 3,637,497 tons, as compared with 3,457,763 in 1896, and 3,146,236 in 1895. The arrivals of vessels in the coastwise trade were 9,570, as against 9,684 in 1896 and 9,166 in 1895. The following table shows the arrivals in the coastwise and foreign trade, and the foreign clearances for the past ten years:

YEAR.	Coastwise Arrivals.	Foreign Arrivals.		Foreign Clearances.		Total Foreign Tonnage.

The steamship sailings for European ports exceeded in number that of any previous year, being 388, as against 361 in 1896 and 326 in 1895. The sailings to the single port of Liverpool make a similar record, the total being 203, or an average of four a week of steamers of the largest freight-carrying class. The increased capacity of the 203 steamers sailing from this port to Liverpool in 1897, over the Liverpool fleet of ten years ago, which aggregated 147 sailings, is made clear when the size of the vessels at the two periods is compared. The average tons of freight per ship carried by one of the leading Liverpool lines in 1897 was 4,243, as against 3,065 tons per ship in 1888, an increase of 38 per cent. This may be taken as fairly representative of the entire Boston and Liverpool service. On this basis, therefore, while the increase in the number of sailings was fifty-six, or 38 per cent., the total Liverpool tonnage increased from 450,555 in 1888 to 861,329 tons in 1897, or 91 per cent. It is not difficult, in view of this remarkable development of Liverpool tonnage, to understand the large growth of the Boston and Liverpool trade, and the commanding position Boston occupies with regard to certain important classes of exports that are largely received by Great Britain through that port.

The Internal Revenue collections for the District of Massachusetts amounted to $3,993,996, divided as follows: Spirits, $2,114,040; fermented liquors, $1,545,263; tobacco, $334,693. The total collections in 1896 amounted to $4,614,462.

The receipts of the Boston Postoffice were $2,841,795, as compared with $2,761,375 in 1896, and $2,701,363 in 1895.

The number and value of new buildings completed during the year were as follows:

	1897.	1896.
Class 1 and 2, brick and stone, 364 . .	$8,131,800	$7,991,000
Class 3, wood, 2,002,	8,603,756	5,967,343
Totals	$16,735,556	$13,958,343

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

On March 7, at their regular meeting, the Board of Aldermen unanimously confirmed the Mayor's appointment of Patrick A. Collins and Albert E. Pillsbury, as members of the commission to draft a revision or consolidation of all of the special laws relating to the city (see CITY RECORD, p. 117).

THE BOSTON DISPENSARY.

The following is an extract from the Centennial Report of the Boston Dispensary:

The Boston Dispensary was founded in 1796, eight years previous to the founding of the Massachusetts General Hospital, and sixty-eight years before that of the Boston City Hospital. It is the third institution of its kind in the country, having been preceded by the dispensaries of Philadelphia and New York, which were founded respectively in 1786 and 1790.

During the past year 28,865 patients have been attended, as follows:

	Men.	Women.	Children.	Total.
Medical Department . .	3,058	5,020	4,775	12,853

These figures are of interest as compared with those of earlier days. In 1867 there were fourteen physicians, four surgeons, eight district physicians and one superintendent. This staff attended 14,446 patients in the house and 9,462 in the districts, giving a total of 23,908 patients attended in that year. The number of physicians, including the superintendent and district physicians, now in attendance, is seventy-one, and 44,323 patients were attended during the year. Probably the number of patients actually seen is considerably less than this, as the same patient oftentimes is seen in several different services, and appears as a new case in each.

In this century of active life the Dispensary has had an honored history, one in which managers, physicians and friends may well take pride. The amount of suffering alleviated among the needy poor is incalculable. In the entire time since 1796, 1,378,845 cases have been attended. Since 1856 the number is 1,259,682.

Bay Windows—Huntington and Shepherd Avenues.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 28, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I return herewith, without my approval, a vote passed by your Board at its last meeting, granting permission to Agnes K. Sweeney to project two bay windows from building on southeast corner of Huntington and Shepherd avenues. The Building Commissioner reports that there are no bay windows on Huntington avenue, and I do not think it proper to approve the projection of bay windows on such an avenue as this one, where none are at present in existence. I am also informed that Shepherd avenue is only twenty feet in width, and it does not seem to me desirable to grant permits to project bay windows on such a narrow street.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 7, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I find that the information that there were no bay windows now projecting on Huntington avenue, furnished by the Building Department in a communication dated February 18, was incorrect, and as I based my refusal to approve the vote cast by your Board granting permission to Agnes K. Sweeney to project two bay windows from building on southeast corner of Huntington and Shepherd avenues upon this ground, I now desire to state to your Board, as I cannot now withdraw the veto message, that I have no objection to the passage of this permit over my veto.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The order was passed over the Mayor's veto—Yeas, 10; nays, 0.

Contract for Engine 31.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 7, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Fire Commissioner, in reply to your order requesting a report as to the cause of the delay in placing Engine 31 in commission, etc.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

OFFICE OF THE FIRE COMMISSIONER,

Bristol Street, February 23, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: Replying to the request of the Honorable Board of Aldermen, I beg leave to respectfully report that, with no intention of releasing Mr. Brooks' bondsmen from their obligations, I have extended the time for completing Fire Boat 31, in the hope of securing to the city in the shortest possible time that additional protection for which she is designed; and which, in my opinion, she at present would not at all times furnish, although not serviceable under ordinary conditions of wind and tide. And as the delay in completing her has not lessened the usual protection of our water front, inasmuch as Fire Boat 44 is in commission and at all times ready for work, it has seemed to me not only just to Mr. Brooks, who has done his utmost to bring her to perfection by his trials of three different patterns of single wheels, but also for the best interests of the city to be patient for a while longer, in order to get, if possible, a boat of small draught in every way adapted to the protection of property where shallow water renders the other boat ineffective.

Your obedient servant,

H. S. RUSSELL, Commissioner.

Placed on file.

Parade Ground.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 25, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I return herewith, without my approval, the order passed by your body providing for the publication of an advertisement for offers of "a site suitable for parade, drill and target practice for the militia belonging to the City of Boston." As a bill providing for the appointment of a State Commission to investigate the subject of providing a State rifle range for the use of the militia of Boston and surrounding cities and towns is now upon its passage through the Legislature, I do not believe that it would be proper for the city to take any action in this direction at the present time.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The order was passed over the Mayor's veto—Yeas, 12; nays, 0.

Paving Stoughton and Pleasant Streets.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 7, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Streets, in reply to your order requesting estimates of the cost of paving and regulating Stoughton and Pleasant streets, Ward 20.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, March 7, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Stoughton street, Ward 20, Pleasant street, across Columbia road, paving with granite blocks and regulating	$21,200
Pleasant street, Ward 20, Stoughton street, across Savin Hill avenue, paving with granite blocks and regulating	11,700

NOTE—These estimates do not include space occupied by car tracks.

BENJ. W. WELLS,
Superintendent of Streets.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Special Loan Appropriation.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 7, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

On January 25 I addressed a communication to your body, calling attention to the urgent necessity of making a special loan appropriation to provide for the removal of the deposit of silt and sewage in the Back Bay Fens. The work must be done at this season of the year, if at all, as it would cause too much of a nuisance to have it in progress during the summer season. There has been great complaint of the condition of the Fens, and the Park Commissioners unite with the Board of Health and the City Engineer in urging the necessity of immediate action. I trust that the appropriation asked for will be authorized at once by the City Council, as there can be no question whatever as to the necessity of doing this work immediately.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Sent down.

AFFAIRS OF TRANSIT COMMISSION.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, February 28, 1898.

TO THE BOSTON TRANSIT COMMISSION:

GENTLEMEN: I have before me a blue print of Plan No. 3,874, showing the Haymarket square property taken by your Commission, and the street-widening lines as informally agreed upon with the Street Commissioners, and I desire to notify your Commission that the City of Boston requires for street widenings, for a site for an engine house, which will require some 5,000 feet, and for a site for a public retail market, or for some other municipal use, the whole of the land bounded by Haymarket square, Canal street, Traverse street and Haverhill street, purchased by your Commission from the Boston & Maine Railroad Company, excepting so much as may be required for the purpose of constructing the subway. I understand that the area outside of the lines of the subway walls amount to 51,524 feet, and that there is also an area of 19,526 feet over the subway incline. I desire to include the latter area as well as the former, as I believe that it will be possible for the city to utilize the space over the incline profitably for some municipal building, in such a manner as not to interfere with the use of the subway. I shall be ready to consider at any time with your Board what price shall be fixed upon this land in transferring it from your Commission, for these other municipal uses.

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Communication from Law Department.

73 Tremont Street, March 2, 1898.

TO THE BOSTON TRANSIT COMMISSION:

GENTLEMEN: I have received your request for my opinion as to "whether under the Statutes of 1897, Chapter 500, it is in the power of this Commission to so build a tunnel to East Boston that it shall have an exit or exits on Hanover street, without having, or being located with reference to, a suitable connection with the subway," and I have the honor to say that, in my opinion, under the provisions of Section 17 of said Chapter 500, the Commission is granted authority to do one of two things—to construct a subway to East Boston, either from the surface at a point near Hanover street, or from any subway which it is now building. I will give you my opinion more at length as soon as I have leisure therefor.

Respectfully,

ANDREW J. BAILEY,
Corporation Counsel.

GOVERNING BOARDS IN LONDON.

There are in all about 400 public authorities at work in governing London. Besides the central authorities there are, for the purposes of local municipal and sanitary administration, 29 Vestries and one Local Board, representing as many parishes, and having a total membership of 2,603. There are 42 smaller parishes with Vestries containing 1,429 members, which control libraries, baths, cemeteries, etc., and are grouped together for sanitary and other local municipal services, electing 620 members to 12 District Boards of Works. The Commission of Sewers, which until this year was the local sanitary authority in the city, and which discharged some of the powers which are exercised elsewhere by the County Council, has now been amalgamated by the City Corporation.

There are, in connection with parish and municipal administration, 112 minor Vestries in the city. Their principal duties are those incidental to rating and registration.

There are numerous small boards of commissioners indirectly elected for the management of baths, libraries and cemeteries, although the number of such authorities is diminishing under the operation of the Local Government Act of 1894.

The total cost of London government is £12,750,000, which is equal to a rate of 7s. 6d. in the pound. The receipts from the rates amount to 71.67 per cent. Imperial grants (13.77), dues, rents and incomes from other sources making up the rest of the income. Poor-Law administration costs over £3,000,000 a year. The Vestries and District Boards spend £2,500,000 a year. The School Board expenditure amounts to nearly £2,000,000 a year. The London County Council spends over £2,000,000, and the administration of the Metropolitan Police involves an expenditure of close on £1,450,000. The expenditure of the City Corporation amounts to nearly £1,220,000, of which £470,000 comes from the rates. The maintenance of baths and wash-houses involves an expenditure of £116,000. Public libraries require about £62,000 to maintain, and about £57,000 is involved in the management of parochial cemeteries. If the expenses of the smaller boards, such as market commissioners, port sanitary authority, church wardens, visiting committees of pauper lunatic asylums, be added, the above total of £12,750,000 is reached.

REPORT OF FIRE COMMISSIONER.

The following is taken from the Annual Report of the Fire Commissioner for the year 1897-98:

Good fortune during the past year has enabled this Department to again present a satisfactory showing; and for how many years such fortune should have all credit for small fire losses I do not pretend to judge; but there must be a point at which eternal vigilance and activity, good generalship, zealous leaders and anxious followers, and an excellent and entirely successful system for receiving and transmitting alarms, together with thorough equipment and appliance for fire duty may claim at least a small share of credit for favorable results. But with all the vigilance, discipline and equipment possible, we cannot hope to long retain our present record when citizens keep hot ashes in wooden barrels, or delay in giving us alarms until after they have let a small blaze grow to an incipient conflagration through their vain efforts to perform their own fire-fighting; or while real estate owners can legally build tinder boxes in the shape of tenement houses, or leave old wooden fire-traps standing in the midst of large and valuable buildings; for some day, with bad luck and weather, we are sure to find ourselves burdened with heavy fire loss, unless our law-makers eradicate the existing evils, which may, at any time, postpone to the far future that millennium for underwriters which every fire department should strive to establish. The wooden camps pitched in some of our outskirts, as well as much of South Boston, offer a tempting harvest for fire, and cannot fail to be gathered as soon as the conditions of wind and weather are favorable, in spite of all possible firemen and fire apparatus.

The so-called fire-limit should, I think, be speedily drawn far beyond its present line, in order to bring within the restriction of the building law that territory which at present is treated as a country district, and in reality is fast becoming a terror to all firemen.

Nothing has knowingly been left undone which could increase the efficiency of this department, or make the houses more healthy, serviceable and comfortable for the men; and now a veterinary hospital is our only crying want, the old barn at present used for that purpose being the one spot in our whole outfit not suitable for the important work required of it; and I strongly recommend an additional ladder-truck for that part of our territory now covered by Engines 38, 39, on Congress street, for the reason that many large buildings have been erected in that vicinity, which, in case of need, would require nearer ladder service than at present afforded.

The fire-boat (Engine 31) has not yet been accepted, because she requires, in my opinion, some change in her engines to enable her to successfully cope with that class of fires which require speed and quick handling; and, therefore, the time for her completion has been extended to May.

The underground 12-inch pipe for the salt water system has been laid for 3,800 feet through Congress street, Post Office square and Central street, still requiring some 300 feet at a cost of about $7,500 to connect it at each end with the water where the fire-boats are expected to provide the power necessary to force water through the various hydrants to a height equal to or beyond that attained by a street engine.

Our two (2) horseless propellers have given very satisfactory proof of their ability to move speedily and handily through all conditions of streets, as well as of their power to throw extraordinary streams of water after reaching the scene of action.

No fire-alarm box has failed to properly send in the alarm to these headquarters; and, while six million five hundred thousand (6,500,000) blows have been struck on the various bells and gongs in transmitting alarms from these headquarters to the different companies, the mechanical and electrical system has worked with such exact precision that no engine or ladder has been at any time seriously at fault in responding.

I know of no case where the officers and men have not done excellent work when called upon, and trust Your Honor shares my confidence that, barring accidents and making allowance for the fallibility of man, our department will continue to deserve the good-will of our fellow-citizens, which, during the past week, has been made so apparent through the sympathy and help extended by them to the families of our six men who lost their lives while on duty at the recent fire in Merrimac street.

FIRE-ALARM BRANCH.

The efficiency of the overhead service has been improved during the past year by the construction of a new circuit in West Roxbury, with which a portion of the boxes in that district have been connected. There

Messages from the Mayor.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, Monday, March 14, 1898, at 3 P.M., Chairman Dyar presiding, and all the members present.

The following message was received:

General Estimates.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 14, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith appropriation and tax orders for the financial year 1898-99, in the same general form as last year, but with certain changes which seemed desirable, together with my recommendations for the appropriations for the several departments for the County of Suffolk, and for debt requirements for the current year, accompanied by the estimates of the several departments.

My delay in transmitting the estimates has been due to uncertainties connected with pending legislation at the State House,—particularly that relating to the finances of the School Committee and to the disposition of surplus water income. While these matters have not yet been finally settled, I do not feel warranted in holding back the estimates any longer, and I therefore send them in.

I am obliged to reserve an explanation of the recommendations, and a statement as to the general financial situation of the city in respect to meeting current expenditures, for a subsequent message, which I will send to the City Council very shortly.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the City Auditor is hereby authorized to charge to the reserved fund the amounts of all executions of courts for damages suffered by the act or neglect of any department, damages settled by any department after the approval of the Committee on Claims and the Mayor, and all court expenses of the Law Department incurred in the prosecution or defence of any case to which the city is a party.

Ordered, That the authority to issue bonds for the additional supply of water, under an order approved April 26, 1893, so far as the same has not been exercised at the date of the passage of this order, be, and hereby is, revoked; provided, however, that nothing contained in this order shall be construed to affect in any way the bonds which have already been issued under the authority of said order.

Ordered, That the income received for work done or services rendered by any department or division, for any other department, be credited to the appropriation for the department or division doing such work or rendering such services.

Condition of Private Ways.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 10, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Board of Health, in reply to your order requesting a report as to "whether or not they have authority under the statutes relating to the abatement of nuisances to take action in regard to the sanitary condition of private alleys in the city of Boston," etc.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT,

Old Court House, March 3, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: Replying to the order of the Common Council, that the Board of Health report whether or not it has authority under the statutes relating to the abatement of nuisances to take action in regard to the sanitary condition of private ways and alleys in the City of Boston, and if not, what legislation is necessary to enforce sanitary regulations in the aforesaid places, the Board of Health respectfully states that the statutes give the Board of Health authority to proceed against the abutting owners on private alleyways on account of any nuisance existing on such abutters' portion of said property.

In order to secure an abatement of such nuisances, it is necessary to proceed in the courts against each owner on account of each nuisance, and this process of securing an abatement of the nuisance is, therefore, necessarily tedious and prolonged. It is for these reasons that the Board of Health has recommended that these private alleyways be cared for by the city, and the expense assessed upon the abutters, and there is a bill now before the Legislature having this in view.

Very respectfully,

The Board of Health,

SAMUEL H. DURGIN, Chairman.

ELECTION TO VACANCY IN SCHOOL BOARD.

At a joint convention of the Board of Aldermen and of the School Committee, held in the School Committee Chamber, Mason street, on March 22, at 7.30 P.M., presided over by the Chairman of the Board of Aldermen, Alderman Dyar, J. Carlton Nichols was elected a member of the School Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Edward H. Dunn.

COST OF SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

The Committee on Supplies is entrusted by the School Committee with "exclusive authority in furnishing all materials used by the Board, its officers, or the public schools." Control of expenditures for salaries, the repair and alteration of school-buildings and the construction of new school-houses are given to other Standing Committees. The Twentieth Annual Report of the Committee on Supplies for the financial year ending January 31, 1898, has recently been issued as "School Document No. 1, 1898," from which the following statements of facts are taken:

The gross expenditures of the Committee for the year amounted to $226,777 or $11,122 less than the appropriation asked for in December, 1896. Net expenditures amounted to $224,573, a total increase of but $13,058 over the net expenditure of the previous year. Of the gross expenditures, $130,761 were for supplies and incidentals, $77,046 for fuel, $8,694 for gas and $10,275 for water.

The average number of pupils belonging to the different grades of schools was 81,638. The average cost of this department per pupil for books, supplies and incidentals was $1.57, and for fuel, gas and water was $1.18—a total cost per pupil of $2.75.

The total amount expended for books, drawing materials and stationery during the year was $72,393.36. Deducting $300.02, the income received, it leaves $72,093.34 as the net amount expended for these items, or an average of eighty-eight cents per pupil.

The Committee's summary showing of the net cost of supplies, including fuel, gas and water is as follows:

High Schools	$41,189 80
Grammar Schools	104,697 91
Primary Schools	55,016 83
Evening High and Elementary Schools	6,343 34
Evening Drawing Schools	1,411 15
Horace Mann School	1,971 68
Kindergartens	5,073 67
Manual Training Schools	9,001 65
School Committee and Officers	1,375 53

Total $226,081 56

Stock on hand Jan. 1, 1897. $24,001 78

Stock on hand Jan. 1, 1898. 22,493 92

Stock delivered, purchased previous to Jan. 1, 1897 1,507 86

Total net amount expended $224,573 70

The average cost per pupil for supplies for 5,317 pupils in the high schools was $7.75; for 37,229 grammar school pupils, $2.81; for 28,685 primary school pupils, $1.92; for 5,895 pupils in the evening high and elementary schools, $1.08; for 516 pupils in the evening high schools, $2.73; for 109 pupils in the Horace Mann school for the deaf, $18.09; and for 3,864 pupils in the kindergartens, $1.31. The cost of supplies for the manual training schools was $9,001.

The Committee states that the total number of text-books owned by the city and now in the schools, if replaced at publishers' prices, would cost about as follows:

High Schools	114,407	books at a cost of	$61,779 78
Grammar Schools	305,791	" " "	149,837 59
Primary Schools	90,882	" " "	18,176 40
Evening Schools	15,823	" " "	6,170 97

Total number, 526,903 " costing $235,964 74

The total number of books reported lost during the year was 2,291; and returned as worn out was 48,757.

In addition, 670 books were destroyed for fear of contagion, and 7,112 books were collected from the schools, having been displaced by action of the School Board.

Since the free text-book law went into effect, the schools have been supplied with 959,474 text-books. Of this number, 526,903 are still in use in the schools, and the balance, 432,571, have been either lost or returned to Mason street as worn out.

The net cost to the city for books, drawing materials and stationery for the past fourteen years, covering the time since the free text-book act went into operation, amounted to $784,199.74, an average for each year of $56,014.27. The average yearly number of pupils covering the same time was 68,521, making an average cost of eighty-two cents per pupil for these items. As a partial offset to this charge, the city has 526,903 text-books now on hand in the schools, which, at a low valuation for future school use, would be worth $100,000.

The cost for stationery and drawing materials purchased amounted to $21,883.63, a decrease as compared with the year previous of $2,748.13.

On account of the low price for paper, the discontinuance of the use of slates has not resulted in the increased expenditure that was expected when the change was made. It requires on an average for each pupil, to do an amount of work equal to that formerly done on a single slate, three paper blocks weighing each a pound. Over one hundred tons of paper are used annually for this purpose.

The public schools consumed during the year 15,327 tons of coal, as compared with 15,682 tons for the year preceding.

The average price paid for the entire year was $4.76 per ton, including housing, as compared with $4.12 paid the year preceding, making an increased expense for coal of about $10,000.

Two hundred and forty-seven cords of wood were required to start the fires in the various school-buildings during the year. This was purchased from the Overseers of the Poor, as for many years past, at a cost of $2,739.45, including sawing, splitting and housing.

The amount spent for water was $10,275.58, an increase of more than 30 per cent. over the preceding year. The cost for this item has increased about 100 per cent. within four years.

Gas and electric lighting cost $8,694.51 the past year, an increase of over 25 per cent. from the year preceding.

The total cost for fuel, gas and water the past year amounted to $96,016.29, an increase over the year previous of $13,212.20.

THE LIMITATION OF EXPENDITURES FOR SCHOOLS.

At the regular meeting of the School Committee, held Tuesday, March 22, Mr. Allen, for the Committee on Accounts, offered the following report:

It having come to the knowledge of the Committee on Accounts, that a bill is now pending in the Legislature, limiting the expenditures of the School Committee, your committee feel it their duty to recommend to the Board that a protest be made through its Committee on Legislative Matters against the passage of any bill that would prevent the School Committee from carrying out their agreement with the instructors in the public schools, as expressed in the schedule of salaries passed in the summer of 1896.

Following out the line of policy that caused the Legislature in its wisdom to fix a limit for the entire expenses of the city, it is but natural to expect that the expenditures of all departments of the city must conform in some manner to the end that the law can be complied with and at the same time not cripple any of the several departments.

This committee admit the justice of the argument that it would be impossible for the city to comply with a $9 limit, if any department of the city could legally incur expenses to an unlimited amount; yet on the other hand we believe that the citizens of Boston demand that as much of the revenue of the city should be used as may be necessary for a liberal support of the schools.

Your committee, after a careful consideration of the matter, have come to the conclusion that not less than two dollars and eighty cents ($2.80) on a thousand of the averaged assessed valuation of the City of Boston for the past five years will be needed to meet the net running expenses of the schools for the present financial year, two dollars and ninety cents ($2.90) for the financial years 1899-1900, after which three dollars ($3) at least will be required for subsequent years.

Your committee would also request to have incorporated in the bill the provision that any unexpended balance of any year be carried forward for use in subsequent years.

With this statement your committee would recommend the passage of the following order:

Ordered, That the Committee on Legislative Matters be requested to appear before the proper committee of the Legislature, and advocate the passage of a bill embodying the foregoing provisions and amounts.

The motion to lay on the table was defeated, and the order was passed.

INDEX TO THE CITY DOCUMENTS, 1834 TO 1897.

The Index to the City Documents, which has recently been printed at the Municipal Printing Office, is a republication of a former index, revised and completed to 1897. The list embraces all the numbered documents from 1834 to 1897, arranged in alphabetical and chronological order. Accompanying the Index is an appendix containing lists of miscellaneous publications of the city, such as orations, memorial volumes, etc., classified and arranged in chronological order.

Previous to 1834 very few documents were printed, and, as they were not numbered nor bound together, it would probably be impossible to make a complete collection at this time. The first Mayor's Address, which appears among the regular documents, is Samuel A. Eliot's, delivered at the inauguration of the government of 1838. The first Fourth of July Oration is Jonathan Chapman's, delivered in 1837. The Auditor's "Twenty-second Annual Report" is contained in the volume for 1834, and the list of reports is complete from that date. The Municipal Register begins with the year 1841. The Annual Report of the City Marshal was printed in 1834.

The next printed report does not appear until 1849. From that date the list is complete. Reports on the correctional and reformatory institutions are nearly complete from 1834 to the present time. The first annual report of the Superintendent of the Lunatic Hospital was printed in 1840. First among the numerous documents, relating to the introduction and distribution of water, is Loammi Baldwin's report, made in 1834. The only report of any value upon the question of water-supply, made previous to that date, was Professor Daniel Treadwell's, in 1825. Mr. Nathaniel J. Bradley's history of the water-works, printed for the use of the City Government in 1868, and Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald's supplementary history, printed in 1876, are not included among the numbered documents.

The compilation of the Index was the work of Mr. James L. Hillard, and the appendix was originally prepared by Mr. William H. Whitmore, the City Registrar. The book, which numbers 142 pages, is a very creditable production, and will be found of special value to libraries and to any one who possesses any considerable collection of the publications of the city.

BOARD OF APPORTIONMENT BILL.

SENATE BILL 62, providing for a Board of Estimate and Apportionment (see THE CITY RECORD, page 53), was favorably reported to the House of Representatives on March 15 by the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs. Section 1 of the bill reported differs from the bill originally proposed; the other sections of the bill do not differ from the provisions of the original bill. The first section of the amended bill reads:

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE FINANCES OF THE CITY OF BOSTON.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. A Board of Estimate and Apportionment is hereby established for the City of Boston, to consist of the Mayor, the Chairman of the Board of Aldermen, the President of the Common Council, who shall serve ex officio and without additional pay, and two members who shall be elected by the voters of the city at large. In the year 1898 two members of said Board shall be elected at the annual municipal election, one to serve for the term of two years, and one for the term of one year, from the first Monday of January next ensuing; and thereafter at each annual municipal election a member of said Board shall be so elected to serve for the term of two years from said day. In case of a vacancy in the elected members of said Board, through death or resignation, the Chairman of the Board of Street Commissioners of said city shall fill such vacancy for the remainder of the municipal year; and in case of a second vacancy in such elected members, the same shall be filled during the remainder of the municipal year by the Chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Sinking-Funds of said city. Each elected member of said Board shall be paid for his services at the rate of $10 for each meeting of said Board at which he is present, but not exceeding the sum of $750 in any one year.

MAYOR'S CIRCULARS.

Circulars to the heads of departments have been issued by His Honor the Mayor as follows:

March 19—Circular No. 36, relative to necessity of conforming expenditures to the appropriations recommended by the Mayor to the City Council. (See City Document 48; also THE CITY RECORD, page 167.)

March 19—Circular No. 37, relative to granting leave of absence to enable employees who vote in the Charlestown district to vote at the special election for senator on March 29, 1898.

Circular No. 36 reads as follows:

Circular No. 36.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

TO THE HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS:

GENTLEMEN: I feel it necessary to call your attention to the amount of the appropriation recommended by me for your department in the estimates just furnished to the City Council (City Document 48), and to impress upon you the absolute necessity of calculating your expenditures, so that this amount will not be exceeded. It is essential this year that each department should live within its appropriation. In some past years there has been a certain amount of surplus income available for transfer at the close of the year, and deficits in some departments have been made up in this manner; this year, however, there is absolutely no surplus income in sight available for transfer. It must therefore be understood that each department must keep strictly within its appropriation, and must conduct its work only upon such a scale as will enable it to do so. Proper calculations early in the year will save heads of departments the disagreeable necessity of taking more stringent measures at the close of the year.

The requests of the different departments have been very carefully considered in making up the estimates, and I have endeavored to treat all with as much fairness as possible within the limit established by law, of the total amount available for appropriations. Heads of the different departments must remember that, while the work under their immediate charge may seem to them of the greatest importance, the city has a large number of departments, and must so distribute its financial resources among them as to provide as well as possible for a great amount and variety of pressing work in different directions. I shall be glad to confer with heads of departments if desired as to measures to be taken by them in carrying out the above directions.

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

March 19, 1898.

New Engine House, Yarmouth Street.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 21, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

It is necessary to provide at once for the building of a new engine house, to take the place of the engine house on Dartmouth street, which is to be taken by the Boston & Providence Railroad Company in widening its road-bed, under authority of Chapter 516 of the Acts of 1896. The Fire Commissioner has already approved a parcel of land on Yarmouth street as a suitable site for the new engine house, and such parcel has been purchased by the Railroad Company for conveyance to the city as a part of the settlement of the city's claim for damages on account of the taking of the present engine house.

I recommend the passage of the accompanying order, to provide for making the settlement for this taking, and for the erection of a new engine house. It is necessary that steps toward the erection of the new engine house should be taken immediately, in order that it may be ready before the old one has to be destroyed.

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That His Honor the Mayor be and he is hereby authorized to settle, upon such terms as he may deem proper, the city's claim against the Boston & Providence Railroad Corporation for damages on account of the taking of the engine house and land connected therewith on Dartmouth street, near Harwich street, and to execute in the name and behalf of the city any deed or other instrument necessary or proper to convey to said railroad corporation the city's title to said premises; and the Fire Commissioner, with the approval of the Mayor, may purchase land for a site for a new fire-engine house and erect a new fire-engine house thereon, and the amount that shall be received in settlement of the damages for said taking is appropriated to meet the expenses incurred by said Commissioner for the purposes aforesaid.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

City Hall, March 15, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I transmit herewith an instrument executed by the War Department of the United States Government, granting permission to the City of Boston to build a sea-wall and fill a small area outside the established pier-head line in Fort Point channel, and recommend that the same be placed on file.

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Placed on file.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT REPORT.

As regards its general make-up the Report of the Executive Department, noticed on page 172, resembles the report of the Administration of the Magistrates of the City of Berlin for the year ending March 31, 1896. (Verwaltungs — Bericht des Magistrats zu Berlin für die Zeit vom 1 April, 1895, bis 31 März, 1896), and "The City of Glasgow Municipal and Other Public Accounts, 1896-97," which are likewise made up of departmental reports (originally issued separately) bound up together.

The Glasgow report numbers 776 pages oblong quarto, and is devoted to accounts simply, though each of its constituent report has its own pagination. The report as a whole is paged continuously. The Berlin report which embraces forty-six documents is remarkable for the condensation of statement which characterizes its text, tables and accounts, though the Berlin document resembles the Boston report in not being paged continuously, it differs from the latter inasmuch as it is furnished with a comprehensive and convenient index of the subject matter contained in its 640 quarto pages.

London is peculiarly situated in regard to its police. The city maintains a municipal police force, but the rest of London forms part of a great metropolitan province, with a population of about 6,000,000, which is policed under the direct authority of the Home Office.

BOSTON FIRE-ALARM TELEGRAPH.

Special Notice.

The fact that an alarm-box is located near their residence, and where the key is kept, should be known to all persons; also the simple manner of giving an alarm in case of fire. The Fire Commissioner recommends to all persons who may see this notice that they make the necessary inquiries to enable them in case of need either to get the key and give an alarm or to direct others to do so. Time saved in this way may sometimes prevent a conflagration.

In case of fire follow these Directions.

Go to the nearest box to the fire.

A sign over each box gives location of keys.

Open the box—pull the hook all the way down once and let go.

Wait one full minute for the sound of the bells.

Listen for the working of the machinery in box. If you do not hear it, pull again.

If then you hear no sound, go to the next nearest box.

Repeat the same there; but do not touch any other box if the nearest one gives the alarm. If it be a keyless door, turn handle to right and open door; when open, pull hook as in other boxes.

After giving the alarm remain a while, if possible, by the box, so as to direct the firemen to the fire.

SECOND ALARMS.—No person will give alarms for the same fire (after the first alarm has been given), without an order from the Chief, or the officer in command, and the person so ordered will be sure to go to the same box from which the first alarm was given, and report the same to the Chief. If, however, a fire breaks out while another is burning, in a different section of the city, a second alarm can be given by a Police Officer without waiting for an order from a Department Official.

Cautions to Persons Holding Signal Keys.

1. Never open the box or touch the hook except in case of fire.
2. Never give an alarm for a fire seen at a distance.
3. Be reasonably sure there is a fire before giving an alarm.
4. Be sure your box is locked before leaving it.
5. Never let the key go out of your possession, except to some responsible person to give an alarm of fire, and be sure the key is returned.

If you remove from your house or place of business return the key to the Fire Commissioner's Office without delay.

HOMES AND CLUBS FOR WORKING WOMEN.

The Bulletin of the Department of Labor of the United States, No. 15 — March, 1898 — contains a comprehensive and suggestive article by Mary S. Fergusson, on "Boarding Homes and Clubs for Working Women." The article sets forth, by means of descriptive text and statistical tables, the results of a recent special study of the characteristics of ninety homes in forty-six cities of the United States. Forty-one of the ninety homes reported upon are in the cities of Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis. The majority of the homes have been established since 1880.

"As far as known, the first organized effort in this country to offer a comfortable and attractive home to self-supporting women for permanent residence, at rates coming within the reach of those earning small wages, was made during the year 1856 by the Ladies' Christian Union in New York city. Baltimore came next, with its Female Christian Home, established in 1865.

"Boston is credited with five homes, having accommodations for 537 boarders. In the year covered by the report, the number of different boarders using the homes was 3,990.

"From the table showing the receipts from boarders and total cost of maintenance of each home for the last fiscal year, the following statement regarding the homes in Boston is of interest:

NAME OF HOME.	Receipts from boarders.	Total cost of maintaining Home.	Excess of cost of maintenance over receipts from boarders.
Boston Young Women's Christian Association: Berkeley-street Home	$30,705	$26,673	(a.) $5,959

Totals	$90,938	$101,582	$10,925

(a.) Including expenditures for training school for domestics and for religious work.

(b.) Excess of receipts from boarders over cost of maintenance.

(c.) Including $2,000, paid on mortgage.

(d.) Excess of receipts from boarders over cost of maintenance, which included $2,000 paid on mortgage.

As the following extracts show, the Boston homes made a very favorable impression upon the representative of the Department of Labor:

"The Boston Young Woman's Christian Association maintains two homes, both of which are permanent ones. It offers the advantages of educational classes, of a well-equipped gymnasium, of a library and reading-room, of an employment bureau and of a travellers' aid to the boarders within its homes. In addition to the usual classes, including stenography and typewriting, there is a training-school for domestics, in which young girls of good character are given a home and instruction for six months without charge. After the six months' training a girl must render satisfactory service in a family for three months or more, in order to obtain her certificate. The free course of instruction in this school includes cooking and serving, general housework, home nursing, sewing and mending, reading, spelling, penmanship, letter-writing, arithmetic, geography and daily Scripture lessons.

"The Warrenton-street home of this association is entirely given up to boarders, accommodating 180, while the Berkeley-street home had a resident family of 142 members at the date of report, being the association headquarters for its various departments of work. About twenty are accommodated in the school of domestic science, which occupies a building near the Berkeley-street home known as the 'annex.' During the past year 2,140 boarders were received in the two homes. Permanent boarders pay an average of $4 per week. The restaurant is an important feature in the domestic economy of the Berkeley-street home.

"Both of these homes are self-supporting, paying, according to the financial report for the year ending January 1, 1897, not only all current expenses, including salaries, but repairs and furnishings as well. But it must be borne in mind that this includes neither rent nor taxes, nor any rent equivalent in the form of interest.

"The New England Helping-Hand Society has a home for young girls at 124 Pembroke street, Boston. The home is established especially for working-girls who receive less than $6 a week. None are received who earn over that amount.

"The house accommodates twenty-one, and many are turned away every winter for want of room. All boarders pay $3 a week. The house is attractive and homelike, and social intercourse is encouraged. Students are received as well as those already at work. It is estimated that the cost per week for supporting each girl is about $5, including laundry work. This society also carries on as a department of its work a vacation home, for invalid and tired-out working women, at Hanson, Mass.

"The Temporary Home for Working Women, at 453 Shawmut avenue, Boston, is one of the best examples of its class. The home was opened in 1878, in order that any poor and respectable woman able and willing to work might receive food and shelter in return for her work for the space of one month.

"The home is controlled by a board of twelve lady managers, who own the property. It is expected that the home will pay one-half of its expenses, this being accomplished through the receipts from laundry and sewing-room, where the women who are in the home are expected to work from 7.30 in the morning until 4 in the afternoon. In the sewing-room, nurses' dresses are made, and any kind of family sewing and mending done.

"Though no effort is made to make the home profitable, yet the primary object in its founding is kept constantly in view, which is to enable women to become independent and self-supporting, and to help self-respecting women over 'hard places' without making them objects of charity. There is no limit as to age and no question as to religion.

"There are accommodations for twelve. The house is nearly always full.

"Since 1878 there have been 6,665 women admitted. There have been 540 lodgings paid for in money and 7,280 in work, and 1,643 meals paid for in money and 22,298 in work. During 1896 there were 442 women admitted. For the year ending December 31, 1896, the total receipts from all sources for the home, including a balance on hand December 31, 1895, of $1,103.95, were $6,460.31. Of this amount, $2,200.87 was received through the home, $1,721.60 coming from the laundry alone. The expenses at the home were $3,993.10.

"Among the agencies for the comfort and help of working women in Boston is the Working-Girls' Home of the Young Woman's Catholic Association, under the charge of the Grey Nuns, at 89 Union Park street. The home is a large, imposing building, 132 feet long and five stories high, heated by steam, and with approved sanitary equipments and all modern household conveniences.

"The home was begun in one house at first; then two houses were taken, and as the work outgrew these, the present building was erected, accommodating 155 persons. The accommodations by no means meet the demand, 580 being refused admission during the past year. During that year 1,695 girls were received in the home, and during the previous year there were 1,694 enrolled. The charge for board is from $3 to $5 a week, except to those learning to sew, when it is $2.50 a week. The average charge is $2.60. Girls are taken care of in slight illness, and there is a thoroughly equipped dispensary in the house. Women are often temporarily kept free of charge until employment is obtained for them, but every effort is made to help such women to become independent and self-sustaining. The home is in no sense a charity. The cost for supporting each girl is estimated to be thirty-seven cents a day, or $2.59 a week. There are two bath-rooms on each flat, with porcelain-lined tubs. Four flats are used by domestics. There are thirty single bedrooms, twenty-six bedrooms for two persons only, and twenty-one in which there are three or more.

"This home is both a permanent and a temporary one. Some women make their home here for years. Among the boarders are typewriters, stenographers, compositors, milliners, dressmakers, girls employed in piano, and in shoe and rubber goods manufacturing establishments, store girls in all departments, domestics, students and teachers. As a rule, the home is open only to those from outside the city, but in special cases a resident of Boston may be taken. The 10 o'clock rule prevails, with all reasonable exceptions. There is a noticeable absence of rule and restriction, and a home-like atmosphere pervades the beautiful building. Hospitality is encouraged. Girls are urged to receive their male friends in the parlors of the home. There are eight Sisters in charge. The employment bureau is a valuable adjunct to the work of the home.

"Another home in Boston, which is of special interest, because of its seven years' success and because of the simplicity of its management, is the Boarding House for Working Girls, at 115 and 117 Berkeley street.

"For the seven years all running expenses of the house have been paid by the Superintendent from receipts for board and lodging, and a surplus each year of from $600 to $700 handed over to the treasurer toward the guaranty fund for rent and salary of Superintendent. One factor that makes such a financial showing possible is the serving of extra meals to table boarders."

EXPENDITURES BY THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The following extracts are taken from School Document No. 2, 1898, which is the Thirtieth Annual Report of the Committee on Accounts:

Under date of December 22, 1896, this committee presented to the School Board the amount that in their judgment would be needed to carry on the schools for the financial year 1897-98.

The estimates submitted, after receiving the unanimous approval of the School Board, were forwarded to His Honor the Mayor. The amount requested, exclusive of repairs, was $2,250,000.

The City Council made a reduction of $110,000, granting on account of the above request the sum of $2,140,000.

This amount proved insufficient to meet the actual expenses of the schools, and it became necessary to prepare a further communication on the subject, which was presented to the Board, and sent to His Honor the Mayor, under date of November 23, 1897, said communication stating that a sum equal to the reduction, viz., $110,000, would be needed to carry on the schools to the end of the financial year, it having been proved that the original amount estimated was not excessive.

In addition to the request for $2,250,000, the sum of $250,000 was asked for under the head of repairs and alterations of school-houses.

For this purpose the City Council granted $175,000, a reduction of $75,000 from the estimates submitted, which amount the School Committee asked to have made good under date of December 14, 1897. The experience of several years clearly indicated that $175,000 would not provide for the constantly increasing needs in the way of repairs and alterations; and as these expenditures are restricted to the appropriation granted, the City Council must accept the responsibility for the forced neglect of the School Committee in keeping the school-houses in a suitable condition for the health and comfort of their occupants. The only alternative is for the School Committee to authorize the expenditures contrary to law.

The ordinary expenses for the past year were as follows:

Salaries of instructors	$1,817,218 00
Salaries of officers	69,385 00
Salaries of janitors	139,220 29
Fuel, gas and water	96,016 29

Total expenditure	$2,484,446 77
Total income	42,287 16
Net expenditure, School Committee	$2,442,159 61

The gross expenses for the past year, compared with those for 1896-97, show a variation in the different items of the appropriation as follows:

Salaries of instructors, increased	$153,425 26
Salaries of officers, increased	3,094 16
Salaries of janitors, increased	7,659 79

The total expenditure for the public schools, including new school-houses, for the past year, was as follows:

Total gross expenditure	$3,415,163 17
Less income for the year	42,287 16
Total net expenditure	$3,372,876 01

The following shows the variation in the number of pupils and in salaries in the different grades for the past year, compared with those for 1896-97:

High Schools, pupils increased 372, salaries increased	$29,696 94
Grammar Schools, pupils increased 1,323, salaries increased	59,993 73
Primary Schools, pupils increased 1,250, salaries increased	38,183 25

Kindergartens, pupils increased 510, salaries increased	9,506 62
Evening Schools, pupils increased 138, salaries increased	9,217 00
Evening Drawing Schools, pupils decreased 121, salaries decreased, Manual Training Schools, salaries increased	404 00
Special teachers, salaries increased	6,336 15
Spectacle Island, pupils decreased 2	271 27

Total increase in pupils, 3,471; in salaries, $153,425.26.

The number of regular instructors on the pay-rolls, January 1, 1898, was 1,684, divided among the several grades of schools, as follows: High schools, 174; grammar schools, 791; primary schools, 540; Horace Mann School, 12; kindergartens, 127; manual training, including cookery, 40; an increase of 71 regular instructors since January 1, 1897.

In addition there have been 122 temporary teachers and 67 special assistants employed in the day schools, an average of 202 instructors in the evening and evening drawing schools, and 66 special instructors, including 39 teachers of sewing, making a total of 2,141 instructors on the pay-rolls during the year.

The amount paid for salaries of instructors for the past year was $1,817,218, an increase over 1896-97 of $153,425.26, and the largest increase ever recorded in any one year.

As an illustration of the remarkable growth of education in the City of Boston, it may be stated that the total expenditure for the public schools, including the purchase of sites and the erection of new school-houses, for the financial year 1842-43, only amounted to $138,771.91, considerably less than the increase, as above mentioned, in that single item.

Of the increase of the past year, about $100,000 resulted from the schedule of salaries which went into operation September 1, 1896, and the balance to the natural increase following the yearly growth of the schools.

In 1875 the School Board, consisting of 116 members, was reorganized and superseded by a new Board, consisting of twenty-four members, and the Mayor as chairman ex officio, who remained as such until 1886. At the end of their first financial year they found that the net cost for salaries of instructors amounted to $1,190,570.10. By a rearrangement of salaries, and dismissing superfluous teachers, they were able at the end of five years, in 1881-82, to reduce the cost to $1,085,459.28. In 1886-87 it increased again to $1,182,092.18, which was still less, however, than the cost in 1876-77; and from 1886-87 to 1894-95 the cost rose some $35,000 each year, which about kept pace with the increased number of pupils.

In 1894 a change was made in the rules, whereby certain credits were allowed for previous service when teachers were appointed. The application of this rule about doubled the annual increase in salaries of instructors, and the first full year of its operation resulted in an increase of $62,991.40. In September, 1896, a new schedule of salaries went into effect, and the rule allowing credit for previous service was amended, thereby restricting the credits allowed newly-appointed teachers to assistants in grammar and primary schools.

This new schedule, by its operation, will be the means of increasing the cost for salaries of instructors about $100,000 each year until the close of 1900, in addition to the expected increase occasioned by the natural addition in the number of pupils, which will bring up the amount to about $150,000.

It is safe to estimate that $150,000 will represent the average annual increase in salaries of instructors, from the date the new schedule went into effect, September 1, 1896, for four years, or until the teachers, who were on the maximum of the old rates, shall have reached the maximum of the new rates. After that time, if no change is made in the present schedule, the natural increase will require about $50,000 per annum, judging from previous experience.

The number of buildings used for school purposes and in charge of a janitor appointed by the city was, January 1, 1898, 215. The number of janitors employed was 173.

The total amount paid for the care of the school-buildings during the year was $139,220.29, an increase of $7,659.79 over the cost for 1896-97.

Civil service requirements, and recent legislation concerning steam-boilers and engines, limit this committee in filling vacancies to a superior grade of employees, who command a higher compensation than was paid prior to these restrictions.

During the summer vacation the floors of all the school-houses were thoroughly washed, under the direction of the janitors; and in December the windows in a number of the buildings were given an extra washing.

The cost of the extra work performed during the year amounted to about $2,000.

Beginning with the school year in September, 1897, the janitors were requested to take special pains for the disinfection of their buildings, and to prevent as far as possible the spread of contagious disease, in accordance with the following order, passed by the School Board June 22, 1897:

Ordered, That the Committee on Accounts require the janitors of school-buildings, every two weeks during school sessions, to cover all floors with sawdust, wet with a suitable solution, and sweep the sawdust up before it becomes dry. Also to properly disinfect the chairs and desks of all pupils who may have contracted a contagious disease, or who are obliged to be away from school on account of contagious disease, by thoroughly wiping such chairs and desks with a cloth wet with a suitable solution.

Formaldehyde was selected as the best disinfectant to be used, and the buildings throughout the city were furnished with a sufficient quantity, and also with sawdust. A circular was issued to the janitors, under date of September 10, 1897, containing explicit directions for carrying out the provisions of the order, and it is believed that the matter has been faithfully attended to.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The Board of Aldermen having been summoned by messenger entered the room.

Alderman Dyar was unanimously elected chairman of the convention.

Mr. Bateman, for the Committee on Elections, in consultation with the Chairman of the Board of Aldermen, submitted the following nomination of a candidate to fill the vacancy in the School Board, caused by the resignation of Edward H. Dunn: J. Carlton Nichols.

Accepted.

The convention proceeded to ballot for a member of the School Board, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Edward H. Dunn.

The vote resulted as follows:

Whole number of ballots	29
Necessary for choice	18
J. Carlton Nichols had	28
Henry D. Forbes had	1

J. Carlton Nichols was declared elected.

The Boards then separated, the Aldermen leaving the chamber, and President Huggan resuming the chair.

Mr. Eaton, for the Committee on Nominations, presented for nomination the names of seven teachers on probation, four kindergarten teachers, nine temporary teachers and four permanent teachers. The nominations were confirmed by the Board.

The resignations of four teachers were accepted, and leave of absence to eight teachers was granted on the recommendation of the Committee on Nominations.

Mr. Strange, for the Committee on School-houses, reported that plans and specifications for an addition to the West Roxbury High School house, prepared by Andrews, Jaques & Rantoul, architects, have been completed, and are now submitted for the approval of the Board. The addition is to contain six single and one triple class room, which will accommodate 378 pupils, but the entrance, corridors, halls, gymnasium, laboratories, staircases, toilet rooms, boiler room, etc., are planned on a basis of 600 pupils, which will be the total capacity of the building when completed. These plans and specifications have been carefully figured by a firm of contractors, who estimate the cost of the addition, exclusive of commissions and furniture, at $180,000. Your Committee recommend the passage of the following order:

Ordered, That the plans and specifications for the addition to the West Roxbury High School house, Jamaica Plain, prepared by Andrews, Jaques & Rantoul, architects, having been approved by the Superintendent of Schools, be accepted, and the same are hereby approved by this Board, and the said Andrews, Jaques & Rantoul are hereby selected and employed to supervise the construction and erection of the addition to said school-house, in accordance with said plans and specifications; and the Committee on School-houses is hereby authorized to advertise for proposals to construct and erect the same, in accordance with said plans and specifications, and to make on behalf of this Board the necessary contracts for such work, subject to the approval of the Mayor.

The report was accepted and the order was passed.

Mr. Strange, for the same committee, to whom was referred from the files of last year an order requesting them to appropriate from the amount available for the year 1898, under Chapter 408 of the Acts of 1895, as amended by Chapter 442 of the Acts of 1897, not less than $40,000, to be expended upon the Bigelow School-house for increased accommodations and needed improvements, reported that the estimates of expenditures for the current financial year, which were approved by the Board on December 28, 1897, contained items aggregating $23,300 in connection with repairs on this building. The appropriation bill has not yet been passed by the City Council, and your Committee therefore recommend that no further action by the Board is necessary at the present time.

Accepted, and the recommendation adopted.

Mr. Strange, for the same committee, to whom was referred (March 8) an order requesting them to fit up a room for a class in wood-working in the Marcella-street Home, reported that when a public school was established in the Marcella-street Home last year, it was with the distinct understanding that no expense for fitting up or furnishing this school should devolve upon the School Committee. Your committee are therefore of the opinion that any expense of the character referred to should be borne by the Children's Institutions Department, and not by the School Committee.

Accepted.

On motion of Mr. Strange for the same committee, it was Ordered, That of the amount granted to the School Committee under Chapter 408 of the Acts of 1895, as amended by Chapter 442 of the Acts of 1897, the following appropriations be made:

New Grammar School-house, Harris District, additional, $6,000.

East Boston High School house, site, additional, $5,152.74.

New Primary School-house, Vernon street, Roxbury, additional, $2,000.

Recommitted, on motion of Mr. Anderson, with instructions to report amount of previous appropriations in relation to these school-houses and sites.

Mr. Strange, for the same committee, to whom was referred from the files of last year a communication from the Common Council, through His Honor the Mayor, requesting the Mayor to investigate the construction of the Paul Revere School-house in Ward 6, and report the result to the Common Council, as, in the opinion of the Council, the school is not to the entire satisfaction of citizens of Boston, reported that your Committee are not aware that any investigation of the construction of this school-house is necessary on their part. They recommend that the Common Council be respectfully informed, through His Honor the Mayor, that the plans and specifications for the building were very carefully prepared, the work is proceeding under competent and thorough supervision, and they believe that upon its completion the school-house will meet with the entire approbation of the citizens of Boston.

Accepted, and ordered to be sent to His Honor the Mayor.

Mr. Strange, for the same committee, to whom was referred from the files of last year an order requesting them to investigate the entrances of the different schools in the city, reported that they have caused a very careful examination to be made with regard to the means of exit from all the school-buildings, and recommend that no further action by the Board is necessary.

Accepted, and the recommendation of the Committee adopted.

Mr. Strange, for the same committee, to whom was referred (February 8) a communication from the Common Council, through His Honor the Mayor, requesting the School Committee to include in their appropriation a sum sufficient to place the Chapman School-house in thorough repair, and to make additions to said school-house, according to plans held by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, reported that the needs of this school-house were considered when the estimates for the current financial year were being prepared, and of the amount asked for under "Special Appropriation for Extraordinary Repairs," approximately $12,000 was specified to be expended upon this building. Your Committee therefore recommend that the City Council be respectfully informed, through His Honor the Mayor, that the work will be undertaken as soon as an appropriation therefor is provided.

Accepted, and ordered to be sent to His Honor the Mayor.

On motion of Mr. Strange, for the same committee, it was Ordered, That there be paid to B. H. Hatch the sum of seven thousand one hundred (7,100) dollars and the taxes for the year 1897, as payment for his estate, No. 70, on Saratoga street, East Boston, taken for school purposes by the City of Boston December 17, 1897 (taking recorded December 18, 1897), upon said Hatch giving to the city a deed for said estate so taken, satisfactory to the Law Department.

On motion of Mr. Strange, for the same committee, it was Ordered, That there be paid to Edgar F. Power the sum of three thousand five hundred (3,500) dollars, as payment for his estate, No. 76, on Saratoga street, East Boston, taken for school purposes by the City of Boston December 17, 1897 (taking recorded December 18, 1897), upon said Power giving to the city a deed for said estate so taken, satisfactory to the Law Department.

Mr. Anderson, for the Committee on Rules and Regulations, to whom was referred (February 23) an order that the rules and regulations be amended by striking out all after the first section, and substituting therefor the various sections presented with said order (see minutes of February 23, pages 54 to 109, inclusive; see also THE CITY RECORD, page 136), submitted the following:

Ordered, That the rules and regulations be amended by striking out everything after the first section, and substituting therefor the following:

(The proposed revision was submitted in print, and is a document of fifty-seven closely printed pages. An abstract of the leading changes was made in the report of the last meeting of the Board.)

The order was passed to a second reading.

Mr. Allen, for the Committee on Accounts, offered a report concerning the proposed limitation of expenditures by the School Board (for the report in full see THE CITY RECORD, page 182), and introduced the following order:

Ordered, That the Committee on Legislative Matters be requested to appear before the proper committee of the Legislature, and advocate the passage of a bill embodying the foregoing provisions and amounts.

The motion to lay on the table was defeated, and the order was passed.

Adjourned to April 12, at 7.30 P.M.

Messages from the Mayor.TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, on Monday, March 28, 1898, at 3 P.M., Chairman Dyar presiding, and all the members present.

The following messages were received:

Bell Ringing at Sunrise — Veto.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 22, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I return herewith, without my approval, an order passed by your Board, requesting the Board of Police to cause the bells to be rung at sunrise, noon and sunset on certain holidays, the expense to be charged to the appropriation for City Council Incidental Expenses.

I have no objection to the ringing of bells at noon and sunset, but it seems to me that the ringing of bells at sunrise is a relic of barbarism, and that there cannot be any sufficient public demand for it to justify the disturbance of slumber which it causes. I am willing to approve the order, if the provision for ringing the bells at sunrise is omitted.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The previous vote of the Board, passing the order, was reconsidered, and the question came on the passage of the order, the objections of His Honor the Mayor to the contrary notwithstanding.

The order was referred to the Committee on Public Improvements.

The Committee on Public Improvements reported, recommending that the veto of His Honor the Mayor be not sustained.

The report was accepted and the order passed, the veto of the Mayor to the contrary notwithstanding — Yeas, 11; nay, 1.

Heath-Street Widening and Engine House.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 28, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a petition sent to me by a large number of corporations and individuals holding property in the vicinity of Heath street, in the Roxbury district, petitioning that Heath street be widened to a width of eighty feet, and that an engine house be located in that vicinity. I am not prepared to make any recommendation as to the widening of Heath street, until further plans and estimates have been prepared by the Street Commissioners, but I am ready to recommend an appropriation for the engine house requested, and the Fire Commissioner informs me that he believes there is need of this engine house, and that it should be the next one to be provided for.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

We, the undersigned, citizens, residents and property owners in the vicinity of Heath street, Roxbury, respectfully petition the City Council of Boston that Heath street be widened to a width of eighty feet, and that an engine house be located in that vicinity.

(Signed by the American Brewing Company of Boston, and many other firms and individuals.)

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Salt Water Fire Service.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 28, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I desire to recommend the passage of the accompanying loan order, providing for an additional loan appropriation of $7,500 to complete the work of installing the salt water pipes for fire service. An appropriation of $15,000 was made for this purpose by the City Government of 1896, but owing to unexpected difficulties and changes in the plans, the work has proved more expensive than originally estimated by the City Engineer. As the weather now permits the continuance of the work of installing this service, and as it will add materially, within the district which it covers, to existing means of protection from fire, I trust that the order may be passed by itself, without delaying the matter until the general loan order is prepared.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Fire Commissioner be authorized to expend the further sum of \$7,500 in completing the system of salt water fire service; and that to meet the appropriation aforesaid, the City Treasurer issue and sell, as may be required, either coupon bonds or registered certificates of the City of Boston for the sum of seven thousand five hundred (7,500) dollars, said bonds or certificates to be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer of the City of Boston twenty years from their date, and to bear interest at the rate of $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of January and July of each year.

Ordered, That any premium obtained in the negotiation or sale of said bonds or certificates be paid to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking-Funds for the redemption of the debt hereby created.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL.

A regular meeting of the Common Council was held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, Thursday, March 24, 1898, at 7.45 P.M., President Connolly in the chair.

The following messages were received:

List of Licensed Plumbers.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 24, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Building Commissioner, in reply to your order requesting him to "cause to be printed as a city document a list of all licensed plumbers in the City of Boston."

Yours respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

BUILDING DEPARTMENT,

Old Court House, March 18, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: Relative to the order of the Common Council, "That the Building Commissioner, through His Honor the Mayor, be requested to cause to be printed as a city document a list of all licensed plumbers in the City of Boston," I respectfully state that in the Annual Report of the Building Department for the year 1897, which will soon be published, is included a list of all the master and journeyman licensed plumbers of the City of Boston; also a list of masters and journeymen who are licensed in other cities or towns, but have registered in the City of Boston for the purpose of performing work. In addition to this will be included a full and complete list of the licensed master and journeyman gasfitters.

Very respectfully yours,

JOHN S. DAMRELL,

Building Commissioner.

Placed on file.

Christopher Gibson Playground.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Board of Park Commissioners, in reply to your order requesting that the name of Gibson Park be given to the piece of land recently purchased at the corner of Dorchester avenue and Park street.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS,

Jamaica Park, March 22, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: We have received from your hands the order which was passed by the City Council, requesting this Board "to name the piece of land recently purchased at the corner of Dorchester avenue and Park street for a park and playground, 'Gibson Park,' in honor of Christopher Gibson, who bequeathed this land for the good of the Dorchester schools," and we beg to report that the land referred to, generally known as the "Town Field," was taken under the Playground Act, Chapter 225 of the Acts of 1893, and as its use will be that of a playground, we think it more appropriate to give it the name "Christopher Gibson Playground," which the Board has voted to do.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES E. STRATTON, Chairman.

Storing of Explosives.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 24, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Streets, in reply to your order requesting information as to "what amount of dynamite or other explosives is kept or stored at the City Yard, called Division 4 of the Paving Department, on Chestnut Hill avenue, in the Brighton District, and also whether the safety of the citizens and their property is endangered by said keeping or storing."

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, March 22, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In accordance with the request contained in the enclosed order of the Common Council, I beg to state that in my opinion the safety of the citizens and their property is not endangered by the amount of dynamite kept in storage at the City Yard, Paving District 4, Brighton, the amount being in the neighborhood of 100 pounds, in the winter months in a frozen condition. It is placed in a building specially prepared for that purpose, and situated a thousand feet from the nearest residence, and a considerable distance from a public thoroughfare. There is no record in this Department of any accident ever occurring from such cause.

Respectfully submitted,

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

Branch Library, Roxbury.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 24, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Trustees of the Public Library, in reply to your order requesting them "to include in their estimates of appropriation for the Library Department for the current year the sum of $1,500, for the purpose of establishing a reading room and delivery station of the Public Library in the vicinity of the junction of Hampden and Dudley streets, Roxbury."

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

PUBLIC LIBRARY,

Copley Square, March 19, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: We have received notification of the following order passed in the City Council March 10, 1898:

"Ordered, That the Trustees of the Public Library be requested to include in their estimates of appropriation for the Library Department for the current year the sum of $1,500, for the purpose of establishing a reading room and delivery station of the Public Library in the vicinity of the junction of Hampden and Dudley streets, Roxbury."

With reference to the above, we beg respectfully to report to the City Government as follows:

This Department has already, under date of December 20, 1897, submitted to your Honor an estimate of the expenditures required for its operation during the coming fiscal year. This estimate was itemized, and it was further explained in a communication, a copy of which has no doubt been transmitted to the City Council.

This estimate did not provide for additional reading rooms or delivery stations. It provided simply for the proper maintenance of existing departments.

The estimate for the year 1898 exceeds by 6 per cent. the actual expenditure for 1897. But the work of existing departments has increased at least 20 per cent. since February 1, 1897.

The Trustees are not now in a position, therefore, to comply with the request contained in the order.

In connection with this request, however, they deem it their duty to call attention to the fact, that while the estimate submitted by them was $263,401, the appropriation for this Department recommended by your Honor to the City Council was but $250,000.

If limited to this latter sum, so far from undertaking additional departments, the Trustees may be obliged to curtail the work of existing departments.

The order of March 10 was received by us direct from the City Council. We deem it proper, however, to communicate our response through you.

Very respectfully,

The Trustees of the Public Library,

By FREDERICK O. PRINCE, President.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Council Picture — Veto.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 21, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I return herewith without my signature an order passed by your body providing for a large picture of the members of the Common Council, at an expense not exceeding $500, to be charged to the appropriation for Common Council Contingent Expenses.

I regret not to feel able to give my approval to this order, but I find that there is only one precedent for this expenditure, and it seems to me that the expense is hardly a warrantable one, and that it would be a bad precedent for the future to have the appropriation made. The appropriation for contingent expenses will be exhausted by other demands upon it, and the authorizing of any expenditure of this amount would doubtless cause a deficiency in this item, which it seems to me very necessary to avoid this year.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Assigned to the next meeting.

Current Expenses of Library.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 24, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication which explains itself, and I recommend the passage of the order suggested, which merely places the Public Library upon the same basis in respect to petty current expenses as a number of other departments have already been placed upon by vote of the City Council.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

PUBLIC LIBRARY,

Copley Square, March 18, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: It has been the custom in this Department to make disbursements for current expenses required, to be paid in cash by the Library Auditor, out of current income (receipts from fines, etc.). An accounting is had each month and the income reimbursed, so that it may be turned in entire to the City Collector.

It seems better practice, however, that such current expenses be met out of a sum specifically provided for the purpose out of the regular Department appropriation.

We are advised by the City Auditor that the passage by the City Government of the following order will enable him to arrange this:

"Ordered, That the Trustees of the Public Library be authorized to draw from the City Treasury the sum of fifteen hundred (1,500) dollars, to be placed in the hands of the Library Auditor for meeting petty current expenses, to be accounted for before the close of the fiscal year, the same to be charged to the appropriation for the Public Library."

We respectfully recommend the passage of the above order.

Very respectfully,

The Trustees of the Public Library,

By FREDERICK O. PRINCE, President.

The message was sent up.

SPECIAL PUBLICATION, NO. 1, OF THE DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS.

The Department of Municipal Statistics has issued the first number of a series of publications, analyzing the finances of the city. The entire series will, when completed, give a complete view of the income and expenditure of the city for the five years ending January 31, 1897.

For the sake of clearness in presentation, the accounts of the city have been divided into four parts — (1), Ordinary Receipts and Expenditures; (2), Extraordinary Receipts and Expenditures; (3), Trust Funds; (4), Book-keeping Items. The Ordinary Receipts and Expenditures account includes the receipts of current income from all sources, such as taxes, rents, interest, fees, licenses and receipts of water-works, and on the other side of the account the ordinary departmental expenditures. The Extraordinary Receipts and Expenditures account includes receipts from sales of bonds and real estate, and expenditures authorized from special appropriations. The Trust Funds account includes all income from trust funds not credited to Department appropriations and gifts to the city; and, on the other hand, expenditures of income and investment of capital. The Book-keeping Items account includes all items which pass through the Treasury as through a conduit, and have no permanent effect on the city finances.

Special Publication, No. 1, is an analysis of a portion of the first above-named account, namely, the ordinary expenditures of the city. The ordinary receipts of the city will be analyzed in a later publication.

The publication begins with a financial statement for the five fiscal years, 1892-93 to 1896-97, inclusive, showing the division of the city income and expenditure as between the four above-mentioned accounts. A series of five tables follow, summarizing by departments the ordinary expenditures of the city. The rest of the work is devoted to a consideration in further detail of the expenditures of the several departments, each of which is treated in a separate table. The annual estimate of expenditure made by the Department is given; the appropriations made by the City Council at the beginning of the year; all income credited to the appropriation during the year; the actual expenditure of the Department, and the surplus or deficit of this expenditure as compared with the Department appropriation. Whenever the accounts admitted of it, the actual expenditure and the expenditure as estimated by the Department has been further analyzed by principal items of expenditure, so that the estimate and expenditure of each item may be readily compared. This analysis also makes it very easy to follow the annual increase or decrease of expenditure, with respect to each item of expenditure. In cases in which the Department earned an income for the city, this fact is also noted, and the nature of the income stated.

APPROPRIATION BILL FOR 1898-99.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen, held on Monday, March 28, 1898, Alderman Charles, for the Committee on Appropriations, submitted the following:

The Committee on Appropriations, to whom was referred the message of His Honor the Mayor, transmitting the estimates of the several departments for the financial year 1898, having considered the same, respectfully submit the following appropriation bill for the city and county for the present financial year, and recommend its passage, together with the accompanying orders.

APPROPRIATION AND TAX ORDERS FOR THE FINANCIAL YEAR 1898-99.

Ordered, That to meet the current expenses of performing the duties and exercising the powers of the City of Boston and County of Suffolk, payable during the financial year 1898-99, beginning with the first day of February, 1898, and ending with the last day of January, 1899, and to meet their respective obligations, for interest on debt, sinking-fund requirements and maturing debt not provided for by sinking-fund, the respective sums of money hereinafter specified be, and the same are hereby, appropriated for the several departments, and for the objects and purposes hereinafter stated.

That all sums of money which form no part of the income of the city, but shall be contributed to promote the objects of any appropriation, or paid for services rendered or work done by any department for any other department, or for any person or corporation other than the City of Boston, be paid into the general treasury and credited to such appropriation, or to the appropriation of the department or division of a department rendering such service or performing such work; and that the respective executive departments of said city, under the general supervision and control of the Mayor and the other public authorities designated in the several appropriations, or having by law the expenditure of the same, expend the said appropriations according to law for the objects and purposes specified, and expend said contributions for the objects and purposes directed by the several contributors thereof.

Ordered, That the appropriations hereinafter specified, except those for the Water Department, be met out of the money remaining as a general balance in the treasury at the close of the thirty-first day of January, 1898, not including any money raised by loan or needed to carry out the requirements of any statute, gift, trust or special appropriation, and out of the income of the current year, other than that from the Water Works, and out of taxes to the amount of $13,253,790.

Ordered, That the incomes received from the Water Works be applied, so far as required, toward meeting the appropriation hereinafter specified for the Water Department.

Ordered, That to provide the said amount of taxes, the sum of $13,253,790 be raised by taxation on the polls and estates taxable in the City of Boston; that all such taxes, and all taxes assessed for meeting the city's proportion of the State tax of the year 1898, or of any other taxes or assessments payable to the Commonwealth, be due and payable on the first day of October, 1898; that all such taxes paid after the first day of November, 1898, bear interest from and including said day until paid at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum up to the first day of January, 1899, and at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum after and including said first day of January, except that taxes assessed upon shares of stock of national banks shall bear interest at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum, from and including said first day of November until paid; and that all interest which shall have become due on taxes shall be added to and become a part of such taxes.

Ordered, That to provide temporarily money to meet the appropriations aforesaid, the City Treasurer issue and sell, at such times and in such amounts as he may deem best, bonds, notes or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston, not exceeding $7,000,000 in the total, in anticipation of the taxes of the current municipal year; that all such bonds, notes or certificates of indebtedness be dated the day the money for the same is received, be made payable with the interest thereon at the office of the City Treasurer within the current municipal year, from taxes of said year, and bear interest, at such rate as said Treasurer shall deem proper, from their date until the day the same are made payable.

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners, with the approval of the Mayor, may sell, in the manner provided by the ordinances, any lands or buildings not in use by any department, nor held under the requirements of any statute, and that the proceeds thereof be paid to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking-Funds.

Ordered, That the premiums realized in the negotiation or sale of any notes, bonds or scrip be paid to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking-Funds, to be by them applied to the sinking-funds for the payment of such notes, bonds or scrip.

Ordered, That the City Auditor, from time to time during the year, with the approval of the Mayor, may return to the general treasury any part of an appropriation for current expenses not needed to meet such expenses, and at the end of the year shall return to the general treasury all unused balances of appropriations for current expenses; and may with such approval, credit to the appropriation for any division of a department any sums which may have been previously returned to the general treasury from any other division of the same department; and may, with such approval and with the further approval of the Committee on Finance, return any unused portion of the reserved fund to the general treasury, and credit any portion so returned to any appropriation for current expenses; and that said Auditor, with the approval of the Mayor, may, between December 1, 1898, and February 1, 1899, credit any part of the income and taxes not disposed of to any appropriation for current expenses, and at the end of the year shall apply any of the income and taxes not disposed of in the closing of the accounts for the financial year.

Ordered, That the City Auditor is hereby authorized to charge to the reserved fund the amounts of all executions of courts for damages suffered by the act or neglect of any department, damages settled by any department after the approval of the Committee on Claims and the Mayor, and all court expenses of the Law Department incurred in the prosecution or defence of any case to which the city is a party.

Ordered, That the authority to issue bonds for the additional supply of water, under an order approved April 26, 1893, so far as the same has not been exercised at the date of the passage of this order, be, and hereby is, revoked; provided, however, that nothing contained in this order shall be construed to affect in any way the bonds which have already been issued under the authority of said order.

Ordered, That the income received for work done or services rendered by any department or division for any other department be credited to the appropriation for the department or division doing such work or rendering such services.

Ordered, That the amounts received from rents of the Old Public Library Building be paid to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking-Funds.

At the regular meeting of the Common Council, held Thursday, March 31, 1898, the report and orders set forth above, and in report of Joint Committee on Appropriations (Document 61—1898) were considered. The report was accepted, the bill was given a second reading and passed by a unanimous vote—Yeas, 67; nays, 0.

The question came on the acceptance of the report.

The report was accepted.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Public Improvements.

The bill, and accompanying orders, was subsequently reported back by the Committee on Public Improvements—the report recommending its passage was accepted; the bill was read a second time, unanimously passed, and sent down.

RESOLUTIONS BY THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

The following resolution, proposed by Alderman Lott, was unanimously passed by the Board of Aldermen at its meeting on Monday, April 4; and the City Clerk was directed to transmit a copy of the same to each member of the General Court:

Whereas, The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs of the Massachusetts House of Representatives have reported a bill (House Bill No. 1,089), providing for a Board of Apportionment, to pass appropriation orders, which may, within thirty days after their submission to the City Council, be reduced by that body, but not increased, nor new items be inserted, and

Whereas, The Committee on Cities of the same honorable body have reported a bill (House Bill No. 1,149), which is now in the orders of the day on the calendar of the House, providing for a comprehensive system of playgrounds, through the purchase of such locations, not exceeding twenty, as the Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Boston, with the approval of the Mayor, may deem best adapted, and

Whereas, The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs of the same honorable body have reported a bill (House Bill No. 1,157), now in the orders of the day on the calendar of the House, providing that the City Treasurer of the City of Boston shall, on the request of the Mayor, issue notes and bonds for divers purposes, and these issues are to be within the debt limit, and thus limit the ordinary financial resources of the city, and

Whereas, The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs of the same honorable body have reported a bill (House Bill No. 1,158), now in the orders of the day on the calendar of the House, providing for the establishment of an art department by the appointing of five art commissioners by the Mayor, without confirmation, and

Whereas, All the above-mentioned bills deprive the City Council of the City of Boston of important parts of their powers, which have long been recognized as among the prerogatives of these branches of the City Government, and

Whereas, It is apparent that these bills are but a part of the realization of the plan of His Honor the Mayor to deprive the City Council of all power and importance, and to centralize all power in the hands of one man, the Mayor,

Be it resolved, That we, the Board of Aldermen of the City of Boston, in regular session assembled, do hereby protest against the passage of these bills, and any others which lessen the power of the City Council, and at its expense increase that of the Mayor.

WILLIAM BERWIN,
FRANKLIN L. CODMAN,
PERLIE A. DYAR,
WILLIAM H. LOTT,
MILTON C. PAIGE,
EDWARD W. PRESKO,
SALEM D. CHARLES,
MICHAEL H. CLEARY,
JOSEPH A. CONRY,
EDWARD W. DIXON,
JOSEPH J. NORTON,
FRANK J. O'TOOLE.

The following resolutions, introduced by Alderman Presko, were adopted unanimously, under a suspension of the rules, by the Board of Aldermen at its meeting on April 4:

Whereas, William McKinley, President of these United States, by his patriotic, wise and conciliatory attitude in the crisis and difficulties impending between two Christian nations has endeared himself to a large majority of his countrymen, and

Whereas, All of his noble efforts are being used to avert the terrible results of war, and

Whereas, In this nineteenth century, all peaceful and diplomatic measures should be used before a resort to arms, and

Whereas, A declaration of war would entail upon our beloved country sad and distressing consequences; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston send to the President of these United States its earnest, unqualified support for the lofty and magnificent course he has chosen to follow in this great emergency.

Resolved, That the City Clerk transmit a copy of these resolutions to the President.

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS CONFERENCE.

A regular quarterly meeting of the Public Institutions Conference was held in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, at 4 o'clock P.M., on Wednesday, March 30, 1898.

Present: Penal Institutions Commissioner and Acting Institutions Registrar, Ernest C. Marshall; Representing Trustees for Children, Charles V. Dasey, Mrs. Wm. J. Quinn; Pauper Institutions Trustees, Prof. Wm. T. Sedgwick, Mrs. Alice N. Lincoln; Insane Hospital Trustees, Dr. Henry C. Baldwin, Dr. Philip C. Knapp; Overseers of the Poor, Wm. P. Fowler, Thomas Sproules.

His Honor the Mayor being unable to be present at the first of the Conference, on motion of Mr. Marshall, it was Voted, That Prof. Wm. T. Sedgwick act as temporary chairman.

Mr. Marshall, as Acting Institutions Registrar, reported that the work of the office was going along very satisfactorily. The reports of admissions and discharges for all of the institutions were coming in now, with the exception of those from the Children's Department, which he was sure would be forwarded at an early date. The system of cards had been very practical in use, no difficulty having been found in filling in all the blanks by the machine, and in every way it was working satisfactorily. He stated that it might be found necessary to have another assistant in the office to conduct the work as planned, but that at present it was being satisfactorily performed by assistance from the Penal Department.

The report was accepted.

Mr. Dasey, for the Trustees for Children, reported that the Marcella-street Home is now in better condition than ever before, not only as regards the education of the children, but as regards the general care and the attention paid to cleanliness, food and clothing. The total number of inmates at present is one hundred and forty-two — ninety-two boys and fifty girls. The Trustees are very anxious to receive authority to sell the institution and buy elsewhere, where more modern methods of taking care of the children can be introduced. At the House of Reformation there are one hundred and fifty-four boys. The condition of the institution is as good as it can be made in its cramped and overcrowded condition. There is need of more land and of new buildings of modern construction, and it would be much better if the institution were on the mainland. The Parental School is also very much overcrowded. There are one hundred and eighty-seven boys and three girls in the institution, while the normal capacity of the institution is only one hundred and forty. When the Parental School was instituted, there was probably no idea that the number of persons committed to it would exceed its capacity, and its crowded condition sometimes gives rise to the suspicion that the condition of the school is so excellent in regard to food, discipline, school training and general surroundings, as to make it a temptation to some people to have their boys play truant for the purpose of getting rid of the expense of caring for them. The Trustees had asked for legislation which would enable them to compel the parents to pay the expense where there is any reasonable ground to suppose that they connive at anything of this kind. The Trustees are considering plans for two new dormitories, and will probably soon ask for an appropriation for that purpose. Mr. Dasey said that one matter in which the Insane Hospital Trustees might be particularly interested, was that they were transferring a number of the feeble-minded, for whom they could not care properly in the Marcella-street Home, to the Home of the Feeble-Minded, and spoke of it as a very desirable arrangement, as the Marcella-street Home was not a proper place for the care of these unfortunates.

The report was accepted.

Mrs. Lincoln, for the Pauper Institutions Trustees, submitted the following report:

"The most important matter which has been brought to the attention of the Pauper Institutions Trustees during the last three months, has been the suggestion of His Honor the Mayor that it might be advisable to remove the Pauper Institutions from Long Island to the mainland. This suggestion was made to the Trustees on February 16, 1898, and on February 21, the following vote was passed:

"Voted, That the Pauper Institutions Trustees, in accordance with the request of His Honor the Mayor, have carefully considered the advisability of a possible removal of the almshouse and hospital from Long Island to the mainland, and are unanimously of the opinion that in case a suitable provision can be made, such a change would be eminently desirable.

"On December 28, 1897, Mayor Quincy came before the Board of Pauper Institutions Trustees, and formally requested the use of Long Island for the children's excursions, to be held under the terms of the Randidge bequest for the ensuing year. The Mayor said that he asked for this use with the understanding that fences should be built, and a proper shelter should be provided for the children. The Chairman expressed for the Board of Trustees their willingness that, under these conditions, the use of Long Island should be granted for the purpose of children's excursions, under the terms of the Randidge bequest, for the ensuing summer.

"In accordance with a vote of the Board, the nurses from Long Island are no longer sent either to the Deer Island Hospital or to the Marcella-street Home, as it is impossible for the Superintendent of Nurses to exercise direct supervision over them when they are absent from the Long Island Institution.

"The usual spring exodus from the Pauper Institutions has begun. On March 28 the Superintendent reported that 107 men had applied for discharge from Long Island.

"On request of Captain J. McE. Hyde, Assistant Quartermaster, U.S.A., permission was given by the Pauper Institutions Trustees for the use of the Long Island wharf for the landing of United States troops.

"The other transactions of the Trustees have been recorded regularly in THE CITY RECORD, and therefore it does not seem necessary to bring them before this meeting."

Professor Sedgwick stated that it was their intention to further classify the inmates by separating the comfortable, able-bodied persons, such as are represented by this spring exodus, from the really worthy poor. It was the desire of the Trustees to make it a little less comfortable place for the able-bodied poor, principally by making them do more work, and to keep them from resorting to the institution in such large numbers.

The report was accepted.

Dr. Baldwin, for the Insane Hospital Trustees, submitted the following report:

"The number of patients in the Boston Insane Hospital is 496. The proposed change of making Austin Farm a department for women, and Pierce Farm a department for men, has been carried into effect. In compliance with the request of the Trustees the Fire Commissioner has visited the hospital, and has made certain recommendations in order to secure better protection of the institution in case of fire. The Water Department has been requested to estimate the cost of the proposed improved water supply.

"The present Pierce Farm is an arid waste, without shade of any description. A special committee, under the direction and advice of the City Engineer, are making arrangements to lay the grounds out properly and plant trees.

"The Trustees feel that the most urgent need for the future welfare of the hospital is to secure additional land, and that at once. The Trustees have definite plans that they wish to carry out, in order properly to provide for all of the insane of Boston."

In connection with the above, Dr. Baldwin submitted plans, showing the tracts of land desired by the Board for addition to their grounds.

The report was accepted.

Mr. Fowler, for the Overseers of the Poor, said that they had already felt the exodus of the paupers from Long Island, there having been an increase in the last few days of from 30 per cent. to 40 per cent. in the number of applicants at the Wayfarers' Lodge. At the request of the Mayor, the Overseers had agreed to take convalescent women at the Home, and convalescent men at the Lodge, for a longer or shorter time, when so requested by the Pauper Institutions Trustees, without requiring them to do the usual amount of work. The rule observed in the past, that three days was the longest time any one was to be allowed to stay at the Lodge, had been abolished. A fire-escape had recently been put upon the Lodge.

The report was accepted.

Adjourned, on motion of Mr. Dasey, at 5.42 P.M., to meet on Wednesday, June 29, 1898, at 4 P.M.

PUBLIC WATERING TROUGHS.

Boston, March, 7, 1898.

The following correspondence has taken place between the Board of Health and the Water Commissioner respecting public watering troughs:

HEALTH DEPARTMENT,

Old Court House, March 17, 1898.

HON. JOHN R. MURPHY,

Water Commissioner.

SIR: Owing to the continued prevalence of glanders amongst the horses in this city, the liability of our public watering troughs being amongst the agencies by which the infection of glanders may be spread, and desiring to see every preventive measure against the disease utilized, the Board of Health hereby respectfully recommends that the public drinking troughs be cleansed at least once a week throughout the year. The Board would suggest, as an easy and useful method, that the cleansing could be done by emptying the troughs and scorching their whole interior and rim surfaces with a painter's blast lamp.

Very respectfully,

SAMUEL H. DURGIN, Chairman.

OFFICE OF THE WATER COMMISSIONER,

City Hall, March 14, 1898.

DR. SAMUEL H. DURGIN,

Chairman Board of Health.

SIR: Your recommendation in reference to our watering troughs, sent under date of March 7, has been received. Orders have been issued to attend to the matter at once.

Yours very truly,

JOHN R. MURPHY,

Water Commissioner.

MAYOR'S CIRCULAR.

The following circular to heads of departments was issued by His Honor the Mayor on April 1:

Circular No. 39.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

TO THE HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS.

GENTLEMEN: The Committee on Finance of the City Council is about to enter upon the work of preparing a general loan order, and will hold its first meeting for the purpose on Tuesday, April 5, at 4 P.M. Last year the heads of departments were invited by me to prepare requests for loan appropriations deemed necessary by them, and these were subsequently published together as City Document No. 87 of 1897. I now desire to invite heads of departments to furnish me as soon as possible, and not later than April 9, their requests for loans for the current year, giving such explanation as may seem proper of the purposes of the different loans requested and of the need therefor. In cases where it seems desirable, heads of departments or chairmen of boards will be asked to appear in person, with me, before the Committee on Finance, to make fuller explanations in regard to the loans requested, and to answer any inquiries of the committee.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

April 1, 1898.

EXAMINATION FOR HIGH SCHOOL CERTIFICATES.

Boston Public Schools.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,

Mason Street, February, 1898.

An examination of candidates for High School certificates, Classes A and B, and for certificates to teach drawing, penmanship, book-keeping, phonography, typewriting and physical training in the Boston Public Schools, will be held on Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30, 1898, in the Girls' High School-house, West Newton street.

The examination will begin on Friday, at 9 o'clock A.M. Attendance will be required each day.

Members of senior classes in colleges who are otherwise eligible by having had a year's experience in teaching school, or by being graduates of the Boston Normal School or of a Massachusetts State Normal School, or by having substantially completed a satisfactory course in pedagogy, will be permitted to take the high-school Class A examination.

Circulars containing full information may be obtained either by personal or written application at this office.

EDWIN P. SEAVER,

Superintendent of Public Schools.

It is nearly thirty years since Glasgow abolished the contractor in its Cleansing Department. The Department has dust destructors and dust utilizers, machines which burn, and machines which sift the vast mass of ashes, dust, garbage, refuse and street sweepings collected every day. The total quantity thus dealt with amounted in 1896 to 418,331 tons, or an average of 1,337 tons daily.

Messages from the Mayor.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held in the Aldermanic Chamber, on Monday, April 4, 1898, Chairman Dyar presiding, and all the members present.

The following messages were received:

Transfer of Baths and Gymnasia to the Bath Department.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, April 4, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

It seems to me clearly desirable that some or all of the baths and gymnasia now under the administration of the Park Department should be transferred to the newly-established Bath Department, and such transfer meets with the general approval of both of these departments. Owing to the fact that the authority of the Park Department is prescribed by statute, it is impossible, without action by the Legislature, which cannot be secured at the present session, to fully effect this transfer, but I am advised by the Corporation Counsel that there is nothing to prevent the Park Department from placing the direct administration of the baths and gymnasia under its control in the charge of the Bath Department, under suitable arrangements. It seems to me desirable that this should be done at the outset of the work of the Bath Department, rather than later, and I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order, authorizing such action to be taken.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Bath Department is authorized, with the consent of the Park Department, to take the care and control of such bath-houses and gymnasia as are placed by ordinance or statute under the control of the Park Department or of any of them on such terms as may be agreed upon between said departments with the approval of the Mayor, and to pay the expense connected therewith out of the appropriation for the Bath Department.

Passed under a suspension of the rule. Message and order sent down.

Paving Tufts Street, Ward 7.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, April 4, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Streets, in reply to your order requesting "an estimate of the cost of paving Tufts street, Ward 7, between Kingston and Lincoln streets, with asphalt."

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, April 5, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In accordance with the request contained in the enclosed order of the Board of Aldermen, I respectfully submit the following estimate of cost of construction:

Tufts street, Ward 7, between Kingston and Lincoln streets, paving with asphalt and regulating, $2,300.

NOTE.—Tufts street, from Kingston street across Essex place, was paved with granite blocks in 1894.

Respectfully submitted,

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

Street Improvements.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, April 4, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a petition from property owners and residents on Beacon street, west of Massachusetts avenue, asking that this avenue, from Harvard bridge to Beacon street, and that Beacon street, west of Massachusetts avenue, to its intersection with Commonwealth avenue, may be paved with asphalt, together with a letter from the Superintendent of Streets endorsing the request. I recommend that an appropriation to enable the whole or a part of this work to be done be included in the general loan order for this year.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, April 2, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: I enclose a petition signed by certain abutters on Beacon street, requesting that the portion of this street, between Massachusetts avenue and Commonwealth avenue, be paved with asphalt. I should heartily approve of this being done, as the condition of the street is very bad, and it is not possible for this Department to keep it in any condition, owing to the fact that the street is narrow, and as no heavy teaming is allowed through Commonwealth avenue, all the teaming comes over this stretch of road. As a matter of economy, it would be well to asphalt this, as even since I have been in office it has been reconstructed once, and again repaired last year.

The amount necessary for the entire work would be in the neighborhood of $35,000. If the entire amount could not be secured, a portion of the work might be done this year, and the balance await a further appropriation.

You will note that many good names are signed to this petition, and I would urge that effort be made to secure an item in the loan order covering this work.

Yours very respectfully,

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

TO HIS HONOR, THE MAYOR OF BOSTON, AND OTHERS IN AUTHORITY:

The undersigned, residents or householders on Beacon street, west of Massachusetts avenue, respectfully and earnestly petition that Massachusetts avenue, from Harvard bridge to Beacon street, and Beacon street, west of Massachusetts avenue, extending to or beyond the intersection of Commonwealth avenue, may be paved with asphalt or concrete (not stone or brick). This section is the only outlet for heavy teams from the Back Bay District to Brighton and Brookline, and is more exposed to the force of the high winds from the river than any other residential district. The constant passage of heavy teams not only renders the present macadam pavement usually unfit for driving, but is the cause of intolerable clouds of dust to the residents of this region; a detriment to the comfort and health of the whole community. Relief from these conditions by the substitution of a proper pavement as soon as possible is earnestly requested.

(Signed by O. F. Wadsworth and thirty-five others.)

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL.

A regular meeting of the Common Council was held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 7.45 P.M., Thursday, March 31, 1898, President Connolly in the chair.

The following messages were received:

Lauriat Avenue Grade Crossing.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 31, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a memorial, with accompanying petition, requesting an appropriation for abolishing the grade crossing of the New England Railroad at Lauriat avenue, in the Dorchester District. I have already referred to this matter in my last inaugural address, and have pointed out the economy of doing this work at the present time, and I commend this petition to the early and favorable consideration of the City Council.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Accompanying the message was a memorial signed by Charles E. Little, William E. Harvey, William J. Hayward, John W. Abbott, Frank H. Sewell, Edgar L. Venus, and a petition signed by Curtis & Pope Lumber Company and many others, asking for the abolition of said grade crossing.

Referred to the Special Committee on Grade Crossings.

Engine House, Heath Street.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 31, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Fire Commissioner, in reply to your order requesting "an estimate of the cost of establishing a fire-engine house and apparatus on Heath street, Ward 19."

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

OFFICE OF THE FIRE COMMISSIONER,

Bristol Street, March 26, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: Replying to the request of the Common Council, I beg leave to report that, in my opinion, a suitable house, apparatus and maintenance for one year, sufficient for all wants of the Heath-street District, would cost about $36,900, the apparatus being a combination chemical and ladder truck; and if an engine were required instead, some $6,000 more would be necessary, independent of the land.

Your obedient servant,

H. S. RUSSELL, Commissioner.

Vacations for Patrolmen.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 31, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Board of Police, stating that, in compliance with your request, they have so arranged the vacations of patrolmen as to enable those who are veterans to have their vacations during the Convention of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF POLICE.

March 18, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: The Board of Police has received the order passed by the Common Council, and forwarded by you, requesting that the vacations of patrolmen shall be so arranged this year as to enable veterans on the police force to have their vacations during the Convention of the Grand Army of the Republic.

In reply we desire to say that instructions have been given to arrange the vacations of patrolmen this year, so as to enable veterans on the police force to have their vacations (if they so desire) during the Convention of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Yours very truly,

ROBERT F. CLARK, Commissioner.

New Bridge, Norfolk Street.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 31, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I am in receipt of an order, referred to me by your body, requesting the City Engineer to prepare an estimate of the cost of building a new bridge over the tracks of the New England Railroad at Norfolk street, Ward 24. Inasmuch as this bridge does not belong to the city, but is owned and maintained by the railroad company, it seems unnecessary for any city official to prepare an estimate of the cost of rebuilding it.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Repairs on Chapman School.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 31, 1898.

I transmit herewith a communication from the School Committee, in reply to your order requesting them to "include in their appropriation a sum sufficient to place the Chapman school-house in thorough repair," etc.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

IN SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

March 22, 1898.

The Committee on School-houses, to whom was referred, February 8, a communication from the Common Council, through His Honor the Mayor, requesting the School Committee to include in their appropriation a sum sufficient to place the Chapman School-house in thorough repair, and to make additions to said school-house, according to plans held by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, report that the needs of this school-house were considered when the estimates of expenditures for the current financial year were being prepared, and of the amount asked for under "Special Appropriation for Extraordinary Repairs," approximately $12,000, was specified to be expended upon this building. Your Committee therefore recommend that the Common Council be respectfully informed, through His Honor the Mayor, that the work will be undertaken as soon as an appropriation therefor is provided.

Condition of Paul Revere School-house.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 31, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the School Committee, in reply to your order (referred last year) requesting an investigation of the construction of the Paul Revere School-house.

Respectfully,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

IN SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

March 22, 1898.

The Committee on School-houses, to whom was referred from the files of last year a communication from the Common Council, through His Honor the Mayor, requesting the Mayor to investigate the construction of the Paul Revere School-house in Ward 6, and report the result to the Common Council, as, in the opinion of the Council, the school is not to the entire satisfaction of citizens of Boston, report that your Committee are not aware that any investigation of the construction of this school-house is necessary on their part. They recommend that the Common Council be respectfully informed, through His Honor the Mayor, that the plans and specifications for the building were very carefully prepared, the work is proceeding under competent and thorough supervision, and they believe that upon its completion the school-house will meet with the entire approbation of the citizens of Boston.

Half-Time in Paving Division.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 31, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Streets, in reply to your order requesting information as to the recent placing of a portion of the Paving Division on half-time.

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, March 28, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In accordance with the request contained in the enclosed orders of the Common Council, I beg to submit a copy of letter sent to the Paving Department Union on March 25, in relation to this same matter, which I think fully covers the inquiry.

Respectfully submitted,

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

Boston, March 25, 1898.

Mr. WILLIAM H. CONDRY, President Paving Department Union 6751, A. F. of L., Boston, Mass.:

SIR: In reply to the inquiry of your Committee in relation to the recent placing of a portion of the Paving Division on half-time, I beg leave to advise as follows.

This Department has advocated for some time that the appropriation for snow removal be made distinct from the regular Paving Division appropriation, as the amount necessary for snow work is so variable that the number of men to be carried and the regular street work to be done for the balance of the year depends to quite an extent on the amount expended in the first two months of the financial year — February and March — for snow. The great storm of February 1, this year, made necessary the expenditure from the Paving Division of almost $100,000.

No head of a department has the right to anticipate increased appropriations; and, on the basis of the money available last year—which is the only basis which can be taken until such time as the annual appropriation order is passed—it became necessary that such men as could be spared from the work be either suspended or placed on half-time. The latter plan seemed preferable.

This half-time will end March 31, thus causing to a portion of the labor force of the division a loss to each man of two weeks' time.

Every effort has been used to keep the men steadily employed, and I think the results entitle the administration to the thanks of the men, when taking into consideration the difficulties which have been met. During the first 104 weeks of my superintendency, no member of your assembly lost a single day, except by fault or misconduct of his own; and but a portion have in this last lay-off lost the two weeks. This is certainly an excellent showing, and I believe that, if the men will but fairly consider the subject, they must feel that the recent action of the Department was not only necessary, but one which should be received without criticism or fault-finding.

Thanking you for the spirit in which you made your request for this information, I beg to remain,

Yours very respectfully,
(Signed) BENJ. W. WELLS,
Superintendent of Streets.

Respectfully,
JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

Veto—Farragut Day Appropriation.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 25, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I return herewith without my approval the order passed by your body providing for the expenditure of $1,200 for the celebration of June 28, Farragut Day; the expense to be charged to the appropriation for City Council Incidental Expenses. Since this order was passed, the Committee on Appropriations has voted to approve an item of the same amount in the appropriation for public celebrations, and the expenditure should be provided in this manner, in my opinion, if any is to be made; but I feel that the expense of this appropriation is growing too fast. The amount expended was $426 in 1896, and $750 in 1897, and I do not think that the expenditure should be increased as much as proposed this year.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The question came on the passage of the order, the Mayor's veto to the contrary notwithstanding. A motion to indefinitely postpone further consideration was carried.

Street Widening.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, March 31, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

Under an Act which has just been passed by the Legislature, new streets must now be laid out and old streets widened only under the provisions of Chapter 323 of the Acts of 1891, and Acts in amendment or addition thereto, and streets can no longer be laid out or widened under the general law. The additional loan of $3,000,000, authorized by Chapter 319 of the Acts of 1897, can only be applied to the construction of streets fifty feet or less in width, and therefore all laying-out or widening of streets in excess of fifty feet in width must hereafter be paid for out of the balance available under the original loan, not exceeding $3,000,000 in excess of sinking-funds, authorized by Chapter 323 of the Acts of 1891. The amount now available for expenditure under the last-named Act amounts to $200,000, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order appropriating this amount, so as to make it available for the purposes specified in said Act, in accordance with action to be taken from time to time by the Board of Street Commissioners.

As the widening of Boston street, for which an appropriation of $20,000 has been made, will make this street more than fifty feet wide, the expense of such a widening cannot now be paid for by a loan within the regular borrowing capacity of the city; but this can at once be met out of the $200,000 balance above-mentioned, as soon as the appropriation of said sum is made, as recommended. I therefore also recommend the passage of the accompanying order, rescinding the order approved February 21, 1898, authorizing a loan of $20,000 for the widening of Boston street.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of two hundred thousand (200,000) dollars be appropriated for the purposes specified in Chapter 323 of the Acts of 1891, and acts in amendment or addition thereto.

Ordered, That the order approved February 21, 1898, authorizing a loan of twenty thousand (20,000) dollars for the widening of Boston street, between Edward Everett square and Mt. Vernon street, is hereby rescinded.

The message was sent up and the orders severally passed. Sent up.

Non-Residents in Street Laying-Out Department.

STREET COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE,

City Hall, March 31, 1898.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL.

GENTLEMEN: The Board of Street Commissioners respectfully report upon the orders of the Common Council of February 3, 1898, and March 10, 1898, of which copies are enclosed herewith, as to the names and residences of and other particulars, concerning the employees in its Department, that the persons employed in the Department who are not residents of Boston are Messrs. H. C. Foster, C. L. Carpenter, H. J. McFarland and L. G. Humphreys. Their residences are respectively at Gloucester, Andover, Everett and Salem. The amounts paid to them are, also respectively, $4.25, $3.75, $3.50 and $3.25 per day. MERCHANTS' MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

The following public communication has been issued by the Merchants' Municipal Committee with regard to the proposed act establishing a Board of Estimate and Apportionment:

Boston, April 6, 1898.

The undersigned, constituting the Merchants' Municipal Committee, chosen by the Boston Associated Board of Trade, desire to call your attention to the proposed act, establishing a Board of Estimate and Apportionment for this city (House Bill No. 1,089), reported by the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, and to ask you to give this measure your favorable consideration. After mature consideration of the matter, this Committee, by the unanimous action of all its members, joined with the Mayor of Boston in petitioning for the passage of such an act, in the belief that the proposed change was one which strongly commended itself from a business standpoint, as the preparation of the financial budget of the city by such a Board would result in a wiser application of its pecuniary resources, with more regard to its broadest and most important interests.

While the composition of the Board of Apportionment, as reported by the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, five members being provided for—consisting of the Mayor, the Chairman of the Board of Aldermen and the President of the Common Council, ex officio, and two members elected by the voters of the city at large—differs somewhat from the Board as originally proposed by us (which consisted of seven members, and included several appointive officials), and while we regret the change, we heartily support the bill in its present form, and we believe that if passed it will prove of much value, not only to the business interests of Boston, but to its citizens and taxpayers generally.

The bill comes up for engrossment in the House of Representatives on Thursday, April 7, and we trust that it may receive your support. A number of the leading business organizations of Boston, including the Associated Board of Trade and the Merchants' Association, have endorsed the principle of the bill, and we believe that the sentiment of the business men of the community is substantially unanimous in its favor. A Board of Apportionment, as you are doubtless aware, has been in operation in the City of New York for a long time, with such satisfactory results that the distinguished commission which drew the charter of the present City of New York, including such men as Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy, Mayor Strong, Seth Low, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, Judge Dillon and ex-Mayor Gilroy, unanimously stated in its report that "the Board of Estimate and Apportionment has worked well and given general satisfaction, and the commission has retained it, and enlarged rather than lessened its powers."

We are fully convinced that the establishment of such a Board in Boston would be one of the most important and far-reaching measures for the improvement of our municipal government which has been passed within recent years. A list of some of the representative firms and merchants who have signed a petition for the passage of this bill is enclosed herewith. We are unanimously of the opinion that the referendum to the people is entirely inappropriate and uncalled for in connection with this measure, and we earnestly hope that no such amendment will be considered or proposed.

Yours respectfully,

ALPHEUS H. HARDY.

Chairman.

REPORT OF MUNICIPAL STATISTICS DEPARTMENT.

The first Annual Report of the Department of Municipal Statistics has been issued recently. The report gives an account of the work accomplished from the organization of the Department in May, 1897, to the end of the financial year.

Immediately upon organization, the commission entered into an investigation of existing conditions, in order to discover what statistical material might be already available. Realizing that the general public were interested rather in knowing what work had been done for their safety and convenience, and what it had cost, rather than in knowing to what appropriation it had been charged, an investigation was made of the functions of City Government, based on the comparison of the government of various American cities and of cities of Europe. Their results are presented in the form of an outline of classification.

An investigation of the areas of the various divisions of the city, revealed the fact that "no information exists as to areas in the City of Boston sufficiently accurate to be worth publishing." To supply this information the Department joined with some of the other departments, which were aware of the present deficiencies in this respect, in requesting the City Engineer to prepare a series of maps, drawn to a scale of fifty feet to the inch, covering the entire area of the city. These maps, when completed, will be of great service to the city departments in keeping track of work done in various parts of the city.

An examination of the city accounts, from the year 1822 to the present time, has been undertaken in order to determine the cost of city property; its value as a going plant for municipal purposes; and the allowances which have been made for depreciation by payment for the debt incurred therefor. Considerable difficulty was encountered on account of lack of uniformity in the classification of expenditures. Each department had adopted its own system of classification, which was often at great variance with that of other departments or of the Auditor. To remedy this in part a uniform classification of accounts has been prepared for the public institutions of the city. A similar classification may in time be extended to the other departments of the city.

The Department recommends the division of the city receipts and expenditures into four parts, so as to show—(1), money expended from current income and taxes; (2), money expended from receipts from sale of plant or of bonds; (3), money received and expended on account of trust funds; (4), book-keeping items or receipts and expenditures, with regard to which the city is merely a transfer agent. "The advantage of this system of accounts is that it shows at a glance the main features of the city's financial history by— (1), eliminating the book-keeping items which are not of consequence; (2), by clearly defining the difference between ordinary expenses and permanent investments; and (3), by separating the trust funds."

The Department has under consideration the publication of a monthly bulletin.

The following are some of the matters which it is intended to include in this publication:

Meteorological statistics; statistics relating to the movement of population, i. e., changes in number and character of the population through deaths, births, marriages and divorces; immigration statistics; statistics showing the number, character and movement of the defective, criminal, helpless and pauper classes of the community, as shown by returns from hospitals, prisons, reformatories, asylums, etc.; educational statistics; labor statistics; commercial statistics relating to Boston as a port of entry and point of distribution of commodities; financial statistics; market statistics; statistics relating to the relief of the poor through public and private instrumentalities; statistics relating to the prevention, detection and punishment of crime; statistics relating to public works, e. g., parks, laying-out of streets, etc.; statistics with regard to the erection and alteration of buildings and transfers of real estate; and, from time to time, consideration of election statistics, and statistical surveys of the principal activities of the various departments of the City Government.

At the request of a sub-committee of the School Committee, an investigation of the effect of school life upon the children in the public schools has been undertaken. On January 1, 1898, in co-operation with the Printing Department, the regular publication of THE CITY RECORD was begun.

BOARD OF BATH COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Bath Commissioners has organized by the election of Thomas J. Lane, Chairman, and Daniel D. Kearns, Secretary. The office of the Department is in Room 4, Old Court House.

CITY COLLECTOR'S REPORT.

The Annual Report of the Collecting Department, for the year ending January 31, 1898, constitutes "Document 10, 1898." The showing in respect to total receipts, during the period from February 1, 1897, to January 31, 1898, inclusive, is as follows:

On account of the City of Boston	$20,417,783 42
On account of the County of Suffolk	240,738 85
Total	$20,658,522 27

The total amount of taxes assessed to defray the expenses of the city and county for the fiscal year, less the revenue derived from other sources, was $13,487,838.59, of which $13,333,937.55 were tax assessments, including supplementary bills, and $153,901.04 of bank tax. The collections of taxes during the year were as follows: On account of taxes for 1897, $11,613,872.14; on bank tax for 1897, $153,901.04; on account of taxes for 1896, and previous years, $1,901,801.61; amounting in all to $13,669,574.79. Tax abatements for the year amounted to $82,827.35.

On January 31, 1898, the outstanding taxes for 1897-98 amounted to $1,637,238.06; and the outstanding taxes for 1896-97 amounted to $230,688.37.

APPROPRIATIONS BY THE CITY COUNCIL, 1892-98.

The following tables show, first, the total assessed valuation of the city for the last six years, the yearly increase of the valuation, and the percentage of increase over the valuation of the previous year; second, the amounts voted each year by the City Council to meet the current expenses of the City of Boston and the County of Suffolk; the yearly increase or decrease of these appropriations, and the percentage of increase or decrease. The amounts assessed on warrants from the Commonwealth for state tax, armory loan and metropolitan sewerage are not included in the column of appropriations:

*Decrease.

In order to make the amounts appropriated from year to year by the City Council comparable with one another, certain corrections must be made, so as to eliminate increase or decrease, due only to changes in the system of book-keeping. There is available for appropriation by the City Council, at the beginning of the year, the income from taxes to be laid during the year (the amount of which is limited by the State law regulating the tax rate), and income from other current sources as estimated at the beginning of the year. There are also certain items of income which are credited to the several departments appropriation, without yearly action by the City Council.

If, year by year, identical items of income were included in the estimate of income available for appropriation, and other identical items were always credited to appropriations, without yearly action, the annual tax order—other things being the same—would be comparable for a series of years. But in practice, items which had been credited directly to an appropriation in one year will be turned into the general treasury and appropriated out again in another, or vice versa. For this reason, the amounts appropriated by the City Council should be compared only after the effects of this variation in accounting have been eliminated.

The above table should be corrected with respect to the six (6) following items:

1. Soldiers' Relief—From 1892-93 to 1895-96, inclusive, receipts from the Commonwealth for soldiers' relief were credited directly to the appropriation. In 1896-97 and 1898-99, these receipts have been turned into the treasury and then appropriated out again. The result is a great apparent increase in the Soldiers' Relief appropriation (See Special Publication, No. 1, page 36), which is in fact due merely to a change in accounting.

Correction—Add to appropriations the receipts during the first period: 1892-93, $110,956.12; 1893-94, $144,819.48; 1894-95, $142,091.67; 1895-96, $145,215.87.

2. Mount Hope Cemetery Department—From 1892-93 to 1895-96, inclusive, receipts from fees and sales of lots were credited directly to the Department. In 1896-97, and until the formation of the Cemetery Department, these receipts were turned into the treasury and appropriated out again. (See Special Publication, No. 1, page 69.)

Correction—Add to appropriations the receipts during the first period: 1892-93, $25,710.40; 1893-94, $22,977.78; 1894-95, $22,209.70; 1895-96, $21,146.47.

3. Board of Police—For a series of years, continuing to and including the year 1892-93, it was customary to pay the expenses of the police signal service and the expenses of special service in enforcing the license law, out of receipts from liquor licenses. Since that date, such expense has been met out of the annual appropriation. (See Special Publication, No. 1, page 74.)

Correction—Add to appropriation of 1892-93 the amount of such expense: 1892-93, $84,895.11.

4. Board of Police—Liquor license receipts have been turned usually into the general treasury. In the year 1896-97, however, all receipts from liquor licenses, in excess of the estimated income from that source, were credited to the Police Department.

Correction—Add to appropriations of 1896-97, $217,346.25, thus credited. (See Special Publication, No. 1, page 74.)

5. Health Department—From 1892-93 to 1895-96, inclusive, income from Evergreen Cemetery was credited directly to Health Department appropriation. From 1896-97 to formation of Cemetery Department, such receipts have been turned into the treasury and appropriated out again.

Correction—Add to appropriations of earlier period as follows: 1892-93, $712.50; 1893-94, $1,782.50; 1894-95, $952; 1895-96, $1,508.37.

6. Street Department—Sewer Division and Street-Watering Division.

Owing to a statute passed in 1897, the former custom of charging the costs of maintaining sewers and of watering streets against the tax levy, will not be followed in 1898-99. Consequently no appropriation has been made in the appropriation order for the current year for the Sewer Division of the Street Department, and the appropriation for the Street-Watering Division has been reduced from $70,000 to $10,000.

Correction—Add to appropriations for 1898-99: Sewer Division, $300,000; Street-Watering Division, $60,000; total, $360,000.

The table, after correction as indicated above, would read as follows:

CORRECTED TABLE OF APPROPRIATIONS.

NEW PUBLIC BATH-HOUSE IN PITTSBURG.

The following account of a Pittsburgh bath-house is taken from the "Engineering Record" of April 9, 1898:

A public bath-house has recently been erected in the heart of the rolling-mill and manufacturing district of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where such facilities are not generally available in the tenement houses which comprise most of the dwellings of the district. It was built and equipped by Mrs. William Thaw, and is intended to provide modern sanitary accommodations within a short distance of people who are especially likely to need them.

In extreme dimensions it is about 24x92 feet, and consists of a basement and ground story throughout, and a second story on the front of the building. The walls are of brick, with stone trimmings. The beams are steel, columns and stairs of cast-iron, floors of concrete, and the principal features of construction are generally fireproof.

The floor-beams are protected, and the floors built of hollow-ribbed, porous, terracotta blocks, required to stand a load of 600 pounds to the square foot. The partitions are made of metal lath on steel frames, which also enclose terra cotta flues and columns, and are plastered, as are the furred walls, with hard plaster, smooth finished.

The floor surface of the bath-rooms is of granolithic pavement. The first floor of the front portion of the building is paved with a mosaic of white Italian marble. The interior is trimmed with oak, natural finish.

The building is equipped with twenty-two rain shower baths, two bath tubs, three glazed laundry tubs, and with two vitrified earthenware urinals, two wash-basins, and three water-closets and a filter. The floor of each individual bath-room is sunk, so as to form a pool three or four inches deep.

In each pool is provided a short standing waste and overflow, which fits into the strainer of the waste-pipe, and is removable. This enables the pool to be filled, if desired, nearly to the top, with water, in which the bather may stand. All the partitions between the baths are light gray, polished Knoxville marble, and the effect of the bath-rooms is designed to be one of absolute simplicity and cleanliness.

The hot and cold water supply-pipes are carried along the rear wall above the top of the marble partition; branches are brought down into each bath, and there connected with a simple spray-shower, having a cock on each pipe within reach of the bather, so that the temperature of the water can be regulated to suit each individual. The cold water supply is by direct street main pressure. The hot water is heated by an automatic hot-water heater, which has been manufactured especially for this place by the Rudd Manufacturing Company of Allegheny, Pennsylvania.

The building is heated by a small cast-iron sectional steam boiler, through direct radiators and coils, placed in all the rooms, and steam is used from this boiler also for the hand-washer, which washes the towels, and for the drying racks, which dry them.

Blasting on Story Street.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, April 11, 1898.

TO THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Streets, with accompanying letters, and I recommend the passage by your Board of the accompanying order, to enable the work of the Street Department to proceed, as I believe from the information in my possession that this blasting can be carried on without danger to life and property, and it is very desirable that the work upon the removal of these hills should proceed.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, April 11, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In connection with the work of removing the bank on Story street, South Boston, it is necessary that this Department have a permit for blasting. These permits are issued by the Police Department. Such a permit was obtained through Captain Walker of Station 6, South Boston, and the work proceeded. Later, Captain Walker refused to issue further permit, and, on the continuance of the work, an employee of this Department, in charge, was arrested on a warrant, taken before the South Boston court, found guilty and fined $10.

I enclose herewith correspondence of this Department with the Police Commission, covering the facts. It is very necessary that this matter be adjusted, or the work cannot be carried on at a reasonable cost, and must be abandoned. I would therefore ask that either the Board of Aldermen grant the authority, if within their province, or that the police be requested to assume the responsibility.

No complaint of any kind has been received at this office, and, as I stated in my letter, on personal investigation, I could find no objection; and I am informed that Captain Walker also gave the matter his personal attention, and reported to the foreman that any complaint was not worthy of notice.

Yours very respectfully,

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

City Hall, April 5, 1898.

GEN. A. P. MARTIN, Chairman Board of Police, 37 Pemberton Square.

DEAR SIR: I have just noted your communication, in relation to an order of the Board of Aldermen, that permission be granted to the City of Boston for blasting at Story street, South Boston. I wish to say, that in my opinion, Captain Walker acted in the matter hastily and unfairly. For many years an effort has been made to remove this bank, and finally, under the direction of the city, and with city men, this Department has been engaged in the work of removal. Proper permit was secured; and, before taking such action as cancelling a permit and then arresting an employee of a city department, common courtesy would seem to dictate that Captain Walker should have communicated with the head of this Department. My first knowledge of the affair was when I was in-informed that the case had been carried to court, and one of my men fined $10.

As regards the objection made by certain parties and damage to property, I had made personal investigation of this.

The Citizens' Association of South Boston had also investigated, and there was absolutely no foundation for the complaint. Our most careful men have been employed on the work, and every precaution taken, not only to provide against accident, but to make the work unobjectionable.

I fail to see now why any order of the Board of Aldermen is necessary for the issuance of a permit for blasting in this case. If Captain Walker had the authority to grant the permit in the first instance, that authority still remains; and I would ask what action your Board proposes to take in the matter.

I repeat, that I believe Captain Walker's action deserves censure, for causing the arrest and fining of an employee of a city department engaged in the proper conduct of his work, unless Captain Walker acted under your orders, after full report in the matter.

Yours very respectfully,

(Signed)

BENJ. W. WELLS,

Superintendent of Streets.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF POLICE.

April 6, 1898.

BENJ. W. WELLS, Esq., Superintendent of Streets.

DEAR SIR: The Board of Police is in receipt of your letter of the 5th instant, in reference to a communication sent to the Board of Aldermen, on the subject of the blasting at Story street, South Boston, and in reply would say:

It was considered by the Board that Captain Walker had acted properly in the matter of revoking the permit to blast, on the complaints made by citizens in that vicinity, whose property was endangered, as represented to him. We understand from Captain Walker that some ten days elapsed between the time that he notified the contractor or employee for the city, and the time that the permit was actually revoked. We do not desire to come to conflict in any way with a city department in regard to enforcing the law, and intend always to be courteous and considerate, but we supposed, under the circumstances, that the foreman having charge of the work would have communicated to you or to some of your deputies the fact that complaint had been made, and there would have been some understanding arrived at before the work was renewed.

I hardly see how the permit of Captain Walker is still in force, after his having notified the persons in charge that the permit had been revoked. Certainly the court took that view of the matter, or it would not have imposed a fine for continuing the work, after notice had been given by Captain Walker that the permit was revoked.

We prefer to have the City Government assume the responsibility of continuing the work, and feel that this Department ought not, under the circumstances, to be held responsible, after due notice has been given of the danger to surrounding property.

Very respectfully,

(Signed)

A. P. MARTIN, Chairman.

Ordered, That the Superintendent of Streets be authorized to remove by blasting the hills between Story, and East Fifth and G and H streets, Ward 15, South Boston.

Public Celebration Items — Veto.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, April 11, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I return herewith the annual appropriation orders, having approved all of the items therein, except the items for "Patriots' Day, April 19, $1,400; June 17, $5,500; Farragut Day, June 28, $1,200; July Fourth, $12,500, and Labor's Holiday, September 5, $2,000," which I do not feel warranted in approving, in view of the increase in these items over the amounts appropriated last year, amounting in all to $2,350. Last year the city appropriated $29,350 for the seven public celebrations, and I believe that this sum is as large in the aggregate as should be expended for such purposes, and that there is no sufficient occasion for the increases proposed this year, particularly in view of the fact that the general financial situation of the city calls for the exercise of great economy. While the total increase may not be large, experience has shown, that if an increase in any of these items for public celebrations is once made, it is continued at the higher figure year after year. Expenditures for public celebrations have been increased within a few years by the addition of Patriots' Day, Veteran Firemen's Memorial Day, Farragut Day and Labor's Holiday; and, with so many celebrations, I do not feel that the amounts allowed for five of them should be increased over last year.

I am willing to approve the above-named items for the same amounts as were appropriated last year.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The veto of the Mayor was sustained.

TO THE COMMON COUNCIL.

A regular meeting of the Common Council was held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 7.45 P.M., Thursday, April 7, 1898, President Connolly in the chair.

The following messages were received:

North Harvard-Street Widening.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, April 7, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I return herewith, without my approval, the order appropriating $25,000 for widening North Harvard street, for the reason that prior to its passage an act was passed by the Legislature which prevents the widening of streets otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 323 of the Acts of 1891. Provision for the proposed widening will be made under said chapter.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The message was placed on file.

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

STREET DEPARTMENT,

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

SIR: In accordance with the request contained in the enclosed order of the Common Council, I beg to submit the following estimate of cost:

Brigham street, Ward 2, paving with granite blocks and regulating, $2,700.

Lauriat Avenue Crossing.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, April 7, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith for your information a letter from the General Manager of the New England Railroad Company in regard to the Lauriat avenue crossing, estimating the total cost of doing the necessary work at $93,000. I have already called attention to the desirability of doing this work at the present time, and I regret to find that the amount required considerably exceeds the original estimate of the City Engineer. It would seem to be desirable at least, to appropriate the amount required for filling, etc. ($72,945), at once, in order to save an additional expense of from $6,000 to $10,000 if the work is postponed, leaving the actual construction of the proposed bridge and abutments to be provided for later.

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

The New England Railroad Company.

OFFICE OF THE GENERAL MANAGER,

180 Summer Street, April 6, 1898.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

DEAR SIR: After further conference with our Chief Engineer, allow me to confirm verbal report to you today, and say that the Talbot-avenue bridge, already under contract, will soon be finished; that the raising of grade at that point, which will be necessary for the elimination of Lauriat avenue, can be done at the present time for from $6,000 to $10,000 less than after the Talbot-avenue bridge is completed, when it will be necessary to take out the bridge, remove and change the masonry, and block the street by false work after it has been once opened to travel.

Concerning a bridge at Lauriat avenue, similar in construction to that provided at Talbot avenue: While the City Engineer has suggested Grade 91, in order to reduce the land damage on Lauriat avenue, we find that the cost of raising the tracks to that height will be excessive, and the incidental increase in height to the Talbot-avenue abutments more than we should care to make. We have therefore estimated upon Grade 87 for both bridges. The City Engineer can best say how this will affect the land damage question on Lauriat avenue, in which we will have no interest. This would give us a level track from Harvard street bridge over Talbot and Lauriat avenues, from which latter point we should drop to the present grade, substantially at the present Norfolk-street bridge.

Our engineer estimates the cost of raising the Talbot-avenue bridge to Grade 87 at the present time, and procuring the necessary land for slopes, making the required filling, false work, engineering, etc., to be $72,945. This is exclusive of the abutments and proposed bridge at Lauriat avenue, which we have this afternoon figured at $20,055 additional, making the total cost $93,000 for the Lauriat-avenue bridge and incidental changes of grade, raising Talbot-avenue bridge, etc., but not including street surface work on our land at Lauriat avenue or land damage caused by any change in the Lauriat avenue grade.

We will either make a contract with the city to do this work, similar to that of Talbot avenue, for the sum of $95,000, provided notice is given by Saturday, the 9th instant, or we will undertake the work for the city at cost, if a sufficiently explicit memorandum can be drawn up.

Yours truly,

C. PETER CLARK,

General Manager.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Bath-house, South Bay.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, April 7, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

Last year a loan appropriation of $3,000 was made for a floating bath-house, to be located on the South Bay, Roxbury side. The Bath Commission, after careful investigation, reports to me that no suitable location can be found for a bath-house in the South Bay, and that the waters in this basin are so contaminated that it would be entirely improper, from a sanitary standpoint, to use them for public bathing.

This appropriation has been used for the construction of a floating bath-house, which is needed elsewhere, and I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Department of Baths be authorized to locate at any point suitable for public bathing the floating bath-house, built out of the loan appropriation of $3,000 for bath-house, South Bay, Roxbury side.

The message was sent up, and the order passed and sent up.

Rutherford Avenue Widening.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

City Hall, April 7, 1898.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL:

I transmit herewith a copy of Chapter 275 of the Acts of the present year, entitled "An Act to Provide for the Widening of Rutherford avenue and Devens and Bow streets, in the City of Boston." This act is subject to acceptance by the City Council, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order for this purpose.

The Board of Street Commissioners has for many years recognized the street widenings provided for by this Act as being of great and pressing importance; they are needed to provide for the largely increased volume of traffic due to the removal of the freight-houses of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company to Charlestown. I recommend acceptance of the Act, not on account of any local advantage to be derived from it, but because of the important relation which this improvement will have to the general traffic of the city.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH QUINCY, Mayor.

Ordered, That Chapter 275 of the Acts of the year 1898, being an Act entitled "An Act to Provide for the Widening of Rutherford avenue and Devens and Bow streets, in the City of Boston," be and hereby is accepted.

The message was sent up and the order passed.

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs of the Massachusetts House of Representatives have reported a bill (House Bill No. 1,089), providing for a Board of Apportionment, to pass appropriation orders, which may within thirty days after their submission to the City Council be reduced by that body, but not increased, nor new items be inserted; and

Whereas, The Committee on Cities, of the same honorable body, have reported a bill (House Bill No. 1,149), which is now in the order of the day on the calendar of the House, providing for a comprehensive system of playgrounds, through the purchase of such locations, not exceeding twenty, as the Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Boston, with the approval of the Mayor, may deem best adapted; and

Whereas, The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, of the same honorable body, have reported a bill (House Bill No. 1,157), now in the orders of the day on the calendar of the House, providing that the City Treasurer of the City of Boston shall, on the request of the Mayor, issue notes and bonds for divers purposes; and these issues are to be within the debt limit, and thus limit the ordinary financial resources of the city; and

Whereas, The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, of the same honorable body, have reported a bill (House Bill No. 1,158), now in the orders of the day on the calendar of the House, providing for the establishment of an art department by the appointment of five art commissioners by the Mayor, without confirmation; and

Whereas, All the above-mentioned bills deprive the City Council of the City of Boston of important parts of their powers, which have long been recognized as among the prerogatives of these branches of the City Government; and

Whereas, It is apparent that these bills are but a part of the realization of the plan of His Honor the Mayor to deprive the City Council of all power and importance and to centralize all power in the hands of one man, the Mayor; be it

Resolved, That we, the Board of Aldermen of the City of Boston, in regular session assembled, do hereby protest against the passage of these bills and any others which lessen the power of the City Council, and at its expense increase that of the Mayor.

AN ACT RELATIVE TO RECORDS AND STATISTICS OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS IN THE CITY OF BOSTON.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. The City Registrar of the City of Boston shall obtain statistics in regard to its inhabitants, on the points hereinafter specified, and may appoint examiners to obtain such statistics, who shall be subject to civil service examination.

Sect. 2. Every married person, and every person who has been married, shall state his or her name, residence, occupation, birthplace, date of birth, names of brothers, sisters and parents, name of wife or husband, date of marriage, names of children, whether living or dead, with date and place of their births; and, if dead, the date of death and place of decease; and, if divorced, shall also state the date of divorce, with name of court decreeing the same. Every single person, for whom no return is made by his parents, shall make a return of such of the above facts as are applicable, and any single person over the age of twenty-one years may state that fact, instead of the date of his or her birth. The returns so made shall be kept by the Registrar as public records, and be subject to all statutes respecting such records.

Sect. 3. The statements required shall be made on blanks, to be furnished by the Registrar, at the expense of the city, and shall be signed by the person making it, or by either the husband or wife for both. In case of minors, who are orphans, the guardian may sign, or any person in charge of any minor whose parents do not reside in Boston with him may certify to such facts as he can, giving authority therefor.

Sect. 4. The Supreme Judicial Court, or any justice thereof, and the Superior Court, or any justice thereof, sitting in any county, upon petition of the Clerk or Registrar of a city or town, or of any person who is a party in interest in any record made in any registry of births, marriages or deaths, under the charge of such Clerk or Registrar of a city or town in such county, may, upon such notice as the court shall order, determine whether such record is true or false, and if it determines that the same is false, may make a decree that such record be expunged, or that any name, date or other part of such record be changed, and specifying the change to be made.

Sect. 5. The Clerk or Registrar in charge of any such record shall, upon the receipt of a certified copy of any such decree, cause such record to correspond therewith, and a reference to be made thereto, in the margin of the record, and the record so made shall stand in the place of the original record.

Sect. 6. Any such Clerk or Registrar, who shall expunge or make any change in any record under his charge, except to cause such record to correspond to a decree aforesaid, or to correct mistakes made by him or his employees, shall for each offence be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000.

Sect. 7. Any person possessing knowledge of any such statistics, who shall, on being questioned as to the same by any such examiner, refuse to answer such questions, or shall give a false answer thereto, shall for each offence forfeit and pay a fine not exceeding $50.

LONDON.

London is as unique in its system of municipal government as it is in other respects. It has no municipal code. It affords no parallel with the corporation of a provincial city. A tangle of authorities operating under several hundred acts of Parliament are engaged in managing metropolitan affairs, but there is no symmetry in the civic structure, no unity in administrative work. This lack of homogeneity does not so seriously affect the net result of government effort as one might imagine; but jealousy is not wanting, and a certain amount of friction cannot be avoided.
